$100,000 FIRE BURNS OUT MEESKE'S STORE, MT. PROSPECT

Owner Hopes To Reopen Store Before Christmas; Insurance Will Cover Loss

A $100,000 fire destroyed the interior of Meeske's Super Market in Mount Prospect Monday night.

The fire, of unknown origin, was confined to the rear of the building, but the front portion of the store was damaged by smoke and the basement by water.

An insurance salvage company started the work of removing the debris Wednesday morning, and if materials can be secured promptly Meeske hopes to be back in business by Christmas.

A portion of the roof needs to be rebuilt, and the entire interior, including the ceiling and all fixtures, will be replaced.

TWENTY-EIGHT volunteer firemen answered the call at 10:32 p.m. Monday. The firemen used six hose lines, and accepted the offer of the Arlington Heights department to assist with their emergency unit, including smoke ejector and extra lights. The men were on duty until about 4:30 a.m. and some remained at their posts throughout the night, with the last few leaving at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, only to return later in the day to pump out the basement.

Meeske was in Chicago when the fire broke out, attending a meeting of the Central Grocer's association, of which he is a director.

The insurance loss is being handled by Kirchhoff Insurance Agency. Meeske was fully covered, including busines. interruption insurance, which he says he took out the day of the A&P fire in Arlington Heights.

Members of the fire department auxiliary and neighbors supplied coffee and sandwiches to the men. Ten of the firemen suffered from the smoke.

Arrest Solves N. W. Tavern Robberies

James Gornick, 20, of route 1, Mount Prospect, youthful gunman who had held up four establishments in this area since October 26, was arrested Sunday within minutes after he had held up the Indian Lounge at Milwaukee ave. and River rd.

Sheriff's police were notified at 3:00 a. m. by Frank Feathers, owner of the lounge. Gornick's car, a 1940 Ford coupe, was spotted at 3:10 a. m. by Captain Chris Danby and Officer Peter Guttilla where it was parked at the Pine Crest tavern at route 12 and State rd. Gornick was apprehended when he left the tavern.

He was identified as the bandit who had robbed the Rainbow Inn in Schaumburg township October 26 and was also charged with the larceny of the Milton Tap at Routes 21 and 45, and Bob's Place at route 20 and Bartlett November 2. His identity was ascertained by fingerprints taken from a glass tumbler at the Milton Tap.

Gornick was employed intermittantly as a hired hand on farms in this area. He had served 21 months of a two-year sentence for a previous felony committed in Des Plaines in 1949. He is being held in $20,000 bail pending his trial November 12.

Lack of Cooperation By County Assessor Brings Resignation

Assessor Robert Horn of Palatine township has presented his resignation to the town board effective December 31 and the board is holding a meeting next Tuesday night, November 18, to interview any applicants for the assessor's post.

A new assessor will be appointed whose term will expire January 1, 1954. An assessor for the full four year term will be elected at the township election next spring.

Mr. Horn's resignation was due to the fact that he failed ed to get the cooperation of the county office in his efforts to make a personal property assessment that would lead the property owners to pay their bills. After failing in his efforts this year, he thought that it would be useless to continue in the position.

The town board is advertising for an assessor. Applicants will be interviewed next Tuesday evening.

BURGLAR TAKES TOOLS

Burglars broke into the construction shacks at Fairview school, Mount Prospect, Monday night, and took power tools valued at approximately $400 and miscellaneous supplies.

Congratulations and Thanks from Wm. Busse

County commissioner William Busse has received a lot of congratulations since the election. He is more than pleased with the showing made November 11 in the country towns and has issued the following statement:

"I wish to thank and congratulate the voters of the Northwestern area of Cook county for the public spirit they displayed in marching practically unanimously to the polls in the crucial election of November 4th. The question at issue was whether a change was necessary, and the aroused citizens through the voice of the ballot answered with a thunderous 'YES'!"

Minstrel Show At High School Saturday Night

The fourth annual Minstrel Jubilee produced by the choral department of Arlington Heights high school will be presented Saturday, at 8:15 p.m., at the high school.

The show, under the direction of Miss June Leick, promises to be one of the best ever given by an all high school cast. Frederick Schmoyer, head of the music department, and Martin Dahlberg, in charge of the dance band, are assisting with the show.

Highlighting the program will be the old familiar minstrel tunes, "Ole Man River," "Dark Town Strutters Ball," "Lucky Old Sun," "Good For Nothing," and "Carolina in the Morning." These are just a few of the numbers which will be sung in a realistic setting, complete with colorful costuming and familiar "black face" makeup.

A list of the cast and the parts they portray will be found elsewhere in this issue. Backstage committees will also be listed.

Students will have an opportunity to see the show Thursday, Nov. 13, at 1:30 p.m., at a special matinee. Admission is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

October Building Totals $508,555

October building in Arlington Heights dropped considerably below the $1,531,889 mark reached in September, but nevertheless added 36 more new homes to the hundreds already under construction in the village.

Permits for October totaled $508,555. The 36 home permits amounted to $465,000. Others issued were for: factory, $3,500; 23 private garages, $23,355; gas station, $9,500; store, $2,000; and six alterations to housekeeping dwellings, $5,250.

Study Village Managership For Arlington Heights

Members of Northwest Better Government group of Arlington Heights, who heard President Alexander of Wilmette last Thursday evening, learned a lot regarding the village managership method of local government. A number of the representatives of other property owners groups were present.

Mr. Alexander told a reporter, "I never knew that a civic group could ask so many questions."

Some of the inquiries were made over and over again. The questioners seemed to have a desire to learn down to the smallest details the operation of the municipal government of Wilmette.

Information given them extended from the democratic way of selecting candidates for village board down to the operation of local government by a city manager who would have direct charge of all village departments.

Oak Park and Evanston last Tuesday adopted city managership government. A number of north shore towns are operating that way.

Alexander told his hearers that it may take a lot of public relations to put it over, but the attempt is well worth while and should be started at once if his listeners thought Arlington was ready for the change.

Propose New Tavern And Business District West of Arlington Park

Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a hearing at the Palatine village hall at 8:30 p. m. November 21 to consider two applications for rezoning of present farm land west and north of Rohlwing rd. adjoining the west entrance to Arlington racing plant.

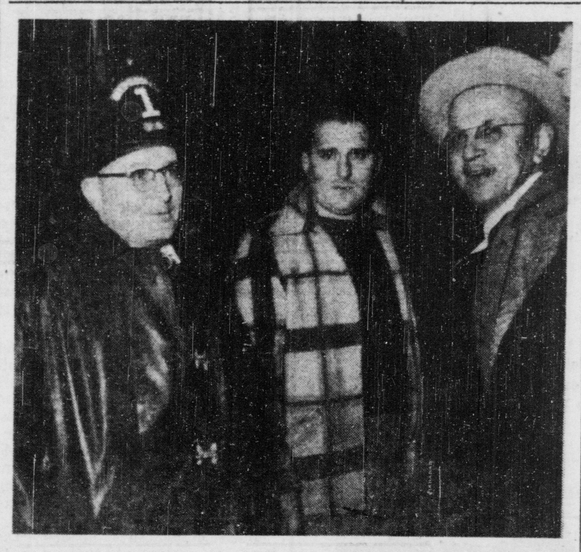
One hearing asks for the use of one acre for business tavern and amusement. The other asks that 2½ acres be rezoned for business.

Rohlwing road jogs to the west at that point, which explains the unusual description of "west and north." (AP

New Boy Scout Troop

The first meeting of the newly organized Arlington Heights boy scout troop at Faith church will be held November 17 at 7:30 p. m.

Registrations will be accepted, and all parents and boys interested in scouting are invited to attend.



Fred Meeske, left, Mt. Prospect, was able to muster a smile Tuesday morning as he assured his butcher, Lou Brodnan, center, and a sympathetic friend, that the store would be rebuilt and he hoped his employees would stand by and be ready to take over their jobs when the store reopened. The store was badly gutted by fire Monday night. —Folkman Photo.

Proposed Savings And Loan Ass'n Gets Green Light

A new financial institution to be known as the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association will soon be a reality.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board of Washington, D.C., has approved the application of the organizing committee and has specified the requirements that must be fulfilled before a charter can be granted. This organizing committee consists of Elmer F. Laurin, chairman; Chas. H. Wilson, vice-chairman; Irving T. Rinker, secretary; Paul E. Collins, Carl Kiehm, Alvin A. Popp, and Robert M. Beatty.

Elmer Laurin reports that the requirements are very strict, which is to be expected, for the charter is a valuable one and carries with it the insurance of each individual savings account to the amount of $10,000. An additional security for the depositors is the fact that all of the accounting methods and business procedures are under close government supervision at all times.

In spite of the amount of work involved, the committee hopes and plans that all requirements can be complied with so that the doors can be opened on January 1, 1953, or very shortly thereafter.

Negotiations for desirable quarters for the new association are about completed and the announcement of the new location is expected next week.

Community Chest Now At $15,258 Mark

Total receipts by the Community Chest of Arlington Heights up to November 11 were $15,258.66. The workers who have not completed their contracts are urged to do so this week.

It is hoped that a full report on the drive, including the names of all solicitors, will be published in the local press next week. Any resident who has been missed by the workers is requested to mail his contribution to Arthur H. Franzen, treasurer of the fund, or call Nicholas M. Lattof (CL 3-0034), president of the Community Chest, who will arrange to have the contribution picked up.

Bill of Rights Essay Contest Closes Saturday

Saturday is the zero hour for the 500 word essay contest on the Bill of Rights that is being sponsored in local high schools by the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

The local contest is part of the National contest that will include all parts of the United States in which boards of realtors operate.

Local schools in which students have the privilege of submitting essays are Maine township, Arlington Heights, Palatine and Barrington. The local board is offering as first prize a $100 savings bond; 2nd prize $50 bond, 3rd prize $25 bond.

The local essays will be judged by C. Victor Brown, Arlington Heights; Harry Talcott, Des Plaines and Everett Norlander, Park Ridge.

Each school principal has copies of the rules.

E-B Day At High School November 19

Businessmen who have not already done so, are urged to send in their registration for the Education-Business day at Arlington Heights high school next Wednesday afternoon.

"Registrations have been sent in by a large number of business and professional people," LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent of the high school, announced today. "But we still have a number of scheduled tours which are not filled, and we would like to have as many people as can come to see the school in operation."

In order to present the greatest variety of subjects, the order of classes will be rearranged, so that the second and third period classes will meet in the afternoon. In all other respects, every effort is being made to present the school activities as they are carried out from day to day.

IN ORDER TO permit the visitors to see those phases of the school in which they are most interested, six tours are offered. The commercial tour includes the distributive education class, typing, office practice, dictation and transcription, and art classes.

The shop tour presents the mechanical drawing, woodworking, electricity, agriculture, metalworking, and distributive education classes.

The modern education tour will see the experimental geometry, common learnings I, common learnings IV, debate or speech classes, the reading development laboratory, and a display of audio-visual equipment.

The science and math tour includes biology, chemistry, physics, physical science, experimental geometry, general math, and algebra classes.

The home economics tour will visit foods, sewing, common learnings IV, distributive education, and art classes.

The fine arts tour will see the band, chorus, orchestra, college prep English, French or Spanish, American history, and art classes.

ALL TOURS will be routed so that visitors will see the boys' and girls' gyms in use, the choral room, band room, library, cafeteria, and kitchen.

Visitors will gather in the cafeteria between 12:15 and 12:45 p.m. to observe the cafeteria in use by the student body. At 12:45 they will eat lunch, and the tours will begin at 1:32. At 3:06 business men will be given a chance to ask questions of or make suggestions to the teachers and administrators of the school.

Any person who operates a business or professional office in the high school district is invited to attend or to send a representative. If registration cards have been misplaced or not received, reservations can be made by phoning the high school, CL 3-0200, or by jotting on a post card the tour preferred and mailing it to the high school.

Jacobs Applies For Permits To Build 5 New Stores On Highway

A request to pave the parkway along N. Pine ave., adjacent to the Art Jacobs real estate office was considered by the Arlington Heights village board at an adjourned meeting Tuesday night.

Jacobs has applied for permits for five stores to be connected to the west of his existing building. The parkway will be used for parking, and a parking area will also be available in the rear of the new stores. The board will authorize Jacobs to contact the village engineers to draw the plans and specifications for the paving, with certain provisions they feel should be included in the improvement.

THE BOARD will have an inspector check all the sidewalks in the business district, making note of those in need of repair. Owners will then be notified to repair the sidewalks within 30 days. This action was taken since the village has received several complaints regarding the condition of sidewalks from persons who have fallen and were injured. The walk along S. Dunton ave. will be restored to its original condition as soon as the cable is laid for the ornamental street lighting. This should be completed within the next week or two.

Sherman Kieser was refused a permit to remodel a home in back of the house at 1229 N. State rd. The board said the building did not meet with the village's code.

The village planning commission submitted a copy of the Stanton and Rockwell report with recommendations of changes to be made in the master plan. The board will take the matter under advisement before adopting the revised report as a permanent part of the village record.

HENRY B. HUTTON appeared before the board to ask that the "End 30 Mile Speed Limit" sign be removed from its present location on S. State rd. He said that the sign is within the village limits and encourages motorists to speed before they are out of the village. He also asked that the city limit sign on S. State rd., at Rockwell st., be moved back to Central rd., since most of the land on both sides of State rd. lies within the village limits.

The board will call the matter to the attention of the State highway department, which has jurisdiction over signs placed along State rd. The board will also contact the County highway department regarding the village limit sign on E. Euclid, which should be moved further east.

3 Arlington Residents Injured In Accidents

Three accidents involving three Arlington Heights residents were reported by the Sheriff's office this week. Mrs. Lillian Krause, 52, of S. State rd., Arlington Heights, and her daughter, Dolores, 19, were injured in a collision with a car driven by William Klawitter, 49, of Chicago, November 4. Mrs. Krause, making a right turn on route 14 from Rohlwing rd. was apparently blinded by the sun. Klawitter, driving east was unable to avoid a collision as the Krause car swung into his lane. The injured were taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

A collision on route 14 east of route 22 on November 7 resulted in damage to cars driven by Dan O'Leary, 65, of Western ave., Woodstock, and John A. Smith, 35, of N. Belmont ave., Arlington Heights. Both cars were southbound and O'Leary started to make a left turn just as the other vehicle was about to pass. No injuries were reported by either driver.

John Zerevich, 20, of Des Plaines was injured when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car driven by Lawrence Korn, 21, of Chicago. Korn, traveling west on Touhy ave., was about to make a left turn when he struck the motorcycle which was traveling without lights. Zerevich was treated for injuries at St. Francis hospital.

Witness Tells Lions Club

Four Flying Saucers Checkpoint Palatine and Arlington; Jets from O'Hare Fail in Effort to 'Capture' Space Ships

Television addicts of the younger age may be several generations ahead of their dads and mothers. Space ships are real to them and the men from other worlds who man those ships they see over the TV have become real objects and beings.

The average parent considers such "fairy tales" as only exciting entertainment that glue theirs and the neighboring children to the family TV each night.

Members of Palatine Lions club were told Thursday evening that space ships as represented by the flying saucers are real. The man who did the telling was Gordon A. Vold, 132 N. Forest, Palatine.

Vold brought with him a number of books written on the subject and clippings from two national magazines, Life and Look. He did not ask the Lions to believe a thing that he said if they were not ready to admit that "space ships" may become a reality in the next hundred years.

Many of his hearers may have admitted that what they heard that evening sounded like sense, until they returned home and tried to convince their wives that the flying saucers are really visitors from other planets.

Mr. Vold began making a study of saucers over two years ago. He has become so intensely interested in the subject that he carries in his car at all times a camera with which he hopes to 'snap' one of the darn things that may come into range of his camera.

Six weeks ago while traveling on route 63 he thought he had his chance but by the time he had stopped his car and reached for his camera the "space ship" had nearly disappeared.

The next flying saucer that came into his vision was an afternoon last summer in the vicinity of Barrington. It was only overhead seven to 10,000 feet. It was standing still and appeared to be shooting from the back, a substance that appeared like yarn. As it began to move, the "shooting" stopped. The object gave the appearance of a mirror. Again a few weeks later he saw a saucer near Barrington between 5 and 6 p. m. that was a blackish object.

Vold has reported to the station at O'Hare field as soon as possible after the saucers have been sighted.

Chicago newspapers have been asked by the air corps not to report the appearance of the objects, but phone conversations by Vold with air corps officials has convinced him that air force officers admit there is such a thing as flying saucers.

A few weeks ago when four saucers appeared over Arlington Heights and Palatine he was told that the air corps had received 40 telephone messages about the objects.

The army is understood to have taken several successful photographs of these objects but encourages all persons who happen to see them to report such sightings to the intelligence officers at O'Hare field.

The four saucers over Palatine and Arlington, which were traveling at about 140 miles an hour, gave out an orange cast. They traveled in a northwesterly direction and within a short time returned. They were witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Vold and their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blaseck. The objects are noiseless.

Within a few minutes jets from O'Hare air field were searching for them. Actions of the air corps is evidence that branch of the government have decided that saucers are not mere illusions.

"It is the assumption of scientist," Vold told the Palatine Lions, "that the saucers come from other planet systems, the inhabitants of which are much more advanced than those of this world. They have learned to overcome gravity. Scientific instruments have detected them as high as 85 miles from the earth with speeds as high as 18,000 miles an hour.

It takes light from one of the nearer stars 4 years to reach the earth. It might take several years for one of those ships to reach earth.

Perhaps a year in the life of earthly inhabitants may be like a day to persons of the other planet.

Vold pointed out that in the days of Columbus the average life of a man was 32 years. In 500 years our life span has been doubled. It stands to reason that the life span of that other world may be several times as great and a journey to earth is nothing.

Flying saucers are not new. As early as 1773, they were reported over England. Again in 1751. There are several accounts of their appearance in the middle of the last century. In the early accounts the objects sent out an odor like sulphur. Today there is no sulphur. "There is evidence that the "space cadets" have learned how to fuse certain metals that our scientists have not accomplished.

The speaker closed his talk with, "scientists can tell you more about what they are not than what they are."

Before the reader dismisses the saucers from his mind, we quote from a recent article in Life magazine: —

"Dr. Biot said: 'The least improbable explanation is that these things are artificial and controlled . . . My opinion for some time has been that they have an extraterrestrial origin'."

"Before these awesome questions, science — and mankind — can yet only halt in wonder. Answers may come in a generation — or tomorrow. Somewhere in the dark skies there may be those who kno—"

A Friendly Message To Arlington Business Men

Arlington Heights high school recently sent to every one of you businessmen an invitation to spend Wednesday afternoon, November 19, with them.

A program, starting with a luncheon was arranged in the expectation that their invitation would be accepted by a majority of the local businessmen.

The number of acceptances has been disappointing. You have probably been so busy trying to make money that you do not realize how much enjoyment you would find in an afternoon forgetting your business worries. Why not spend a social three hours with the teachers who are devoting their best towards the welfare of the boys and girls of this area?

The purpose of the Education-Business Day is to let you fellows know what you are getting for you tax dollar.

There is still time to call CL 3-0200 for your reservation.

Incidentally, the monthly luncheon meeting of the Chamber due Tuesday, November 18, is being postponed for this other event.

At Insurance Confab

Henry J. Hasz of Mount Prospect, attended the life insurance marketing institute at Purdue university, Lafayette, Indiana, November 3 through November 7.

The institute is conducted in the interest of the insurance buying public of the United States. Almost 2000 life insurance underwriters have received professional training at a university level, to the end that they can better serve their clients in their home communities.

The course on fraternal life insurance marketing Mr. Hasz attended was given by the regular insurance marketing staff, and was attended by a class consisting of 55 persons from 17 states.

Mr. Hasz is a representative of the aid association for Lutherans.

BOOK WEEK NOVEMBER 16 - 22

In the United States department of commerce bulletins, which lists days, weeks, and months devoted to the promotion of everything from lessons in truth to peanuts, Book Week is just another week, but to the boys and girls all over the country who enjoy the daily privileges of their local library, it means new and interesting books on the shelves.

Having started as a simple promotion in several scattered bookstores and libraries back in 1915, Book Week has now grown into a nation-wide project, touching small communities and large cities alike.

FOR THE ARLINGTON Hts. boys and girls and young people, the following new books are available: "Little Mother's Cookbook;" "Basketball Comes to Lonesome Point;" "The Wish that Went Wild;" "The Best House in the World;" "The Happy Place;" "The Silver Purse;" "Family Grandstand;" "Freddy the Pilot;" "Puss in Boots;" "Penny Rose;" "Bright Days;" "Joan Foster, Bride;" "The More the Merrier;" "Robinson Crusoe" (child's version); "Flip and the Morning."

"A Mike for Marion;" "Scarlet Royal;" "Benny and the Birds;" "Bobby's Happy Day;" "The Song of a Thrush;" "Black Stallion's Filly;" "Cub Scout at Last;" "Wild Folk in the Woods;" "Get that Story;" "Line Smasher;" Mystery of the Broken Bridge;" "Little Fox;" "The Secret of Plenty House;" "Little White Foot;" "Center Ice;" "Milkman Freddy;" "Black Tiger;" "Bold Venture;" "Kathleen Visits the Fair;" "Five Little Monkeys;" "The Boy Who Stole the Elephant;" "The Lombardy Children;" "Lively Victoria;" "The Secret of Bucky Moran;" "Dr. Dolittle's Puddleby Adventures;" "The News is Good;" "Nancy and Plum;" "Miss Flora McFlimsey's Birthday;" "Wild Stallion;" "Percy, Polly and Pete;" "Better Homes & Gardens Second Story Book."

For the adult reader: "The Curve and the Tusk," by Stuart Cloete. This is a story of elephants and the universe; of the deep forest of darkest Africa, of the two huge old bull elephants and their vengeance on the hunter, who long ago wounded one of them. Not since Kipling has anyone written of elephants and their lore with such passion and knowledge.

"Home is Upriver," by Brian Harwin. The muddy length and breadth of the Mississippi river is the setting for this remarkably skillful first novel. There is a quiet strength and beauty in this book that will make it linger pleasantly in the memory long after it has been read.

"The Wonderful Country," by Tom Lea. This is an adventure story of a man alone in a life of violence, riding a harsh country hungry, searching for home in his heart. It is a story of the Southwest where Texas and New Mexico meet Chihuahua and Sonora.

"My Island Home," James Norman Hall. This is the modest, sincere, deeply felt autobiography of an American who was brought up in very humble circumstances in a small town in Iowa, who fell in love with literature at an early age, and who made up his mind while he was still working his way through college that he would travel to the far ends of the earth in search of an island solitude. When one looks up at the end, it is with the realization of having met a great man, and of having touched the true nobility of spirit.

Village Theatre Meeting Thursday, November 13

Village Theatre will meet Thursday, November 13, 8:30 p. m. at the Arlington Heights field house.

A scene from Cyrano de Bergeroc will be presented as part of the program. All persons interested in Village Theatre are invited to attend.

Wins Second Place In FFA Land Use Selection Contest

Ed Linneman of the Arlington Heights chapter of Future Farmers of America, took second place in the sectional land use selection contest, held near Woodstock November 5.

In the fat stock judging contest of the previous week, Ethan Foss placed ninth. Seventy-five boys from 15 schools completed in each contest. The section includes Belvidere on the west and to the state line on the north.

The land use selection contest was conducted by the U. S. soil conservation service men of this area. This is the newest of the agricultural judging contests. Contestants are required to determine the best uses to be made of particular plots of land from the point of view of conservation, maximum production and long range planing.

Each contestant grades the land on color of surface soil, depth of top soil and favorability of subsoil for root growth, ease of water and air movement in the subsoil, texture, slope and degree of erosion.

In addition to judging these physical features, he must classify the land as to its capability, select the appropriate land use for the field, suggest the most intensive but safe cropping system, and select other appropriate conservation practices for the field.

Other members of the local team were Pete Theobald, Melvin Meyer, Arnold Goeddeke and Don Wille. The chapter is directed by J. D. Bryson, vocational agriculture teacher, and is a part of the extra-curricular program of the high school.

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars.

There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you — a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile.

Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflow Drive* begins working its magic—and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But—why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this — and more, far more — all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

800 Student Council Members To Attend Convention At AHTHS

Some 800 members of student councils from high schools in northern Illinois will meet at the Arlington Heights high school Saturday, November 15, in the annual convention of the Northeast-Northwest District of the Illinois Association of Student Councils.

A full day of work and pleasure is planned for the delegates, with emphasis on the study groups, which will compare and examine ideas for student government and student council activities.

GENERAL SESSIONS will include a keynote address, campaigning for offices, election and installation of officers for the coming year. Lunch will be served to delegates in the school cafeteria.

A poster display entitled "Hall of Ideas" has been developed with the cooperation of the art department. Posters in the display will present ideas on various phases of student council activities.

Several clubs have assumed the responsibilities of committee work in connection with this convention. The Arlington Student council has supervised the general planning, with Carol Glaeser acting as convention manager.

Opening Night For 'The Curious Savage' Set For November 21

As is fitting for the director of a play as opening night approaches, Sylvia Paulson, dramatics instructor at Arlington Hts. high school, appears distracted and near her wit's end, but she can be coaxed to admit that she is happy with the progress the cast and crew are making.

"We haven't had to recast a single part," she says. "If anyone has been discouraged, he has certainly hid it well, and has gone on with his job. If we can keep it up, we'll have a fine performance. And we have had a lot of fun in the rehearsals."

Some of the fun arises out of the use of first names in giving directions to Paul Gustafson and Paula Miller. Each has been hopelessly confused, annoyed and frustrated by trying to carry out instructions intended for the other, and cast and crew have enjoyed the mix-ups immensely.

Bob Pearson's absorption in his portrayal of Titus, a sometimes ferocious character, has frightened some of the cast into hysterics, to the near hysterical amusement of others.

The play, "The Curious Savage," will be presented by the senior class of the high school November 21 and 22. It is a comedy about a group of inmates of a sanitarium for mental cases. Since the characters must appear to be insane, and the cast is both handsome and intelligent, the make-up crew faces a difficult task. But you may be surprised how easy it is for an amateur actor to look insane on opening night.

Arlington Men Aid In Chicago Community Fund - USO Campaign

Active in the 1952 Community Fund-USO campaign for $9,870,000 are 13 Arlington Heights residents.

They are Robert W. Hutchinson, 714 Elm; M. M. Cleaver, 631 Burton place; James R. King, 824 N. Patton; Harold T. Henry, 834 N. Hickory; H. A. Kunberger, 926 N. Kennicott; Jesse E. Johnson, 706 N. Evergreen; William Meier, 106 Windsor drive; Gerald Griffin, 422 Dryden place; Norbert Willging, 1010 N. Harvard; R. O. Berg, 615 E. Davis; William E. Sauer, 834 Princeton; R. M. Wingquist, 309 N. Brighton place, and R. Earl Johnston, 537 Burton pl.

All are working in the general business division of the campaign, which is responsible for soliciting more than 4,000 business accounts in the Chicago metropolitan area. The campaign has already met 52 per cent of its goal. The drive ends November 19.

CIRCLING THE TOWN
BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Varying tastes in entertainment can be satisfied locally Saturday night, and in both cases the activities going on are annual affairs. For dancers, there is the Hard Times dance of the Junior Woman's club, and for those who prefer a "spectator sport" there is the Minstrel Jubilee at the high school.

The dance, to be held at Fred's place on Rand rd., will feature the music of Hardt's Melodiers. They will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. One of the things that makes the dance so much fun is that it is traditional for all guests to come in old clothes, ready for an evening of informal entertainment. Tickets at $2 per couple may be purchased from club members or at the door.

The Minstrel Jubilee, in which a considerable number of Arlington high school boys competed for endmen parts, will be held in the old gym starting at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children. High school students will see a matinee of the show Thursday at 50 cents each.

Dick McAuliffe is interlocutor of this year's show with the following acting as endmen: Bob Bower, Jim Whitelaw, Bob Rankine, Joe Rezek, Gilbert Haas and Dick Riley.

For Other Children

Arlington Heights school children are observing today, Thursday, and tomorrow as Bundle days when they bring outgrown clothes to school to be distributed to less fortunate children through the Save the Children Federation. Goal for this year is three million pounds of clothing.

All types of clothing are needed, both for adults and children, for it will be distributed to families in America, Korea, Western Europe and Lebanon. The only thing not wanted is high heeled shoes.

Clothing need not be of the latest style or even of its original color. It must, however, be clean and in good repair.

These two days offer an opportunity to help needy families and to do oneself a favor by ridding closets and drawers of little-used clothing items.

On the Way

With groundbreaking and excavating on two new public schools for Arlington Heights now going on, it begins to look like the new buildings will be ready for occupancy—and to help relieve already crowded buildings by next fall. Contractors working on the construction say that unless there are unforeseen delays the new buildings will be ready for fall.

The new South school, at Grove and Mitchell will house part of the kindergarten through fifth grade age pupils living on the south side of town and will permit the junior high school to make use of part of the classrooms in the present South school. Arlington Ridge school, located in the northwest part of the village, will accommodate pupils below junior high age who live in that area.

Construction of new schools, lagging only slightly behind population growth, is a tribute to the foresightedness of the school board and the fact that local people want the best schools for their children. The board tries to anticipate needs before they become unbearably urgent, and the townspeople have passed the needed bond issues by large majorities.

Elena Nikolaidi To Sing In Heights Sunday

The second in a series of four community concerts will be held for its membership, Sunday evening, November 16 at 8:15 p.m. in the Arlington Heights high school gymnasium.

The meteoric rise to fame in America of Elena Nikolaidi, the great contralto, is one of the truly sensational success stories in the musical world in recent years. A complete unknown when she first arrived in the country three seasons ago, Nikolaidi is now a star of the Metropolitan Opera and is generally recognized as one of the great concert singers of the day.

ALTHOUGH she had achieved a high reputation abroad as a leading member of the Vienna Opera as a recitailst, Nikolaidi was not known here until she gave her debut recital in New York in January, 1949. It was, according to Time Magazine, "one of the smash hits of the season." A critic for the New York Herald Tribune write: "In 20 years of music reviewing and twice that number in listening to the world's best singers, I have encountered no greater voice or vocalist."

This rare unanimity of praise immediately launched Nikolaidi on her fabulous concert career. During the three sold-out tours of the United States and Canada that have followed, the praise of critics and audiences has continued to swell and confirm the first evaluation of the supreme artistry of this dynamic Mediterranean beauty.

Nikolaidi is married to Thanos Mellos, a baritone whom she met while they were both students in Athens. They live in New Rochelle, N. Y., and have an eight year old son. A special bill signed by the President, has recently conferred the right of permanent residence upon Nikolaidi and her family.

The membership of Arlington Heights Community Concert association has a great treat in store. Doors will be open at 7:30 p.m.

'Papa Is All' Is Next Guild Production

Third play of the season of Des Plaines theater guild, slated for December 10-13, is "Papa Is All." It is a story of the Pennsylvania Dutch, done in the traditions of the Mennonite and Amish sects, still in existence today. Dialogue is in the broken tongue of these people. Sponsoring two nights of the play is the northwest suburban branch of AAUW.

Letters With Christmas Seals In The Mails

More than 197 million Christmas seals — enough to extend from Chicago to Miami and back with 700 miles to spare — have been mailed to residents of Chicago and Cook county for the 46th annual anti-tuberculosis fund-raising campaign.

The seals, used traditionally on Christmas cards and packages, will be delivered to some 950,000 residents on Monday, November 17, opening date of the drive.

Letters enclosed with the seals emphasize the year around services provided by the institute and drew special attention to the mass chest x-ray program under which free chest x-rays will be given to over 600,000 persons in Chicagoland this year.

Christian Science Lecture In Barrington

The healing method of Christian Science will be the topic of a public lecture by Mrs. Mary C. Holloway of Shreveport, La., announced for Sunday afternoon by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Barrington.

Everyone is invited and no tickets are necessary. Mrs. Holloway will speak in the Barrington Elementary school auditorium, 310 S. Hough st. at 3:30 p. m. November 16. Her subject will be "Christian Science: The Meeting of the Letter and the Spirit."

For some years a Christian Science practitioner, Mrs. Holloway is now a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Formerly she was active in community welfare and public relations work. She was trained at Ohio State University in campaign management, community organization, public budgeting, and financial administration, as well as the journalistic aspects of such work.

Interesting Talks Highlight Teachers' Confab

Highlights of the teachers' institute which was held Monday at Arlington Heights high school were the opening address by Dr. Irving Lee, Professor of Speech, Northwestern university, and the address by Earl H. Hanson, superintendent of schools at Rock Island.

Dr. Lee's topic was "Obstacles to Human Communication," a field in which he has done research both as a university faculty member and as a member of the armed forces. In his talk he dealt primarily with three major difficulties in communication.

THESE WERE: the know-it-all attitude which closes the mind to further consideration of a subject; the acceptance of assumptions as fact; and failure of one party to make certain that he understands the statement of another. The talk was well interspersed with both serious and humorous illustrations, and was enthusiastically received by the group.

In his talk on "Moral and Spiritual Values," Earl Hanson dealt with the responsibilities of the home, state, church, and public school in the teaching of these values. He expressed the opinion that the public school is doing a great deal to develop character and "goodness" in its students. Religion, he said, is the greatest possible aid in developing these values, but religion cannot be taught in public schools, which are an arm of a state which earnestly believes in religious freedom.

All teachers and administrators of schools in the High School District 214 attended the institute.

To Hold Men And Missions Sunday

The men of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Arlington Heights, will sponsor Men and Missions Sunday at the 10:30 a. m. service this Sunday.

"Men and Missions" is the general theme of the service. Myron G. Kuhlman and Gerhart Wallies will speak briefly on the "Need For New Mission Churches."

August Stelling will give the prayer, and Emil Baumgarten will read the Scripture.

Miss Betty Miles Feted At Shower

Miss Betty Miles, Arlington Heights, whose marriage to Lt. Col. Fred Durni of Arlington Heights will take place November 22, was guest of honor at a surprise linen bridal shower November 5 at the home of Mrs. Robert Geddes in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Robert Rohner of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Geo. Adam of Prospect Heights were co-hostesses with Mrs. Geddes.

There were about 35 guests from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights. Included were Miss Miles' mother, Mrs. W. A. Miles II, and her aunt, Miss Bessie Andrews, of Arlington Heights.

Using a color scheme of gold and white, the table centerpiece were white chrysanthemums rising out of double wedding rings. Throughout the house were hung wedding bells which had been used at the golden wedding anniversary of the grandmother of Mrs. Arthur Olson of Mount Prospect and at the wedding of her daughter, Alice, which took place recently. White bows which were used at the latter's wedding also were placed to add a decorative effect.

Church To Hold Re-Used Sale

A re-used sale of all kinds of household articles and clothing will be held in the gymnasium at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights November 21 at 2 p.m.

The sale is sponsored by the Women's association of the church and proceeds will be given to the building fund committee of the church to be used towards the erection of the new sanctuary.

Mrs. Carl Clare and Mrs. Fred Clark are planning and directing the sale, and they will be assisted by a committee composed of Mrs Paul Bostian, Mrs. Daniel Vittum and Mrs. Robert Malcolm.

The sale, which is being run on the same day as the Presbyterian Men's club Ladies' night dinner, will remain open until 9 p.m. to accommodate the dinner hour guests as well as all evening shoppers. If supply and demand is great enough the sale will be held over until the following day. The Saturday hours will be 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Anyone wishing to contribute clothing, souvenirs, household articles, gifts or other miscellaneous materials may do so by calling Mrs. Carl Clare.

Architect To Address Church Group

William A. Ganster, architect, will address the regular monthly meeting of the Evening Guild at St. John's Episcopal church in the village hall, Mt. Prospect, at 8 p. m. November 19. The subject of his talk will be "Church Architecture."

Mr. Ganster is the architect of the proposed St. John's Episcopal church, plans of which will be shown to the congregation as a whole for the first time at a dinner in the South school in Arlington Heights November 14. He also designed the new Dryden Place school in Arlington Heights, Arlington Heights Junior high, and the new school under construction in Mt. Prospect.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the November meeting is the Christmas bazaar, organized by the ways and means committee of the Evening Guild under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. C. DeZur. The Women's auxiliary, St. Ann's Guild, and St. Catherine's Guild will also have tables at this bazaar. In addition to the selection of gifts, there will be baked goods on sale.

Posters for the annual Thanksgiving ball, sponsored by the Evening Guild, are making their appearance in store windows in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. A. B. Wood, a friend of the church, gave invaluable assistance to the committee, which consists of the following members: Mrs. J. R. Blake, Mrs. Edward J. Hennessy, Mrs. Ralph Van Middlesworth, Mrs. Robert A. Waters and Mrs. A. B. Wood. The Thanksgiving ball will be at the Elmhurst Country club November 28.

Refreshments for the guild meeting will be served by Mrs. Edward D. Baumgartner and Mrs. G. A. Risler.

Any newcomers wishing to attend and members who are in need of transportation are urged to call Mrs. Willard N. Nelson at Clearbrook 3-7350. (AM

Ladies To Hold Christmas Bazaar

The annual Christmas bazaar of the Ladies Aid of St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will take place November 20 in the Lutheran activity building starting at 3:30 p.m.

Baked goods, needlecraft of all types and handmade quilts will be on sale. A cafeteria supper will be a special feature of the bazaar. It is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Albert Kehe is chairman of the fancy work booth; Mrs. Henry Hoeft, the bakery goods booth; Mrs. Ella Meyer, the grab bag; Mrs. Charles Klehm, the white elephant and knick-knack booth; Mrs. George Meyer, the quilts and rag rugs; Mrs. Rudolph Kranz and Mrs. Herman Behn, the dressy and practical aprons, and Mrs. Edward Grewe and Mrs. William Brockmann, the cafeteria supper. Gift items and candy will also be on sale.

Proceeds will help the local congregation as well as the missions and charitable organizations of the church.

"Miracle Drug" say SURIN Users

Pains of Arthritis, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Bursitis*— Relief Can Start In Minutes

There's no internal dosing with SURIN. Nothing to swallow and wait anxiously for relief. You simply apply SURIN right at the point of pain and blessed relief starts as penetration beneath the skin gets under way. Of course there's a reason for this wonder-working new external fast pain relief medicine.

It's methacholine, a recent chemical born of research in a great laboratory. It acts speedily to aid penetration of SURIN's pain-quelling ingredients. Methacholine also causes deeper, longer-lasting pain relief and increased speed-up of local blood supply.

Tested on chronic rheumatics in large university hospital it brought fast relief to 73% patients and in home-for-the-aged 77%. Totally different from old-fashioned rubs and liniments, modern SURIN brings faster relief, longer without burning or blistering; without unpleasant odor or grease. Simply smooth on SURIN at the point of pain and feel pain ease in minutes. Money-back at your drug store if SURIN doesn't relieve muscle pain faster and better than anything you've ever used. A generous jar costs $1.25. SURIN is not a cure for any of these conditions.

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club will sponsor their annual Hard Times Dance November 15 at Fred's Place on Rand rd. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., and the Hardt Meloders will provide music for the evening.

Highlight of the dance will be the drawing for two turkeys. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes and everyone is asked to come in old clothes or an original costume.

Tickets, which are $2 per couple, are available from club members or at the door the night of the dance. Proceeds will be used for the club's philanthropic work. (B4

AUXILIARY MEETS

Merle Guild Unit American Legion Auxiliary, Arlington Hts., held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, at which time they voted their annual payments on obligations of child welfare, community service, ROTC medal awards, rehabilitation, department and district.

Reports and plans on coming events as well as a report on a dinner the unit served to 45 veterans at Oak Forest Sanitorium were given.

DAR Chapter To Attend Meet

A delegation of members from Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in this area will attend the fourth division meeting of the Illinois chapters November 14. Luncheon will be served at 11:30 in the Georgian room of Carson Pirie Scott.

This is an Americanism and national defense program. Speaker for the afternoon will be Stanley Jonhston, war correspondent for the Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Harold Lussow of Arlington Heights, regent of Eli Skinner chapter, will report to the meeting on Eli Skinner's delegate to Boys' Town in Springfield in June. Joe Dister, a senior at Arlington township high school and a resident of Prospect Heights, was chosen for this honor.

Accompanying Mrs. Lussow will be Mrs. Ira S. Parker, vice regent; Mrs. Milton Daniels, Americanism chairman, and Mrs. Marion Grigsby, national defense chairman, all of Arlington Heights. (B4

Nurses To Meet

The annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Nurses' club will be held November 21 at 8 p. m. in the Methodist church parlors. All members are urged to attend, for election of officers will be held.

Hostesses will be Mrs. S. P. Dykstra, Mrs. Eugene Grewe, Mrs. Elaine Redding, Miss Olga Osback, Miss Lillian MacLeish, and Mrs. Alfred Loll.

Members are reminded to plan their Christmas boxes for the Oak Forest Infirmary. Details will be announced at this meeting.

Church To Hold Re-Used Sale

A re-used sale of all kinds of household articles and clothing will be held in the gymnasium at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights November 21 at 2 p.m.

The sale is sponsored by the Women's association of the church and proceeds will be given to the building fund committee of the church to be used towards the erection of the new sanctuary.

Mrs. Carl Clare and Mrs. Fred Clark are planning and directing the sale, and they will be assisted by a committee composed of Mrs Paul Bostian, Mrs. Daniel Vittum and Mrs. Robert Malcolm.

The sale, which is being run on the same day as the Presbyterian Men's club Ladies' night dinner, will remain open until 9 p.m. to accommodate the dinner hour guests as well as all evening shoppers. If supply and demand is great enough the sale will be held over until the following day. The Saturday hours will be 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Anyone wishing to contribute clothing, souvenirs, household articles, gifts or other miscellaneous materials may do so by calling Mrs. Carl Clare.

Architect To Address Church Group

William A. Ganster, architect, will address the regular monthly meeting of the Evening Guild at St. John's Episcopal church in the village hall, Mt. Prospect, at 8 p. m. November 19. The subject of his talk will be "Church Architecture."

Mr. Ganster is the architect of the proposed St. John's Episcopal church, plans of which will be shown to the congregation as a whole for the first time at a dinner in the South school in Arlington Heights November 14. He also designed the new Dryden Place school in Arlington Heights, Arlington Heights Junior high, and the new school under construction in Mt. Prospect.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the November meeting is the Christmas bazaar, organized by the ways and means committee of the Evening Guild under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. C. DeZur. The Women's auxiliary, St. Ann's Guild, and St. Catherine's Guild will also have tables at this bazaar. In addition to the selection of gifts, there will be baked goods on sale.

Posters for the annual Thanksgiving ball, sponsored by the Evening Guild, are making their appearance in store windows in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights. A. B. Wood, a friend of the church, gave invaluable assistance to the committee, which consists of the following members: Mrs. J. R. Blake, Mrs. Edward J. Hennessy, Mrs. Ralph Van Middlesworth, Mrs. Robert A. Waters and Mrs. A. B. Wood. The Thanksgiving ball will be at the Elmhurst Country club November 28.

Refreshments for the guild meeting will be served by Mrs. Edward D. Baumgartner and Mrs. G. A. Risler.

Any newcomers wishing to attend and members who are in need of transportation are urged to call Mrs. Willard N. Nelson at Clearbrook 3-7350. (AM

Ladies To Hold Christmas Bazaar

The annual Christmas bazaar of the Ladies Aid of St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will take place November 20 in the Lutheran activity building starting at 3:30 p.m.

Baked goods, needlecraft of all types and handmade quilts will be on sale. A cafeteria supper will be a special feature of the bazaar. It is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

Mrs. Albert Kehe is chairman of the fancy work booth; Mrs. Henry Hoeft, the bakery goods booth; Mrs. Ella Meyer, the grab bag; Mrs. Charles Klehm, the white elephant and knick-knack booth; Mrs. George Meyer, the quilts and rag rugs; Mrs. Rudolph Kranz and Mrs. Herman Behn, the dressy and practical aprons, and Mrs. Edward Grewe and Mrs. William Brockmann, the cafeteria supper. Gift items and candy will also be on sale.

Proceeds will help the local congregation as well as the missions and charitable organizations of the church.

Pains of Arthritis, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Bursitis* Relief Can Start In Minutes

There's no internal dosing with SURIN. Nothing to swallow and wait anxiously for relief. You simply apply SURIN right at the point of pain and blessed relief starts as penetration beneath the skin gets under way. Of course there's a reason for this wonder-working new external fast pain relief medicine.

It's methacholine, a recent chemical born of research in a great laboratory. It acts speedily to aid penetration of SURIN's pain-quelling ingredients. Methacholine also causes deeper, longer-lasting pain relief and increased speed-up of local blood supply.

Tested on chronic rheumatics in large university hospital it brought fast relief to 73% patients and in home-for-the-aged 77%. Totally different from old-fashioned rubs and liniments, modern SURIN brings faster relief, longer without burning or blistering; without unpleasant odor or grease. Simply smooth on SURIN at the point of pain and feel pain ease in minutes. Money-back at your drug store if SURIN doesn't relieve muscle pain faster and better than anything you've ever used. A generous jar costs $1.25. SURIN is not a cure for any of these conditions.*

Saturday Is Date For Hard Times Dance

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club will sponsor their annual Hard Times Dance November 15 at Fred's Place on Rand rd. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., and the Hardt Meloders will provide music for the evening.

Highlight of the dance will be the drawing for two turkeys. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes and everyone is asked to come in old clothes or an original costume.

Tickets, which are $2 per couple, are available from club members or at the door the night of the dance. Proceeds will be used for the club's philanthropic work. (B4

AUXILIARY MEETS

Merle Guild Unit American Legion Auxiliary, Arlington Hts., held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, at which time they voted their annual payments on obligations of child welfare, community service, ROTC medal awards, rehabilitation, department and district.

Reports and plans on coming events as well as a report on a dinner the unit served to 45 veterans at Oak Forest Sanitorium were given.

DAR Chapter To Attend Meet

A delegation of members from Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in this area will attend the fourth division meeting of the Illinois chapters November 14. Luncheon will be served at 11:30 in the Georgian room of Carson Pirie Scott.

This is an Americanism and national defense program. Speaker for the afternoon will be Stanley Jonhston, war correspondent for the Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Harold Lussow of Arlington Heights, regent of Eli Skinner chapter, will report to the meeting on Eli Skinner's delegate to Boys' Town in Springfield in June. Joe Dister, a senior at Arlington township high school and a resident of Prospect Heights, was chosen for this honor.

Accompanying Mrs. Lussow will be Mrs. Ira S. Parker, vice regent; Mrs. Milton Daniels, Americanism chairman, and Mrs. Marion Grigsby, national defense chairman, all of Arlington Heights. (B4

Nurses To Meet

The annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Nurses' club will be held November 21 at 8 p. m. in the Methodist church parlors. All members are urged to attend, for election of officers will be held.

Hostesses will be Mrs. S. P. Dykstra, Mrs. Eugene Grewe, Mrs. Elaine Redding, Miss Olga Osback, Miss Lillian MacLeish, and Mrs. Alfred Loll.

Members are reminded to plan their Christmas boxes for the Oak Forest Infirmary. Details will be announced at this meeting.

just what is a "pre-arranged" funeral?

Many thoughtful persons believe in providing for funeral arrangements before the need arises, just as they have arranged their wills, insurance, and other details to reduce the burden of loved ones at the time of death. We invite you to inquire about this sensible plan of pre-arrangement.

Presbyterian Men Plan Ladies Night

Highlight of the season for the recently organized Men's council of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church will be the first annual Ladies' night which is scheduled for November 21 at 6:45 p. m. in the church dining room.

The program being planned by men of the church for their wives' entertainment will feature the appearance of the widely popular North Western Railway Choral society, under the direction of Richard Manning. Other program arrangements are being handled by a committee headed by James Webster.

The dinner, which will be prepared by the Women's Association of the church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Frank Havranek, will be served to the ladies present by the men of the church.

According to N. M. Lattof, president of the Presbyterian Men's council, all members of the church are invited to attend and tickets may be obtained from any of the following division leaders of the Men's council: Gordon Gullicksen, Victor O. Bernthal, A. P. Fellingham, William Arnold, Clarence Swaby and Bill Beckman.

Two Woman's Club Groups To Meet

The art study group of the Arlington Heights Woman's club will meet November 18, at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Lyle Ewing, 716 N. Ridge ave. Mrs. J. E. Lohr will serve as cohostess of the meeting.

A subject of appeal to all homemakers — china and porcelain—will be discussed by Mrs. Alfred Freeman. She will tell the history of porcelain and how China (the country) had the secret of its manufacture for centuries before it was introduced to Western civilization.

Mrs. Freeman, a native of Winnetka, has been a collector of antique china for many years and her collection includes many inherited pieces as well as those she has gathered herself. She has conducted classes on old china at the Winnetka Woman's club, where she served as secretary for 25 years, and will identify any rare pieces of china which club members may wish to bring to the meeting.

All those planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Ewing at Clearbrook 3-7572.

Attention of club members is called to the fact that the next art study group meeting, originally scheduled for December 16, has been moved up to December 5. This is the china painting and Christmas decorations workshop, which will last from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. The club bulletin board at the next regular club meeting, December 3, will supply detailed information about materials required. Club members are reminded to plan to bring a "nosebag" lunch.

The literature and drama study group will hold its second meeting of the season November 19 at the home of Mrs. Albert Seidel, 641 S. Bristol lane, at 1:30 p. m.

The program will feature two radio broadcasts from "The Cardinals of hte Air" performed by the Forensic League of the Arlington Heights township high school. This is an honorary speech group started last year.

Approximately 12 high school students will participate in this program, which has been especially prepared for this meeting under the direction of Larry Jenness, the high school speech teacher.

Co-hostess for the afternoon will be Mrs. Fred Paulsen.

All club members are invited to be present and should notify the hostess at Clearbrook 3-7382 of their intention to attend.

Evening Circles Plan Meetings For November 19

Two Evening circles of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will hold their monthly meetings November 19 at 8 p. m., one week earlier than usual.

Because of the pending holidays, the November and December meetings are advanced one week, according to announcements made by Mrs. Kenneth Gregory, chairman of circle VI, and Mrs. Jack McComb, circle VII chairman.

Mrs. John E. Low, 615 S. Beverly lane, will open her home to circle VII. Assisting Mrs. Low will be Mrs. Harold Garey and Mrs. Robert Calvin. Circle VI will meet at the home of Mrs. Laurence K. Smith, 611 W. Wing and co-hostesses with Mrs. Smith will be Mrs. Edward Miller and Mrs. R. J. Alexander.

Program for the evening will be led by the Christian education chairmen of the two circles, and they will review "Our Family Grows Toward God" by Mary Clemens Odell. Mrs. Roger J Alexander is Christian education leader for circle VI, and Mrs. Edwin Tierney represents circle VII.

Bible leaders will open their respective meetings by presenting another chapter from Clarence Macartney's book, "Famous Women of the Bible." Mrs. Robert Baron of circle VI and Mrs. David Zimmerman for circle VII will review "The Woman Who Was Better Than Her Job." The chapter is based on scripture found in Joshua 2:21.

At the conclusion of the meetings, dessert and coffee will be served by the hostesses. All interested women in the community are welcome to attend these meetings and further information may be obtained by calling the church office.

Lutherans Plan Parents' Night

St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will observe Parents' night November 14 in connection with the regular meeting of the Mothers' club, which begins at 8 p.m.

Parents will have the opportunity to hear the various teachers tell of their individual programs in the classrooms and discuss with them the progress of their children. Refreshments will be served.

Lutheran Education Sunday will be observed in all three services November 16. Professor Siegbert Becker of Concordia college will deliver sermons at 8 a.m., 9:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. The public is welcome, Luther V Stephan, local pastor, has stated

SHOPPING with SHARON

There's nothing that makes me feel better than to give someone special a really nice gift, but sometimes one just doesn't have the money handy. Flaherty Jewelers have a wonderful selection of fine Christmas gifts, and in addition they have a lay-away plan that enables you to pick out your gift now and pay gradually and painlessly.

Included in their selection of men's and women's Elgin and Hamilton watches priced from $39.75 are the latest fashions in fine watches. The matching Clubman and Clubwoman by Elgin features numerals around the case and an unusual dial, $71.50 each. Other men's watches have 21 jewels and smart suede or alligator bands. Really special are the ladies' diamond watches by Hamilton.

What really caught my eye was the large black onyx diamond centered man's ring. I think it's just about the most attractive masculine ring I've ever seen. It's among those rings especially for men at Flaherty's. You can also lay-away men's and women's rings, jewelry and pen and pencil sets. Maybe your husband would like an electric shaver for Christmas. Flaherty's carry Sunbeam, Schick and Remington. Make your selection today.

Have you seen the figurines by Mem of St. Louis at Aunt Pansy's? Each one is an original piece and the faces are really a work of art. I know they'll capture your heart. You can, however, order similar pieces. Other gift items at Aunt Pansy's include Swedish candelabra and candle holders, brass trays, Hummel prints with special handmade frames available and Hulda prints.

Aunt Pansy's also has a complete selection of personalized or regular Christmas cards. It's at 115 N. Dunton ave., the House with the Red Door.

Tole Craft is the newest craft at Sauerland's Hobby Shop. The set contains a metal basket, tray or table basket and oil paints. The picture is sketched on the metal object to make it so easy and simple to paint. Each section is numbered and the directions tell you just what to do . . . no lessons needed and no paint mixing. A perfect hobby for adults or children to pursue. Sauerland's have also received five new items in picture craft. In this set as in Tole Craft you receive a set of oil paints complete with canvas and the oils and their respective places on the canvas are numbererd.

The Hobby Shop is full of new toys and hobbies for young and old alike. Magnetized paper dolls, a kit for making jewelry, games and even a ship that you build and later put in a bottle — these are all available along with loads of other items in the hobby department.

Just walking into the Bounty Fair puts you into the holiday mood . . . Christmas decorations abound. Mrs. Shanklin has the most attractive gold and silver mesh angels and deer priced just right. Felt Christmas tree ornaments with jeweled sequin trim, including cornucorpias, are new and different this year. The lovely gem and fruit trees are among the most attractive yule decorations this season. And to display your Christmas cards, there's a special tree designed especially for cards.

The black wrought iron sleigh with places for four candles would make a lovely table centerpiece or mantle decoration, just $2.95. And don't forget that the Bounty Fair has an extensive selection of Christmas cards and holiday wrapping paper.

People with washing machines are apt to follow the example of those who don't own them by taking their laundry to Wala Washerette during the busy holiday season. The service is so quick and the job is done so painlessly that the custom begun during a rush is apt to become a habit.

And the folks who run the establishment give special care to nylon, wool and all fine things, so you can leave your clothes there and go off on errands. When you return, your wash will be dried the way you want it. There's no extra charge for this special care. The shirt service at Wala is also an extra for your convenience. They do a good job . . . starch shirts to your specifications . . . and the service is fast. Wala Washerette is on Northwest hwy., just west of Euclid ave.

We had a little trouble with the radiator in our car while driving up to Vermont during our visit in New York last week and I wish I had known before we left about the Choldun Pressure Purger at Winkelman's Tire and Battery Shop, 115 E. Davis st. Mr. Hinkelman explained to me that this is the only positive method to completely remove scale, rust, sludge and other obstructions from your radiator and motor block. This modern way to clean cooling systems prevents overheating and gives perfect cooling system performance. Be prepared and be safe . . . leave your car at Winkelman's for a complete check-up before it's too late.

Resurrection Hospital Will Give Hospital Care for Northwest Area

"Critical" was the term applied today to the health and hospital situation in the northwest area of the city by Mayor Martin H. Kennelly when he was informed of the unconfirmed report that the opening of the new Resurrection Hospital on Talcott rd., now under construction, might be delayed because of a shortage of funds.

State Department of Public Health statistics show that the northwest's rapid population growth to 281,000 residents, along with increased industrial development, make it imperative for the expansion of the area's hospital facilities.

ACCORDING TO the State of Illinois hospital survey the area affected is the suburban northwest and those portions of the City of Chicago generally west of Cicero ave. and north of Belmont ave. The territory runs north through Sauganash and Lincolnwood to Skokie and along the Northwest Highway to the Mt. Prospect and Arlington Hts. sections.

A check of the Illinois hospital survey and plan reveals that state officials are already aware of the critical need for hospital facilities in the area. Their study cites the need for 1,127 hospital beds to serve the resident population alone.

The business and industrial growth of this section of Chicago and its northwest suburban area has brought about a rapid increase in population. The number of residents in the area has jumped from 50,000 in 1920 and 168,000 in 1940 to approximately 281,000 persons, according to 1950 census figures. This almost 600% increase even exceeded estimates of the Chicago Plan Commission which predicted that the population would reach 284,300 by 1960.

RESIDENTS OF the northwest area are not entirely unaware of their need for hospital facilities. At the present time a new $4,000,000 Resurrection Hospital is being constructed on Talcott rd. four blocks west of Harlem ave. The proposed new nonprofit hospital is expected to provide 190 beds and 44 bassinets, available to everyone regardless of race, creed, or circumstance.

According to the State Department of Public Health, Resurrection's hospital service area includes these Chicago neighborhoods and suburban communities: Sauganash, Edgebrook, Edison Park, Edgewood, Norwood Park, Greater Oriole, Norwood Heights, Jefferson Gardens, Jefferson Park, Portage Park, Belmont Heights, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Niles, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Franklin Park, Schiller Park, Fairview, Skokie, Mt Prospect, Arlington Heights, Elmwood Park, and River Grove.

Dies At The Polls

John McLachlan, former leading blacksmith in Northbrook, died while voting at the polls Tuesday of last week. The 74-year-old village pioneer succumbed to a heart attack despite efforts of the inhalator squad to revive him.

John had operated the village blacksmith shop for 35 years until three years ago.

Alice Olson Becomes Bride Of Arnold Busse

Community Camera

Miss Alice Joan Olson and Arnold Louis Busse were united in marriage October 31 at 8 p.m. at St. Mary Episcopal church, Park Ridge. Father John B. Hubbard, who officiated, was assisted by Father Thomas K. Chaffee of Mount Prospect.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eugene Olson, 212 N. Emerson st., Mount Prospect, and the only granddaughter of Mrs. Henry Mackaben of Des Plaines. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Busse, 304 Evergreen, Mount Prospect.

The candlelighted nave of the church was adorned with white chrysanthemums and small pompon mums. Candelabra on alternated pews were tied with white satin bows and carnations. Beyond the chancel white roses on the altar formed a beautiful setting for the processional which was preceded by violin solos by William Hector of the Chicago Symphony and a friend of the bride's family. The selections were "The Swan" by Saint-Saens and "Meditation" from Thais.

The bride's gown was her own creation fashioned with a white velvet bodice and a bouffant French illusion nylon net skirt with a chapel train over satin. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a sequin-sprinkled toque. For the ceremony she wore a matching bolero and mits and carried a keepsake prayer book covered with clusters of white orchids, phaelanopsis and stephanotis with touches of ermine.

The maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Busse, sister-in-law of the groom, was gowned in aqua velvet and silk illusion tulle with a sequin sprinkled stole, and she carried a matching muff and wore a halo tiara covered with garnet red roses with ermine touches.

Miss Gerrie Hammond of Tucson, Ariz., was the bridesmaid, and she wore a gown identical to that of the maid of honor and carried garnet red roses on a muff and wore a halo tiara.

Miss Linda Busse, 3 year old niece of the groom, was the flower girl, and her gown was a petit miniature of that of the bridesmaid. The younger brother of the bride, John Henry, served his sister as ring bearer.

Harold Busse, brother of the groom, was best man, and another brother, Herbert Busse, served as an usher. Thomas Olson, brother of the bride, and Eugene Mackaben, uncle of the bride, were also ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a white phaelanopsis corsage and a mauve taffeta dress accented with silver brocade accessories. The mother of the groom wore a pink cymbridium orchid corsage on an irridescent wine taffeta dress with black velvet accessories.

Best wishes and congratulation were extended to the bride and groom by 300 relatives and friends in the decorated memorial dining room of St. Mary Episcopal church. Charles Tesar accompanied by his sister, played appropriate violin selections during the reception. Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Busse's home was the scene of an open house for out-of-town relatives and friends.

The young couple left by plane November 10 for London, England, and after November 15 will take residence in Dolphin Square, London, where Arnold Louis Busse is assigned to U. S. Navy communications facilities until the latter part of June 1953.

Carol Tossman And Jerome Rauch Are Wed

Daniels Photo

In a double ring ceremony November 8, Miss Carole Ann Tossman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tossman of 111 S. Pine ave., Arlington Heights, became the bride of S/Sgt. Jerome F. Rauch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rauch of Washington.

Rev. L. V. Stephan officiated at the ceremony held at 7:30 p. m. at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

The bride wore a white ballerina length gown of lace over taffeta. Her shoulder length veil of imported French nylon was held in place by a lace headpiece trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white snowdrift mums.

Miss Jeanette Hoffman of Arlington Heights, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of pink lace over pink taffeta fashioned with a short net jacket, and she carried a cascade bouquet of aqua baby mums.

Ronald Tossman, brother of the bride, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 62 guests.

The young couple are honeymooning in Michigan and upon their return will make their home in Columbus, Ohio.

Favorites for Flavor

By Lois Seiler

Here is a savory dish you'll find as popular as the song of the same name, "Jambalaya." Skillful harmonization of the ingredients of Jambalaya, which is basically a Creole dish, contribute to the distinction of its subtle flavor.

The recipe for this tasty concoction is shared with us by Mrs. Jarrold T. Shutt of 505 Lonnquist, Mount Prospect. Cooking is one of Mrs. Shutts favorite occupations, and Jambalaya is one of her unique specialities.

This dish combines cubed pork, ham and Vienna sausage, as well as meat stock and rice. It is flavored with bay leaf, parsley and onions, while cloves, chili sauce, red pepper and tabasco contribute to its spicy taste.

"Jambalaya is an excellent dish to serve at a buffet supper or as a late evening snack when entertaining guests," Mrs. Shutt explained. She is a member of the South Church guild and the Sunset Park Community association. The Shutts have two children: Roger, 6 years old, and Randy, 4.

Jambalaya

1 cup uncooked rice
1 pound ham
1 pound pork
¼ pound Vienna sausage
1 bay leaf
1 sprig parsley
2 cloves
3 onions
2 tablespoons lard
2 quarts meat stock or water
¼ teaspoon tabasco
1 tablespoon chili sauce
Dash of red pepper or cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon salt

Cut pork into one-inch squares. Clean and chop the onions fine. Brown the onions and pork in the lard for five minutes. Stir well.

Cut the ham and sausage into cubes and add to the above ingredients. Add the bay leaf, parsley, cloves and salt and cook until the meat is well browned.

Add the hot meat stock or water and cook 10 minutes. (If water is used, boullion cubes may be dissolved in the water for added flavor).

Wash the rice thoroughly and add slowly to the boiling meat mixture. Cook over moderate heat until meat and rice are cooked. Stir carefully to prevent burning.

Just before serving add the red pepper, tabasco and chili sauce. Serve very hot. Serves 6 to 8.

Scharringhausen-Baumgarten Take Vows In Colorado

Miss Dolores May Scharringhausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scharringhausen Jr. of 112 S. Hale st., Palatine, and Cpl. Jerroll Baumgarten, son of Mrs. Hattie Brons of 18 N. Greeley st., Palatine, were married November 1 at 5:30 p. m. at the Immanuel Lutheran church in Colorado Springs, Colo. Rev. Enge officiated.

For her wedding the bride wore a winter white faille dress and a corsage of red roses.

Attending the couple were 1st Lt. and Mrs. Dwain Hart of Colorado Springs, brother-in-law and sister of the groom.

Mrs. Jean Hart wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of red and white carnations.

Following a honeymoon in Colorado, the couple are now making their home on Florence rd. in Palatine.

The groom has just returned after serving 18 months in the Far East, 11 of which were served in Korea with the third division.

District Health Group Holds Music Drive, Takes Hospital Tour

Mrs. David Duncan, seventh district mental and public health chairman, announces that the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs is sponsoring a "music drive" for the inmates at Dunning State hospital, located at Irving Park rd. and Narragansett ave., the week of November 10 through 14.

All types of sheet music, song books, musical instruments, radios, records, pianos, etc., are urgently desired and can be left at either the Wilson Park field house, Wilson at Milwaukee ave. during this time, or, if preferred, can be delivered direct to the Dunning library at any time. All club chairmen are urged, however, to be sure their club name is listed with their goods.

Mrs. H. A. Bertram, state public health chairman, arranged a tour through the occupational therapy department of the Illinois Research hospital November 11 at 1:30 p. m. Preceding the tour at 11 a. m., was a meeting in music lounge. Chicago Illini Union Building, 715 S. Wood st.

Jean Simmons Is Bride Of Albert Mack

In a double ring, candlelight ceremony November 1, Miss Jean Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Simmons of 514 S. Beverley lane, Arlington Heights, became the bride of Albert J. Mack Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Mack of Chicago.

Rev. Milo Vondracek and Rev. Birger Dahl officiated at the ceremony held at the Arlington Heights First Methodist church at 4 p.m. "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Barbara Barger of Cedar Rapids, Ia. She was accompanied by Dick Everette of Arlington Heights at the organ. White chrysanthemums, ferns and candelabra formed the setting for the wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown fashioned with a bodice of chantilly lace with an illusion neckline and long pointed sleeves and a satin skirt trimmed with wide scallops of chantilly lace bordering the train. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a lace bonnet, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Jack Bowles of Arlington Heights was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of gold embroidered net over taffeta and carried a crescent bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Miss Patricia Collins of Kenilworth, Ill., and Miss Nancy Cosgrove of Cedar Rapids, Ia., sorority sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns of emerald green embroidered net and carried crescent bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

David McAlpine of Jackson, Mich., was the best man. Ushers were Jack Bowles, George Scharringhausen and Ernest W. Simmons Jr., brother of the bride, all of Arlington Heights.

A reception for 125 guests was held immediately following the ceremony at Mount Prospect country club. The bridal dinner was held at the Pantry in Park Ridge October 31.

The bride's mother wore an emerald green satin and chantilly lace gown with matching accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. The mother of the groom wore gray taffeta gown with black accessories and a corsage of pinnochio roses.

Following a honeymoon in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the couple will make their home at 15 W. Davis st., Arlington Heights.

Both the bride and groom attended Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Couple Wed Recently At Amboy Church

When Miss Shirley Mae Pfingsten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Pfingsten, Amboy, former residents of Roselle, became the bride of Bruce N. Klausen, Amboy, her gown was of white slipper satin. The James Klausens, Amboy, are the groom's parents.

Baskets of white pompons and candelabra decorated Immanuel Lutheran church, Amboy, for the 2 p. m. ceremony November 1. Rev. Carl Wagner officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown styled with long sleeves pointed at the wrist, a round neckline of nylon tulle and a cathedral length train. Highlighting the dress was an accordion pleated inset of satin on the left side accented with a floral design of seed pearls and bugle beads. This design was repeated on the yoke of the bodice in front and back. Mrs. Walter Nerge, Roselle, made the gown with the bride's mother doing the floral design.

The bride's train length veil of net with embroidered edging was held in place by a tiara of bugle beads. Her bouquet was of loose colonial style centered with a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Betty Balsley, Amboy, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Pohlman, Roselle, and Mrs. Richard Ambrose, Dixon, sister of the groom. They wore gowns of red velvet fashioned with cap sleeves and scalloped necklines. White pompons and red ribbon were in their fan-shaped bouquets.

Anker Klausen, Amboy, served his brother as best man, and ushering were Dick Ambrose, Dixon, the groom's brother-in-law, and Raymond Linnemann, Libertyville, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pfingsten wore a plum colored dress with matching lace jacket. Her accessories were winter white and she wore a white pompon corsage. With her charcoal gray dress, Mrs. Klausen wore navy blue accesories. Her corsage was also of pompons.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Dinner was served at 5:30 p. m. to out-of-town guests and the bridal party.

Following a honeymoon in the Ozarks, the couple will make their home at 222 S. Jefferson ave., Amboy.

A 1946 graduate of Amboy township high school and Burnham's School of Beauty Culture, Chicago, the bride has operated her own beauty shop in Amboy since April of 1948. The groom, who is employed at the Dixon Publishing Co., graduated from Lee Center high school in 1942.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Roselle, Palatine, Libertyville, Wood Dale, Harmon, Dixon, West Brooklyn, Normal, Arlington Heights, Sterlins and Lee Center, Ill., and Delavan, Wis.

Words & Music

by Erica Floyd

The production of the Village Theatre, "George Washington Slept Here," given Friday and Saturday evening at the South school, Arlington Heights, probably seemed very real to many in the two audiences. Especially those who have attempted to remodel an old home only to be confronted with many unforeseen extra costs.

Newton Fuller (Larry Jenness) is the victim who bought an old house without telling his wife Annabelle (Kay Hawley), who finally forgave her husband after she had learned to love country life. In our estimation both portrayed a realistic touch, second only to Mr. Kimber (David Breitsprecher) the caretaker who, in a Will Rogers way, seemed to bring bad news for his employer every time he appeared.

Any person who has consistently served as a baby sitter for a family with an unruly child, will agree that Eloise (Violet Jeffery) the brat niece was a brat every minute that she was on the stage.

What's a play without a suggestion of love? There were two kinds in the plot. Madge (Alice Scheske) the daughter took a flyer with Clayton Evans (Art Caso) another woman's husband, but returned to Steve (Russ Akers) for the finale. Hester (Sally Opela), the maid, did not let her first love experience sadden her life because, as she said, "it is all in the same family anyway," when she married the brother of her first sweetheart.

The writer especially enjoyed the play because he could hear every word that was spoken. Madge could have talked a little slower and the excessive drinking in the last scene did not add to the enjoyment or effectiveness of the production. We doubt if the script called for so many bottles.

We are glad we attended, it was a pleasant evening and the large audience both evenings, a bit more sophisticated than this "three score and ten," loved every minute of it from Uncle Stanley (Joe Crittenden) the rich uncle, who was not rich, to Lena Leslie (Marcelle Wilcox), the actress and Miss Wilcox (Joan Berry) the girl who did not speak, but was quite an eyeful.

Others in the cast, all of whom were excellent, were Alta Hutchinson, Robert Hutchinson, Ginny Bishop, Pat Daley, Pauly Jenness and Pat Sullivan.

No person in the cast merits greater praise than the persons behind the scenes. The properties represented a lot of work on the part of someone as did also the sound effects that came on the instant and were never late. Of course the person who must not be missed is Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, the director.

Perhaps the large audiences encouraged the members of the cast to do their best. It was an unusual experience for the Village Players to have a full house, which leads us to mention members of the PTA, who sold the tickets. Proceeds more than completed in one project the fund raising needs of that organization for the present year.

Barbershop Concert

A large audience enthusiastically applauded Arlington Heights chapter of the SPEBSQSA when this society presented the "Night of Harmony," its second annual affair, at the local high school auditorium Sunday evening.

The chorus, directed by Joe Bryson, convinced listeners that its enthusiasm and musical skill were not confined to Monday evening practice sessions, but were pleasing to any group who might have the opportunity to listen in to the old-fashioned songs in quartet arrangements.

George Glow, master of ceremonies, contributed to the humor of the evening by keeping the audience in suspense concerning each number. He introduced a local quartet as having just arrived from Tennessee. Appearing barefooted and forlorn, they sang "Precious Jewel." Their identity was revealed later in the program.

The "Bellow Fellows" and "The Four Hoarsemen" were local society quartets who added to the spirit of the evening.

Imported groups, the "Northwesternaires" from the Fox River Valley chapter and the Illinois state champions, "The Chicagoans," maintained the high standard of the evening's entertainment. This latter group showed much style and a beautiful blend of voices.

Jerry Duro, local tenor, and Bert Hillner from Winnetka were featured soloists.

A serious note was injected in the program as the "Cathedral Chords" sang a sacred quartet number and as the entire group closed the evening with a stirring rendition of Fred Waring's arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Richard Lull and Richard Everett were accompanists for this number.

Delta Zeta Alumnae Plan Card Party

Delta Zeta alumnae of the north suburban area will meet for a card party November 18 at the home of Mrs. Douglas Gibbs, Evanston.

Dessert will be served at 8 p. m., after which there will be a choice of either bridge or canasta.

Hostesses who will assist Mrs. Gibbs are: Mrs. Carl O. Schram, Glenview; Miss Dorothy Mohr, Evanston; Mrs. Elmer C. Ilker, Wilmette, and Mrs. A. G. Lloyd, Skokie.

Notice of intent to attend, either phoned or mailed to one of the hostesses, will be appreciated. (B4

Presenting The Younger Generation

Best of Pals

The pretty blonde and blue-eyed sister, first in today's representation of the younger set, are Betty Anne and Donna Lee Dunderdale, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Dunderdale of 218 Windsor dr., Arlington Hts. Betty Ann is 3 years old and Donna Lee is 2 years old. Being so close in age they enjoy playing together and make the best of pals. With four more brothers and sister these little girls are never in need of playmates. Peter, 11, the oldest child, is in 7th grade at St. James school. Mary Lou, 8, is a fourth grader. Paul, 6, just entered the first grade, and Michael, 5, attends kindergarten at the North school

Grandparents of the children aer Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunderdale of Waterbury, Conn., and Anthony A. Victor of West New York, N J.

Baby Linda

Pictured next is a tiny cherub, Linda Baumbach. She is the blonde and blue-eyed 7 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Baumbach of 442 N. Easy st., Palatine.

"Linda loves to coo all day," laughed Mrs. Baumbach, "and now she sits up alone and creeps quite a bit." This little lady's greatest fans are her two big brothers next in line.

Buddies

Craig, 4, and Rodney, 5, both blond and blue-eyed children, are just the best of buddies. When Rodney is attending kindergarten at the Lutheran school in Palatine, you might find Craig playing cowboys or entertaining himself by drawing horses. "The boys are both athletic and love to be out-of-doors when possible," stated their mother. Drawing trains is Rodney's specialty and watching their pet turtles is a mutual activity. "They have special turtle dishes for their pets and make sure that Mommy feeds them daily," explained Mrs. Baumbach.

Grandparents of the children are Mrs. Minnie Rose of Downers Grove and Mrs. Clara Baumbach of Dent, Minn.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

We cannot look to human sense testimony for the evidence of spirituality. Sin and selfishness must be put off in order that the spiritual man may appear. This will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 16. The title of the Lesson-Sermon will be MORTALS AND IMMORTALS.

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (15:53) "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

Bible selections (King James Version) in the Lesson-Sermon include:

"And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life? And Jesus said unto him . . . Thou knowest the commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Defraud not, Honour thy father and mother" (Mark 10:17-19).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Progress is born of experience. It is the ripening of mortal man, through which the mortal is dropped for the immortal. Either here or hereafter, suffering or Science must destroy all illusions regarding life and mind, and regenerate material sense and self . . . The way through which immortality and life are learned is not ecclesiastical but Christian, not human but divine, not physical, but metaphysical, not material but scientifically spiritual" (pp. 296, 98).

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

In the old days, the young men packed their families into the covered wagons and headed westward where a man could have room to breathe. They went from the East to the West, taking plow and oxen and seed.

For every one that picked up and moved to the West, two or more came off the ships at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans. A generation later, these newer ones went farther West, to the new cities of the West.

The children of the pioneers came back to the cities. From 1900 to 1950, while the population of the country was doubled, the population of the cities was tripled.

IN EVERY CENSUS year, the proportion of people in the cities grew larger and larger. This occurred not only in the large cities, but in all kinds of cities. In 1900, there were only 800 odd communities of more than 5,000 people; 50 years later, there were more than 2,400.

From 1940 to 1950, there were only three states in which less than 80% of the cities increased in population. These were New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Yet in this past decade, there was a reversal of figures for the first time. The city population shrunk slightly in proportion to the total population. This did not indicate an increase in farming people; the rural non-farm population took an unprecedented jump.

The census investigators tell us that when we add together the farm population, the self-employed, and the salaried managerial group, slightly more than 70% of the American people are in the wage-earning bracket.

The work of churches has been greatly affected by this population change. The economic changes which have taken place in the past two decades or so has been greater than the churches have prepared themselves to meet.

CHURCH WORK in cities was once organized on a strictly class level, sociologically speaking. We Americans do not like class distinctions yet they are informally present. In earlier years, city work could have been said to be worship for the more financially able, and social service for the less financially able.

The distinction is too sharply drawn, but it was there. While churches still engage in social service in congested areas, there has been a subtle change. The need of the slums is not so much in terms of food baskets and old clothing as it is in terms of spiritual understanding of the meaning of the person in society, in terms of cooperation for good neighborhoods, or adequate education.

Suburban churches have been most peculiarly affected by these population changes. Suburban society is a new aspect of American culture. There are no precedents, no traditional patterns specifically developed for these groups. Every church in this situation—as most of us are—is in process of working out its own salvation with fear and trembling.

There is not time at the moment to point to much of this developing work. The effort this week has been to indicate that the strategy of the church, wherever it may be, must be related to prosaic statistical matters like census figures. The eternal Gospel of our Lord is to be served by His people, but the local practices of His people must recognize a variety of elements in the culture in which they dwell.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

MAKE THE MOST OF CAKE MIXES

by the General Electric Consumers Institute

With all the wonderful new packaged cake mixes on the market, it's a rare homemaker who goes to the trouble of whipping up her own cake batter any more.

And you really can get delicious results with a packaged mix, says the General Electric Consumers Institute if you follow the mix manufacturer's instructions carefully—especially where mixing time is concerned!

Many failures with cake mixes are caused by undermixing. And that's easy to understand—with all prepared mixes requiring at least 4-5 minutes of concentrated beating for success. Even timing the strokes in hand-mixing is not fool-proof, but with an electric mixer, you can mix at the same speed to the same consistency every time—with no damage to your good right arm in the process.

Following directions is especially important with packaged mixes because each brand differs in its recommendations on mixing time, oven temperature and pan size. Read the instructions on every box before you begin.

Use Mixer at Low Speed

When you use an electric mixer with a packaged cake mix, use the mixer at a low speed for best results.

And here are two suggestions for using "package mix" cakes as the basis for easy-to-make desserts:

Shortcake

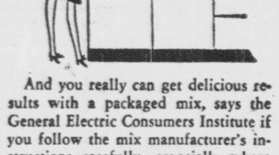
Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

Use a plain cake mix. Prepare cake, with the help of an electric mixer, as directed on the cake mix package. After baking, split layers and use as basis for peach or strawberry shortcake.

Upside-down Cake

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

Melt ⅓ cup butter in a 9 x 9 x 2-inch square pan. Sprinkle ½ cup brown sugar evenly over butter. Arrange drained cooked fruit (pineapple, apricots, peaches, prunes or cranberries) in an interesting design in sugar mixture. Mix one package of any plain cake mix, using your electric mixer at a low speed. Pour batter carefully over fruit, and bake according to cake mix package directions for square or loaf cake. Invert immediately on serving plate, allow to cool slightly, remove pan. Serve warm.



One of the best ways to be sure you're getting important pictures indoors or out, day or night, is to use flash.

Many cameras are now available with a flash attachment which works automatically with the camera shutter. All the photographer needs to do is frame his picture in the view finder and push the button.

It's a simple but effective method for an adult who's interested in photography as a hobby, or as a mere educational amusement for grade school youngsters.

ONE REASON it works so well is that the photoflash lamp is literally "bottled" sunshine which automatically gives plenty of light for picture taking at reasonable distances without any particular thought on the part of the user.

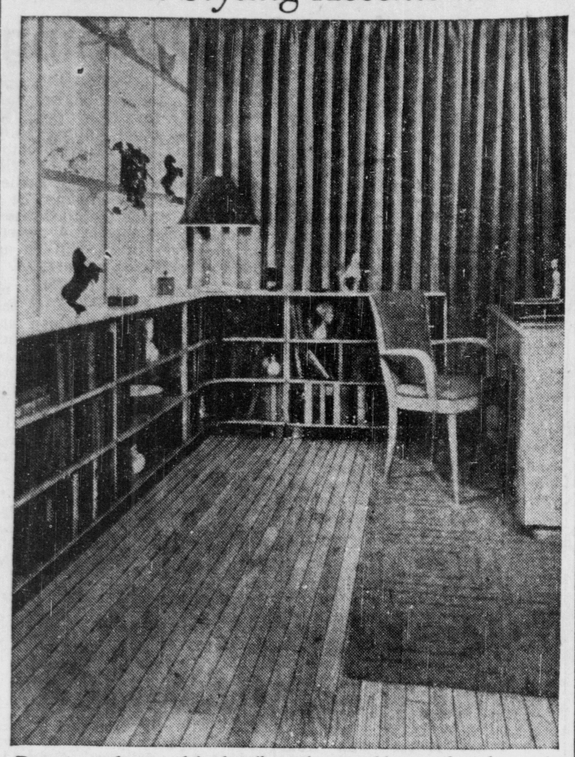
However, even with this foolproof way of taking pictures, a few simple rules must be observed. Poor pictures fall in two main classifications: blurred or fuzzy results and dark (underexposed) results.

Fuzziness in pictures made with simple flash cameras occurs because the camera is jarred at the very moment of exposure. When taking pictures with any camera, hold it rock steady. Press the exposure button slowly and smoothly, rather than jabbing it. Put the camera on a solid support, such as a table or even a tripod for the very best results.

FUZZINESS ALSO occurs when the camera is too close to the subject. In an effort to get a big image on the film, people often bring a simple box or folding camera within three or four feet of their subject. Most simple cameras without a focusing adjustment should be used no closer than six and if possible, eight feet from the subject. Enlarge small pictures to desired size. Portraits should be taken at distances of around three feet. A simple slip-on portrait lens should be used for portraits. Naturally, if the camera can be focused, the focus setting should always be adjusted for the proper distance.

EMPHASIS ON FLOOR BEAUTY

Modern Styling Accents Wood



Decorators today are relying heavily on the natural beauty of wood to create that friendly atmosphere which makes a house a home. This approach is illustrated in the modern study shown above. Designed by Elizabeth Whitney, noted home styling specialist, the room places special emphasis on the beautifully grained oak floor. Desk, chair and bookshelves are of light birch; as are the vertical and horizontal members forming the shadow box effect across the frosted glass window. Both the birch and the oak floor blend perfectly with any color plan. Here chartreuse is employed for the attractively patterned rug, while mint green is used for the draw draperies. Malibu coral, selected as an accent color, is found in the chair covering as well as in the various decorative objects on the bookshelves.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Almost lost sight of in the bloodless revolution of November 4, the fate of the four proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution won't be finally known until the canvass of the vote has been completed.

It appears certain, however, that the proposed amendment to the revenue article of the Illinois constitution failed to receive the necessary two-thirds of the votes cast on the proposition. In Cook county, the amendment just barely carried. It appears that, when all downstate votes are counted, the amendment will be over 150,000 votes short of passage.

The proposed amendment to permit sheriffs and county treasurers to succeed themselves now appears to be a loser also.

However, the proposed amendment to remove the unrealistic constitutional limitation on salaries of certain county officers looks like a probable winner.

The banking amendment, eliminating double liability for stockholders in state banks, looks like a certain winner.

THESE RESULTS are important and significant. It has been demonstrated that the Illinois Constitution can be amended, which is as it should be. It has also been demonstrated that the Illinois constitution cannot be easily amended, which is also as it should be. This should put an end to the agitation for a constitutional convention. First, it isn't necessary because it has been proved that the constitution can now be amended.

Second, it has been proved the people don't want a sweeping revision of the constitution since they turned down the proposed amendment to the revenue article despite over-whelming organization support for it and despite the bait of removal of the sales tax on food and the personal property tax on household furnishings. Third, a proposal for a constitutional convention would not have a chance since it would have to receive a majority of all votes cast at a November general election in the face of all-out opposition from organizations such as the taxpayers' federation of Illinois.

The revolution of November 4 also indicated the taxpayer may soon lose his distinction as the forgotten man. President-elect Eisenhower has promised a multi-billion dollar reduction in federal spending and federal taxes, and the taxpayers' federation of Illinois through the conference of state taxpayer organizations will certainly cooperate to the hilt in helping him accomplish that objective. Governor-elect Stratton has pledged no new and no increased taxes, which means there will have to be curtailment in state spending. The Taxpayers' Federation has pledged its help to him.

Orville E. Hodge, who hitched his wagon to the taxpayers' star by successfully sponsoring the tax rate limitation laws in 1947, 1949 and 1951, was elected state auditor by one of the largest pluralities, which indicates the taxpayers' star is not a bad place to hitch a wagon. Senator Charles Carpentier, another proved fighter for the taxpayers, is in a photo finish with Edward J. Barrett for secretary of state. With a few exceptions, friends of the taxpayers were re-elected to the federal congress and Illinois general assembly.

At the same time the people of Illinois are losing an important friend in public office. It is the unanimous opinion of the staff of the taxpayers' federation of Illinois, based on the fact-finding checks made over the past four years plus observation of and participation in administrative improvements by various departments under his control, that Governor Adlai E. Stevenson has given the people of Illinois one of the cleanest and best administrations in the history of our State.

Birthdays

Happy birthday to Hank and Bill Freise and Dorothy Oehlerking, who celebrated Monday, Ed Freise, Wednesday; Alice Jones, daughter of Loren Jones has an eleventh birthday Friday; Philip Mueller has a birthday Sunday, Velma Sunderlage Monday, Mrs. J. Rozak and Gordon Sunderlage, Tuesday.

Don't keep your telephone in the dark when it's so easy to provide it with its own special light.

A tiny new phone light that requires no separate wiring because it operates on small penlite batteries, is now available.

Completely automatic, the light snaps on immediately when the receiver is lifted and off when it is replaced. A tiny 2.2 miniature bulb with a built-in lens about half the size of a small pea directs light on the dial.

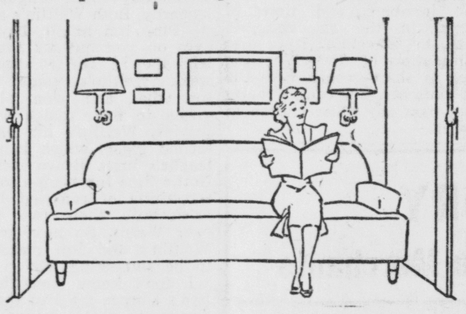
To install the light, simply slip the sturdy, black plastic holder onto the telephone as shown in the drawing above.

General Electric home lighting specialists point out that you will, of course, want other light at your telephone especially when looking up numbers. The automatic phone light is however, a convenient additional light for night-time use.

Wall Lamps Save Space In Small Rooms



Davenports located between doorways, passages or windows often present a problem when it comes to choosing lamps.

General Electric lighting specialists recommend that a pair of wall lamps, carefully selected and placed to give maximum light be used.

Choose lamps with at least an eight-inch diffusing bowl and a shade with a bottom diameter of 13 inches. Bulbs in lamps with diffusing bowls should be 50-100-150-watt three-lite or 150-watt inside frosted. Another good choice is one of the lamps with a 150-watt white indirect lite bulb that requires no diffusing bowl because of its special shape and finish.

Hang the lamp so that the lower edge of the shade is 48 inches above the floor. Place your chair so that the center of your book is 26 inches out from lamp socket and 15 inches to the right or left.

Forest View School

Plan Dance

A night of dancing is scheduled for Saturday, December 6, at the field house in Arlington Heights. A square dance party is being planned by the Forest View school Mother's club. It will be an informal party, complete with music and calling provided by Jim Geronsek, Des Plaines.

There will be refreshments and an opportunity for an evening of fun for all. Tickets are being sold by members of the group, and proceeds will aid in carrying on special projects for the benefit of the school on S. State rd. Anyone desiring tickets may call CL 3-5219, CL 3-6419, or obtain them at the door.

Board Meeting

The board of directors of the Forest View school have voted to hold their monthly meetings on the third Monday of each month. The next meeting will be held November 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Badnes of LaPas, Manitoba, Canada, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pratchen and Mrs. Pratchen's brother, Stephen Basaraba, of Elk Grove rd.

Henry Tagge returned recently from a three week vacation in California. While there he visited his son and family.

Ernesto Rodriquez has transferred from our school and will be in Texas for the winter mos.

Given Tests

Miss Lucy Driscoll, assistant county superintendent, spent a full day at our school recently administering tests to the children.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Keller and family were Tuesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan and family of Elk Grove rd.

HUMILITY

I believe the first test of a truly great man is his humility.

MRS. JOS. REMSING — Ph. VAnderbilt 4-8853

Forest River

Your 1953 license applications are now ready, and you can obtain one at the home of Mrs. Remsing together with the notary public stamp. Those who want a certain number and those who buy their car a Christmas gift of a new license had better get busy and order now.

Dates of affairs coming up this week end are the PTA box social Saturday at the club house and the auxiliary annual games party Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the club house. Everyone is invited to both affairs. Both are worthy of your support and would appreciate donations.

The auxiliary members are reminded that in order to have a place at the Christmas dinner at Behm's restaurant in Wheeling they must send the return-card to the chairman, Gale Suhren, no later than November 24. The usual grab bag, secret pal gifts and the games party will be a part of the program.

The children of Feehanville school had a two-day holiday this week. On Monday was a teachers' area meeting and Tuesday was Armistice day. They will have another two-day holiday over Thanksgiving.

Forest River was well represented November 3 at St. Pat's annual skating outing. Practically all teen-agers from the area were there. Mrs. G. Seilheimer was a chaperone.

The Seilheimers had a surprise earlier this week when their daughter, Lorraine, and her two children dropped in on them for a visit. Lorraine and her husband have been making their home in Texas this last year. This was also the first time grandpa and grandma Seilheimer saw their new granddaughter.

Word was received that the Meredith family are well on their way to California. They passed through Texas over last week end. They are taking the long way to their destination as well as having a sight-seeing trip.

New residents have taken over the former Meredith home, the Webers from Des Plaines and their two children are the new people.

Mrs. Badalamenti was given a nice boost in her efforts of sponsoring the Forest River children's Christmas party by receiving a donation from the Pinochle club. The men of this Pinochle club meet every Saturday night at the club house, and when plans were started for the Christmas party a suggestion was made to make a "kitty" for the benefit of this affair. The proceeds were over $10, so it was presented to Mrs. Badalamenti last Sunday morning by Mr. Alexander. It is hoped that more will be added to the "kitty" before the night of the party. A games party is also being planned to raise more funds. This event to be held December 3 at the club house at 8:30 p.m. Donations of gifts and cakes would be greatly appreciated by Mrs. Badalamenti and her committee. The number to call for more information is VAnderbilt 4-2291.

Feehanville School

School Dance

Don't forget the date—Saturday, November 15, at 8:30 p. m. Forest River Community club. Yes, the box lunch and barn dance is this Saturday. The box lunch starts at 8:30 p. m. and the dance at 9:30 p. m. There will be a prize for the best decorated box. Bidding will be limited to $3 per box. The winner of the popularity contest will be awarded an orchid corsage.

From reports circulating around there will be plenty of hay-seeds and some black faces, so if you have any "country clothes" you will be in style.

Ricky Haverkamps, who was taken to the hospital two weeks ago with polio is progressing nicely, and seems to be out of the danger stage.

Sympathy

The mother of one of our PTA members and grandmother of one of our students passed away this week. She is the mother of Mrs. Clark White. Our sincere sympathy is with the Clark White family.

Our PTA president, Mrs. Harold Broberg, and daughter, are home and doing well. The residents of the district are being given a chance to buy the old fashioned desks which were taken out of the class rooms this year. They make nice play desks for the children or may be used as telephone desks. Any one wishing any of these desks at $1.25 please contact this reporter by card or let me know at the dance Saturday evening.

Book Fair

The attractive posters seen about town in connection with the Book Fair to be held at the Wilson school November 14, were made by Mrs. Daley, Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Steiger. The hours for the fair will be from 11 a. m. until 9 p. m. Parents' night will be observed in the evening, and the parents may confer with the teachers from 7 until 9.

The school board has made arrangements to have Miss Lerner, a speech teacher, come to the Wilson school one half day a week to help those children needing speech correction.

Attend Court

The patrol boys are planning to attend traffic court in Arlington Heights next November 17. The boy scout troop has also been invited to attend.

A group of boy scouts went on a five mile hike to Deer Grove last Monday, but were unable to do campfire cooking due to the dry season.

The fourth through eighth grade students took a trip to the Adler Planetarium and Shedd Aquarium last Friday with their teachers, Mrs. Kincaid and Mr. Parsons.

Activities About Wheeling

MRS. HAROLD UTPADEL — Phone Wheeling 37

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt moved recently from Twin Lakes to Camdenton, Mo. The Schmidts are former residents of Wheeling.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sicks attended a benefit dance for the Elmhurst hospital at the Medinah Country club, Itasca, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruse, formerly of Wheeling, now living in Wheaton. Sunday Rev. William McGill and John Sicks attended a concert of the Danish National Symphony Orchestra at Orchestra Hall, which they enjoyed tremendously.

Sunday, November 16, the second of the series of community concerts will be held at Arlington Heights high school, for the information of those who bought season tickets.

New Baby

October 27, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kruse became the parents of a daughter, Judith Ann, weighing seven pounds. She was at the Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Koeppen Sr., and Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kruse of Phelps, Wis.

Wednesday night Mrs. Winnie Bos entered Condell Memorial hospital where she underwent surgery Thursday morning. She expects to be there for at least ten days.

Have Son

Harvey and Janice Bornhoff are proud parents of a son born November 4. Sister, Georgia Ann, is anxiously waiting to meet her little brother, William John. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Bornhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hoberg.

Twenty-eight guests came to help celebrate the third birthday of Barbara Lemke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lemke, October 29.

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. Robert Utpadel and Mrs. Frank Utpadel visited Mrs. Herbert Barrett of Libertyville.

Vacations

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and their son returned last week from two weeks' trip to California. They stopped along the way to visit friends.

Arthur Miller left Saturday for Biloxi, Miss., where he plans to spend ten days fishing and relaxing.

The Harold Utpadels returned Friday from a two weeks vacation, seven days of which were spent swimming and basking in the sun at Clearwater Beach. While there they were entertained at a buffet supper given by Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Johannes, formerly of Oak Park, relatives of Mrs. Utpadel, who now have an orange grove at Palm Harbor. Among others at the supper was Dr. Edward Johannes, who was born in Arlington Hts.

In Hospital

Mary Gloden underwent surgery at the Highland Park hospital last Monday morning. She is getting along very nicely and expects to be back home shortly, minus an appendix and feeling much better.

Bobby Scott has his arm back in a sling again, with a broken collar bone, the result of a tussle in school. It was the same collar bone broken when he fell recently at the wrestling matches given by the Wheeling Lions club.

The ladies' pinochle club played at the home of Mrs. Hannah Evert last Thursday. Prize winners were Marie Schultz, first, Gladys Fritze, second and Mable Schmidt, consolation.

Daughter Born

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drinkwater became the parents of a girl, Joan Carole, born November 6, at Condell Memorial hospital, weighing eight pounds, nine ounces. The Drinkwaters now have two boys and two girls.

Nancy Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cartwright celebrated her sixth birthday with a party for nine of her playmates November 10. Those present were Cathy Carpenter, Phil Boswell, Michael Grady, Betty Cele Harris, Deedy Serbins, Roy Schuetts, and Chucky, Cindy and Cissy Elterman. The children had such a good time they didn't want to go home until they were promised another party at Christmas.

New Baby

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin (Sike) Horcher became the parents of another girl, Theresa Marie, November 6, born at St. Francis hospital, Evanston, weighing five pounds five ounces. Grandparents are Mrs. Lorena Horcher and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dreiling, Penokee, Kansas. Mrs. Horcher returned home Wednesday from the hospital to a new home at 709 Foundry rd., Prospect Meadows.

PTA To Sponsor Book Fair, Pancake Supper

Plans are now in the making for a pancake supper and book fair to be held December 3 by the Wheeling school PTA.

This is the first time a book fair will be held in Wheeling. It will be held all day and the children will be released from classes for short periods to make their selections. The books will be priced from $1 up and will be reading for leisure. However, there will also be a full display of reference books, such as dictionaries, nature books, almanacs, atlasses and orders will be taken for encyclopedias. The books will be sold at exactly the same prices as would be charged at any book store or department store.

IT IS SUGGESTED that anyone planning on giving books for Christmas gifts give a list of the books to any member of the PTA and they will be ordered and may be picked up at the fair. However, if preferred, the books may also be ordered at the fair and will be delivered before Christmas.

The pancake supper will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. and tickets will be 75c for adults and 35c for children. The menu will be pancakes, pork sausages, spiced apple sauce, coffee and dessert. The book fair will be open during the time of the supper, to give parents and children an opportunity to browse around and make their selections. Tickets will be available the end of this week.

The third bake sale, which was given by the second grade mothers resulted in a profit of $54, making a total of $190 from the three bake sales held to date. The next bake sale will be held at Scotty's Appliance Store November 29.

NEWCOMERS AT HOME

Two newcomers to Wheeling were welcomed by the Ladies of the Lions club recently in connection with its welcoming program.

Fred I. Adams

Fred I. Adams, a navy lieutenant and his wife moved to Milwaukee ave., Wheeling, from Summit, Miss., September 15, with their three-year-old daughter, Debea Anne. They find the people living in Wheeling very friendly. Their hobby is golfing.

Myron D. Morehous

The Myron D. Morehous family moved here from Shreveport, La., with Mrs. L. N. Gourt, Mrs. Morehous' mother, who comes from Texarkana, Tex., in September and are living in the house on Mors ave. owned by Ted Pieper. They have one child, Lynn, age 8, who is attending Wheeling school, which he and his parents say they like very much.

Mr. Morehous is employed by Procon, Inc., Des Plaines, as a construction engineer. His hobbies are making furniture and photography and Mrs. Morehous makes sewing her hobby and special interest. Mrs. Gourt is interested in textile painting.

They are connected with the Presbyterian church; Lynn is a cub scout and Mr. Morehous belongs to a chapter of the Elks in Texas and ASCE.

Mr. Morehous is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Mrs. Morehous of Northwestern State college at Louisiana.

New Baby Honored At Stork Shower

Mrs. William Staderman and Mrs. Vernon Schuler, Wheeling, were hostesses at a baby shower given November 5 at Mrs. Staderman's home for Mrs. Kenneth Fish, whose son, Wayne Phillip, was born September 21.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Fish and Mrs. Sheldon Boswell. Refreshments were served at a table beautifully decorated in blue and white.

Other guests were Mrs. Joseph Asien, the baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Carl Bard, Mrs. Robert Scott, Mrs. Keith Cary and Mrs. George Meier.

Horatio Gardens

Mrs. Minna Joffe and Mrs. Zell Fiorino were hostesses to the monthly meeting of the Moosehaven committee of chapter No. 792 of Waukegan Tuesday evening at the Joffe home.

Mrs. Charles Kryski is in California. She left last week and will visit relatives and friends there for a few weeks.

The local men's Improvement association hired a grader to come in for one day last week to make road repairs. Everyone seems pleased with the results. If local residents will drive slower and help pack the loose gravel rather than scatter it, it will help.

The George Schuetzs were in Long Lake Sunday having dinner with their friends, the Charles Courtneys.

Monday Night Lutheran Ladies' Bowling League

Monday night was a sweeper, for Schimming Oil girls when they took three games from Behm's girls and Bornhoff Dairy girls swept the floor with Clark Service girls for three games so that nobody really gained and all teams held their same places. It should be a quite exciting night next week when top team meets low team.

Standings	W	L	Av.
Schimming Oil	18½	8½	562
Bornhoff Dairy	15½	11½	567
Clark Service	9	18	560

High Games: Alice Bornhoff 190, H. Heppner 165.

High Series: Alice Bornhoff 450, H. Heppner 448, Edna Lemke 448.

Party A Success

The hard times party given November 1 by the Ladies of the Lions was successful, with everyone who attended having a good time.

Election of officers will be held at the next regular meeting of the group.

'Holiday Market' Gets Finishing Touches For November 22 Opening

The November meeting of the Westminster Guild of Wheeling Presbyterian church will be held November 18, one week earlier than originally scheduled, in order to have one more meeting before the annual Christmas bazaar or "Holiday Market," which is to be given November 22.

This meeting, which will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. William Karry, at 8:15 p.m., will be a final planning session for the bazaar. Members are asked to save the evening of November 21 for decorating the booths. Mrs. Karry and Miss Betsy Dickhoff are co-chairmen of the decorating committee.

THOSE MEMBERS who have not brought items for the grab bag are reminded to bring them to the meeting. Mrs. William Staderman will give a book review, and members may finish up the last bits of sewing and knitting, as they listen to the book review.

Mrs. Lynn Hall was hostess at a bazaar workshop last Friday night at her home. A real assembly line technique was applied to the business of making clowns. First the group stuffed the bodies, then one person cut out noses, another sewed on arms, and a number of adorable clown dolls were turned out. Light refreshments were served. Those present were Mrs. Ernest Stavros, Mrs. Charles Balling, Mrs. Robert Scott, Mrs. William Mykytuik, Mrs. Marilyn Kelm and Mrs. Keith Cary.

The toy booth will feature, besides the clowns, several other types of dolls, doll clothes, stuffed animals and other toys. Among the new ideas in the clever assortment in the arts and crafts booth will be hand decorated lazy susans, trinket boxes, and dressing table mirrors. One of last year's most popular items, hand painted wooden plates, will again be featured.

THE BABY AND children's booth will be increased in scope this year to include blouses and whirl skirts for little girls, as well as the usual knitted baby sets, mittens, overalls and bathrobes. The bakery booth will again be handled by the Ladies Aid society. There will also be a variety of aprons, pillowcases, potholders and towels. A sweets and preserves booth will be an added attraction this year.

A barbecue supper will be served continuously during the hours of the bazaar, which are from 4 to 8 o'clock p.m. Another convenience for shoppers will be nursery care for the little tots. The large activity room in the Wheeling school basement will be the scene of the bazaar since the church does not have a large enough room for so comprehensive an assortment of items.

Proceeds are turned over to the Community Presbyterian church and to the Westminster Guild's benevolence projects, which include Christopher House in Chicago.

Guest Pastor To Speak At Wheeling Church

Rev. William J. Dubourdieu will be guest preached at the 10:30 a.m. service of Community Presbyterian church, Wheeling. Dr. Dubourdieu will preach on the outreach of the church into the community.

In his position as director of the church unit of the Presbyterian church extension board in Chicago, Dr. Dubourdieu has been in a close relationship to the organization of 24 Presbyterian churches in the past 12 years. Some of these churches have been located in communities which did not exist when he came to the extension board only a few years earlier.

SEVERAL OF the churches have been independent non-denominational, which have found the going difficult without the assistance and stability of a denominational relation.

Dr. Dubourdieu is a graduate of Hamilton college, McCormick Theological seminary, and received a Ph. D. degree from Northwestern in social research. He has been closely related to church surveys and census taking.

His sermon, and a seminar following the service will be related to the church membership census, which the Community Presbyterian church will conduct Sunday afternoon.

About 30 men of the church will cover the village and an area around it. The census is the second step in a program to improve the efficiency and service of the evangelical and educational program of the Community church.

THE FIRST STEP has been taken in the careful registration of church school pupils. The steps which will follow will include building a closer tie between church and homes of the church school. Other steps of encouragement for church relationships will be taken when results are obtained from the census.

The Community church has prepared a pamphlet regarding the census, which suggests that the church hopes that each family will relate itself to a church if it has not done so. The pamphlet includes the names, locations, pastors' names and telephone numbers, and times of worship, in the six churches nearest to Wheeling. It is also the intention of the Wheeling church to share results with the other churches. The census routes do not pass any other church in the area.

Scouts Hold Court Of Honor, Present Awards

A court honor was held Monday night by Wheeling's boy scout troop 18 of the Boy Scouts of America.

The ceremony began with the presentation of colors, the order for which was given by Wayne Brumm, to senior patrol David Bowers, who in turn had the color bearers bring the colors forward to the stage, with Wayne Brumm leading in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Jack Norris, assistant scoutmaster, was introduced as master of ceremonies, and announced the candidates to be invested in the candlelight ceremony, who were brought forward by the guard, Dennis Striegel. The candidates were Ted Mianowski, Edward Bellmore, Wayne Myk, Paul Clark and Wayne Serbin, who received the tenderfoot rank, after giving the scout oath and law. Their mothers were then escorted to the stage and presented with miniatures of the rank their sons received.

SCOUTMASTER Ralph Schultz, Jack Norris, John F. Murray and Lenard Gieske presented merit badges as follows: Donald Brumm, swimming; David Bower, personal health, public health, first aid, cycling, cooking and physical development; James Clark, swimming; John Freeman Jr., swimming; William Grove, first aid and cooking; John Murray, swimming; William Murray, swimming and rowing; Walter Myers Jr., first aid, cooking, personal health and public health; Dennis Striegel, swimming, cooking and cycling.

John F. Murray, Walter Myers Sr., and Ralph Schultz presented first class ranks to David Bower, James Clark, James Hoffman, William Murray, John Murray, Dennis Striegel, and Richard Wenghofer.

Star scout ranks were presented by district commissioner Sherman Dautel to John Freeman Jr. and Walter Myers Jr., who gave a brief talk on scouting and advancement and troop operations of troop 18, in which he stated it was one of the few units operating almost 90% full scouting program.

The ceremonies closed with the scoutmaster's vespers.

An announcement was made of a week end camp to be held at Camp Baden Powell November 21, 22 and 23.

EIGHTEEN parents were present making a representation of one parent from each family per scout. Twenty-five scouts were present out of the total membership of 28 active members.

Committee members present were Walter Myers Sr., committee chairman; John F. Murray, advancement chairman; John Brumm, transportation chairman; Lenard Gieske, institutional representative; and Rev. William O. McGill, troop chaplain.

Refreshments were served by Mae Clark, scout mother, with the assistance of other scout mothers.

Wheeling Bowling News

by ED WELFLIN

Well, the difference separating the first and last teams of the Tuesday night men's league is now only a mere two games. The Chamber still holds first place position in spite of their two game loss administered by the Lions. The Amvets meanwhile scurried from third to second place at the Firemen's expense. At the close of next week any one of the league's four teams could be in first place. The Lions meet the Amvets and the Chamber meet the Firemen. Who shall it be?

Talking about league races getting closer let's look at the ladies Wednesday night league. With their three victories over the Wheeling Coal and Lumber five, the Bungalow Drive Inn team really chopped down the lead of the league leaders. The last place Northbrook auxiliary quintet, meanwhile, did some chopping of their own with two victories over second place Riviera. That's the way Northbrook girls, just keep chopping away, you have a lot of chopping to do but a long winter lies ahead.

Watch out Ward Bros., don't look now but your lead in the Wednesday night league is in jeopardy. Both Welflin's and Nottie Pine Inn might have their eyes on you but it's the league lead they're really after. Last week Welflin's came to life, somewhat, and won all three games in their match with McIntyres. Welflin's hit 925 their second game, which is now the league's high. Bravo men! The Nottie Pine Inn team also showed something of renewed life last week with their two victories over Wards. So next week the Welflin's and Inn match ought to be something, eh?

I don't know how long the Red's Garage team of the Thursday night men's league will be able to hold that league lead, but it seems as if they're doing all right at present. Last week Red's won two out of three from Bill's Place, thus Foote's two game victory over Borchardt's had no effect whatsoever on Red's two game lead. This week Red's will meet none other than Footes, so!

Gosh, it happened! Behm's was the team I picked to do it and last week they did. What I'm talking about is Behm's tremendous two game victory over Carmi's Tavern, in the Friday Scratch league. This was the first time this season that Carmi's lost a match. Losing to Behm's, however, isn't altogether strange to them. To date Behm's have been responsible for five of Carmi's seven losses. In Carmi's 2645 series total we see Lou Medici's 216, 233, 181—620 and C. Castellari's 168, 219, 202—589. Behm's totaled 2,579.

In the other league contest, the Zeman Beer five won three games from McIntyres with a low 2306 series. McIntyres hit 2277. Oh boy!

To Present 'Pinocchio' November 29

On November 29, at 10 a.m., Northbrook's Hobble-de-Hoy Theatre will present "Pinocchio," the mischievous wooden puppet whose nose grows longer with each lie he tells, who will relive his hilarious adventures at the Waukegan Road gym.

This favorite children's classic will be performed by the Reed marionettes who have worked for more than a year to bring this single production to the stage. This time has been spent carving puppets and building scenery and effects so that none of the original puppet's deeds would have to be cut down or left out.

The following programs will be presented in the Greenbriar school's handsome, newly-completed auditorium: January 10, 10 a.m., Story Book theatre presents, "Tales in Dance Form," February 28 at 10 a.m. Little Theatre Company presents "Aladdin," March 28, Garrick players present "Cinderella;" April 25, Bertelle's Bird Circus and Canine Capers will be presented.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Joseph V. Schilling and Mrs. Paul Hylbert will offer these tickets for sale at $2 for all performances. The Hobble-de-Hoy theatre programs are offered the children of Northbrook community to broaden their horizons and teach appreciation of cultural projects. It is a non-profit offering.

Hanover Unit District Expects To Dissolve

Unit School district 250, the organization of which was heralded a few years ago as a step forward in rural education may soon pass entirely out of the picture.

Schumburg township and the village of Bartlett withdrew from the original district some time ago. The board will receive legal advice next week as to the best method to be followed in the forming of an elementary consolidated school district.

Following the formation of that district petitions must be filed for annexation to some high school district. Barrington appears to be the favorite.

Schaumburg has plans nearly ready for a four room school to be erected on Schaumburg road, east of Roselle road. The cost for the site and building is not expected to be over $150,000.

Woman's Club Card Party Tuesday

Time Slips By

While the beautiful Indian Summer weather keeps on (knock wood), time is slipping by, and as one merchant reminds us there are only 35 shopping days to Christmas and only ten before Thanksgiving.

As the days ease along with one Spring-like one following a chill autumn one, we forget there are preparations to be made for the holidays. First of all in one family I know of, (rather intimately), there is the pencil and paper work — figuring out the wherewithal.

Of course, many of the merchants have made things easier by their layaway plans where a down payment will hold an item until Christmas.

In our house some members of the family have started accumulating gifts for Santy, while old Pop is still wondering whether it will be wieners or turkey on Nov. 27. One neighbor was regretful that all her shopping was completed, but happily looking forward to gift wrapping the items.

Meanwhile, it is perfectly agreeable to most people to have the days slip by with the fine (knock wood) sunny weather. HR.

LET'S TALK TURKEY!

Metropolitan newspapers and nationally distributed magazines have been handing out plenty of dope lately - how each one is outdoing the other in reaching the public.

Some speak of increased newsstand sales . . . some of increased advertising lineage . . . some of blanket coverage . . . still others of reaching the "buying public" . . .

But Let's Talk Turkey

What advertisers in Arlington Heights . . . in Palatine . . . in Mt. Prospect and Bensenville . . . want is to reach THEIR customers, not the sports reading thousands of Highland Park, Hammond, and the great south side of Chicago. How many readers of metropolitan newspapers in Rockford, Milwaukee and Peoria are going to run up to Arlington Heights to pick up a blouse, a shirt or toys for junior?

Garden Club And PTA In Joint Meeting

The regular meeting of the Garden Club of Bensenville has been postponed until Wednesday evening, November 19, when the Gardeners will have a joint meeting with the Bensenville Parent-Teachers association at Tioga school.

The Garden club will have a business meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the Tioga band room, after which they will join the PTA in the gym for the program and refreshments.

No School Nov. 11

There will be no school on November 11 at either the grades or high school in Bensenville because it is a legal holiday.

Special Armistice day observances will be held in the various classrooms on Monday, November 10, to commemorate the day.

Bensenville GI Gets Furlough In Japan

Pfc. Willard L. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Weber, 16 Pine, Bensenville, recently spent five days in Japan on a rest and recuperation leave from the 2d Infantry Division in Korea.

The vacation was part of the Army's policy of giving periodic rests to soldiers in the combat zone. Luxurious "R and R" hotels are located throughout Japan to accommodate the veterans.

Pfc. Weber, a clerk, joined the 2d Division last April.

Mock Sour Milk

Many times a recipe calls for sour milk. Should you be without any, make "mock sour milk" by mixing one-half cup evaporated milk, one-half cup water, and one tablespoon vinegar.

Get Official Okay From Supt. Nickell

The Elementary schools and the High school in districts 2 and 100 in Bensenville have received notice of recognition for the list of approved and accredited schools from the state department of education. This recognition is made in the office of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

Approval of the elementary and high school systems in Bensenville has been extended from the state department continually without exception since the beginning of the plan.

The letter of notification commends school authorities and the communities for the recognition. This is evident in the following portions of Mr. Nickell's letter:

"I am extending recognition to your school for the 1951-52 school year on the basis of a careful study of your annual report, the conditions found in your school at the time of our last visitation, and the recommendation of your county superintendent.

"It is important that your board continue its efforts to maintain adequate opportunities for the young people of your community. Your community has entrusted its board with the serious responsibility of educating and training its youth. It should not be satisfied until the best possible educational opportunities are provided to meet the needs of every boy and girl in the community."

Attend Conference

Superintendent Wesley Johnson and his assistant, John Trapp, represented Bensenville High school at a conference of DuPage area administrators October 23, at North Central College, Naperville. Trapp also attended a roundtable meeting for industrial arts instructors recently at Elgin High school.

Itasca Ball A Success

Itasca police reported this week that their benefit ball Saturday night was a "huge" success with a capacity crowd turning out at the Itasca Country club. Chief "Duke" Cites wishes to express the department's thanks to all the merchants and residents that cooperated to make the success possible.

Our Little Folks

Little Man

Pictured first in today's representation of the younger generation is Buddy Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Krueger of 456 S. Lombard rd., Itasca. Two-year old Buddy has blond hair and blue eyes.

When this reporter called Buddy was avidly watching Ding-Dong school on TV. Among his other favorite pastimes are riding in trucks and playing with his toys. He also loves to have someone read to him. Pepper, a black cocker spaniel, is his favorite pet.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis G. Krueger of Itasca and Mrs. George Heard of Brooksville, Miss., are his grandparents. The Kruegers have just returned from a visit to Mississippi and Mrs. Heard returned with them for a visit here.

Active Family

Pictured next are Lynn and John Schuette, children of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schuette of 310 N. Elm st., Itasca. Both children are very active, according to their mother.

Lynn, who is 4 years old and has blonde hair and blue eyes, is interested in everything. She especially likes to go to Sunday school. Riding her bicycle, playing with her dolls and watching television are her other pastimes.

"Two-year old John has a one-track mind—trains," said his mother. He also likes to tease his sister.

Mrs. Hugh Wilkins of Oak Park is the children's grandmother.

Handsome Lad

These twinkling eyes and bright smile belong to Carl Thomas Mason III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Mason Jr. of 412 S. Oak st., Itasca. Tommy is 5½ years old and is in kindergarten this year.

Blond and blue-eyed Tommy likes to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Mason Sr. of Itasca. His mother says he likes to play with everything, but cars are among his favorite toys.

Mrs. Mary Keefer of Chicago is his maternal grandmother.

Students Attend DuPage Meeting On Citizenship

While adults all over the country exercised their rights as good citizens by voting Tuesday, Nov. 4, nine Tioga student counselors joined other boys and girls at the second annual junior high conference on Citizenship, at North Central college, Naperville.

THIS ANNUAL MEETING included representatives from the following suburban schools: Hinsdale, Glen Ellyn, Elmhurst, Village Park, Lombard, Northlake, Wheaton, and Bensenville.

Tioga representatives were Mary Lou Pamper, Leonard Scheffler, Betty McKnight, Carol Washburn, Joyce Brock, Janene Tranter, Judy Breiter, Carol Ann Albers, and Richard Wilkey.

The general plan of the conference consisted of group discussions, where boys and girls from different schools might talk together about their problems and activities. By sharing these experiences, many new ideas were gathered and observed.

The discussion groups included the following areas: Student Council organization; Assemblies, publications; School citizenship; Community citizenship; Leisure School activities; Clubs; and Your Job as a Student Council member.

ALTHOUGH CITIZENSHIP was the keynote of the day, and serious discussions prevailed, the conference was not without its leisure moments. In the morning, a refreshment period was held, where milk and doughnuts were served. Luncheon, later, was served in the Kroehler cafeteria, on the college campus.

In an attmpt to correlate the different aspects of the day, a summary period was held as the concluding feature of the meeting. From each discussion group a student recorder reported on the high spots of the respective meetings. Bensenville students were responsible for introducing the other student recorders.

THIS CONFERENCE, in its second year, has become a valuable and important thing in the schools in this suburban area. Boys and girls are learning to work together to set up higher standards of good citizenship and conduct; student councils are learning to function in the best way. Everywhere, the boys and girls are learning good citizenship now in an effort to do an even better job of being citizens later in life.

This conference was sponsored jointly by Lewis V. Morgan, county superintendent of schools, and the Junior High principal's organization of Du Page county.

Local Wildlife Preserve Is Threatened By Fires, Hunters

Ralph Peters, who has been waging an almost lone fight to protect the wild life in the 113 acres of George Street Wildlife Preserve is doubling his efforts to protect the birds and other wild life whose existence has been threatened by unnecessary fires. No hunting signs which are expected to protect the area from hunters have been wantonly destroyed.

HE HAS BEEN promised the help of local police and county officers, but he also needs the support of the general public.

There have been eight fires in the area this fall. Two of these prairie fires destroyed acres of valuable clover, which means less game birds will be able to survive the winter.

Over 40 species of birds have been seen in the preserve the past season. Many of them are rare in the northern Illinois area.

LAST YEAR poachers who were caught on the preserve during the pheasant season got off easy with, "I didn't see the no hunting signs," or "I did not know this was a preserve." This year with published warnings and signs every 300 feet, both excuses will not mean a thing when they are brought before a judge.

As the Wisconsin Conservation bulletin reads, "Hardened game violators are thieves, treat them accordingly."

This is the beginning of the second year of the operation of the George Street Wildlife Preserve. During the past year, several Bensenville boy scouts have spent long hours working to organize and maintain this project; dedicated to the cause of helping to save the natural resources of the United States.

Traffic Accident Fatal To Maine Township Girl

Two highway accidents this week in Northern Cook county involved three injuries and resulted in the death of a six-year-old Maine township girl.

Patricia Ann Gawlik, 6, was killed Sunday when the car driven by her father, Adolph Gawlik, 36, of Chicago struck a concrete pillar on So. River rd. near Central ave. The accident occurred when Gawlik "blacked out," he explained. The youngster was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Francis hospital.

On October 30, a car driven by Kenneth Swan, 33, of Mount Prospect, collided with the car driven by Thaddeus Mielerek, 35, of Chicago. Swan, traveling north on River rd. swerved to avoid a dog and struck Mielerek's car approaching from the opposite direction and forced it into a ditch. Mielerek was treated for injuries at St. Francis hospital.

Tell Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCall of 13 N. Pine ave., Arlington Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jean, to Henry Heinsohn of Lake Zurich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heinsohn Sr. of Barrington.

Paint Store Balloon Lands In Indiana

One of the balloons sent out to hail the grand opening of Allen's paint store in Arlington Heights two weeks ago landed on a farm near Wabash, Indiana, acording to word received from Jimmie Lewis, RFD 4, Wabash, Indiana.

The balloon landed on the Lewis farm as ten year old Jimmie was picking corn Saturday October 25.

Cherry Trees

Oriental flowering cherry trees are no longer imported because of the danger of bringing in disease which might harm American stone fruits. However, the original and subsequent importations have provided a source of beautiful trees which may be found flowering throughout the U. S. In the same spirit that prompted Tokyo's gift 40 years ago, Washington has just sent 55 cuttings to Japan from the 11 trees still living of the original Tidal Basin planting.

Arlington Car Catches Fire On Outer Drive

A broken hose connection caused the anti-freeze to catch fire in the car of Wally Grace of Arlington Heights as Mr. and Mrs. Grace, and two others, were driving down the outer drive in Chicago Saturday night. A passing motorist put the blaze out with a portable extinguisher.

Chicago police pushed the Grace car out of the line of traffic, but from then on it was strictly up to Wally to find shelter for his car and transportation for himself and party. Considerable damage resulted with the Heights vehicle still up for repairs Tuesday.

Churchville PTA Hold Party Friday, Nov. 14

Garden Club And PTA In Joint Meeting

The regular meeting of the Garden Club of Bensenville has been postponed until Wednesday evening, November 19, when the Gardeners will have a joint meeting with the Bensenville Parent-Teachers association at Tioga school.

The Garden club will have a business meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the Tioga band room, after which they will join the PTA in the gym for the program and refreshments.

No School Nov. 11

There will be no school on November 11 at either the grades or high school in Bensenville because it is a legal holiday.

Special Armistice day observances will be held in the various classrooms on Monday, November 10, to commemorate the day.

Bensenville GI Gets Furlough In Japan

Pfc. Willard L. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Weber, 16 Pine, Bensenville, recently spent five days in Japan on a rest and recuperation leave from the 2d Infantry Division in Korea.

The vacation was part of the Army's policy of giving periodic rests to soldiers in the combat zone. Luxurious "R and R" hotels are located throughout Japan to accommodate the veterans.

Pfc. Weber, a clerk, joined the 2d Division last April.

Mock Sour Milk

Many times a recipe calls for sour milk. Should you be without any, make "mock sour milk" by mixing one-half cup evaporated milk, one-half cup water, and one tablespoon vinegar.

Get Official Okay From Supt. Nickell

The Elementary schools and the High school in districts 2 and 100 in Bensenville have received notice of recognition for the list of approved and accredited schools from the state department of education. This recognition is made in the office of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction.

Approval of the elementary and high school systems in Bensenville has been extended from the state department continually without exception since the beginning of the plan.

The letter of notification commends school authorities and the communities for the recognition. This is evident in the following portions of Mr. Nickell's letter:

"I am extending recognition to your school for the 1951-52 school year on the basis of a careful study of your annual report, the conditions found in your school at the time of our last visitation, and the recommendation of your county superintendent.

"It is important that your board continue its efforts to maintain adequate opportunities for the young people of your community. Your community has entrusted its board with the serious responsibility of educating and training its youth. It should not be satisfied until the best possible educational opportunities are provided to meet the needs of every boy and girl in the community."

Attend Conference

Superintendent Wesley Johnson and his assistant, John Trapp, represented Bensenville High school at a conference of DuPage area administrators October 23, at North Central College, Naperville. Trapp also attended a roundtable meeting for industrial arts instructors recently at Elgin High school.

Itasca Ball A Success

Itasca police reported this week that their benefit ball Saturday night was a "huge" success with a capacity crowd turning out at the Itasca Country club. Chief "Duke" Cites wishes to express the department's thanks to all the merchants and residents that cooperated to make the success possible.

Our Little Folks

Little Man

Pictured first in today's representation of the younger generation is Buddy Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Krueger of 456 S. Lombard rd., Itasca. Two-year old Buddy has blond hair and blue eyes.

When this reporter called Buddy was avidly watching Ding-Dong school on TV. Among his other favorite pastimes are riding in trucks and playing with his toys. He also loves to have someone read to him. Pepper, a black cocker spaniel, is his favorite pet.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis G. Krueger of Itasca and Mrs. George Heard of Brooksville, Miss., are his grandparents. The Kruegers have just returned from a visit to Mississippi and Mrs. Heard returned with them for a visit here.

Active Family

Pictured next are Lynn and John Schuette, children of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schuette of 310 N. Elm st., Itasca. Both children are very active, according to their mother.

Lynn, who is 4 years old and has blonde hair and blue eyes, is interested in everything. She especially likes to go to Sunday school. Riding her bicycle, playing with her dolls and watching television are her other pastimes.

"Two-year old John has a one-track mind—trains," said his mother. He also likes to tease his sister.

Mrs. Hugh Wilkins of Oak Park is the children's grandmother.

Handsome Lad

These twinkling eyes and bright smile belong to Carl Thomas Mason III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Mason Jr. of 412 S. Oak st., Itasca. Tommy is 5½ years old and is in kindergarten this year.

Blond and blue-eyed Tommy likes to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Mason Sr. of Itasca. His mother says he likes to play with everything, but cars are among his favorite toys.

Mrs. Mary Keefer of Chicago is his maternal grandmother.

Homemade cake and coffee will be featured. Graduates and old friends of the school and seventh and eighth graders are invited.

The party is under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Johnson, ways and means chairman, Mrs. Henry Wachsning, president of PTA and Mrs. Eric Wulf, hospitality. Mrs. Elmer Beckmann is publicity chairman.

Students Attend DuPage Meeting On Citizenship

While adults all over the country exercised their rights as good citizens by voting Tuesday, Nov. 4, nine Tioga student counselors joined other boys and girls at the second annual junior high conference on Citizenship, at North Central college, Naperville.

THIS ANNUAL MEETING included representatives from the following suburban schools: Hinsdale, Glen Ellyn, Elmhurst, Village Park, Lombard, Northlake, Wheaton, and Bensenville.

Tioga representatives were Mary Lou Pamper, Leonard Scheffler, Betty McKnight, Carol Washburn, Joyce Brock, Janene Tranter, Judy Breiter, Carol Ann Albers, and Richard Wilkey.

The general plan of the conference consisted of group discussions, where boys and girls from different schools might talk together about their problems and activities. By sharing these experiences, many new ideas were gathered and observed.

The discussion groups included the following areas: Student Council organization; Assemblies, publications; School citizenship; Community citizenship; Leisure School activities; Clubs; and Your Job as a Student Council member.

ALTHOUGH CITIZENSHIP was the keynote of the day, and serious discussions prevailed, the conference was not without its leisure moments. In the morning, a refreshment period was held, where milk and doughnuts were served. Luncheon, later, was served in the Kroehler cafeteria, on the college campus.

In an attmpt to correlate the different aspects of the day, a summary period was held as the concluding feature of the meeting. From each discussion group a student recorder reported on the high spots of the respective meetings. Bensenville students were responsible for introducing the other student recorders.

THIS CONFERENCE, in its second year, has become a valuable and important thing in the schools in this suburban area. Boys and girls are learning to work together to set up higher standards of good citizenship and conduct; student councils are learning to function in the best way. Everywhere, the boys and girls are learning good citizenship now in an effort to do an even better job of being citizens later in life.

This conference was sponsored jointly by Lewis V. Morgan, county superintendent of schools, and the Junior High principal's organization of Du Page county.

Local Wildlife Preserve Is Threatened By Fires, Hunters

Ralph Peters, who has been waging an almost lone fight to protect the wild life in the 113 acres of George Street Wildlife Preserve is doubling his efforts to protect the birds and other wild life whose existence has been threatened by unnecessary fires. No hunting signs which are expected to protect the area from hunters have been wantonly destroyed.

HE HAS BEEN promised the help of local police and county officers, but he also needs the support of the general public.

There have been eight fires in the area this fall. Two of these prairie fires destroyed acres of valuable clover, which means less game birds will be able to survive the winter.

Over 40 species of birds have been seen in the preserve the past season. Many of them are rare in the northern Illinois area.

LAST YEAR poachers who were caught on the preserve during the pheasant season got off easy with, "I didn't see the no hunting signs," or "I did not know this was a preserve." This year with published warnings and signs every 300 feet, both excuses will not mean a thing when they are brought before a judge.

As the Wisconsin Conservation bulletin reads, "Hardened game violators are thieves, treat them accordingly."

This is the beginning of the second year of the operation of the George Street Wildlife Preserve. To Address Heights PTA

"Give Your Child Real Security" is the thought-provoking theme for discussion at the November meeting of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher Association, to be held Tuesday, November 18, at 8:15 p. m. at the South school. The speaker will be Dr. Augusta Jameson, Ph.D., of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Jameson has worked as psychologist for sixteen years at the Institute for Juvenile Research, a psychiatric clinic for children, and for nine years at the University of Chicago laboratory school. She is at present director of associated Consultants in Education, spending much of her time in work for school systems.

This is not Dr. Jameson's first appearance in Arlington Heights. She is a extremely popular and informative speaker, has addressed the PTA in regular meeting, and conducted one of the child study group programs last year. Following her talk, there will be a period for open discussion, and question from parents are invited.

Cub scouts of pack 255 will present the colors to open the meeting, and after its adjournment refreshments will be served in the cafeteria by mothers of the second and third grades of the South school.

Girl Scouts Hold Yule Gift Workshop Today

A demonstration on "Christmas Gifts That Children Can Make" will be presented at the Arlington Heights field house Thursday, Nov. 13, from 1 to 3 p.m. by Mrs. Raymond Lohr.

All girl scout leaders, troop committee members, girl scout workers and any mother interested is welcome to attend.

The materials used for handcrafts will be materials currently found around the house, such as —tinfoil, match boxes, tin cans and covers, walnut shells, milk bottle caps, crepe paper, etc. Textile painting, painting glass, wood, etc., will be demonstrated for more advanced troops.

Christmas ornaments, favors and decorations of all kinds will be featured. Mrs. Lohr, an art teacher, has had vast experience working with children.

All mothers should come prepared to take notes to carry back material to her troop.

Lowell Thomas On TV For National Homes

Lowell Thomas, internationally known news analyst, will appear for the first time on television Saturday evening, Nov. 20, at 7:15 p.m. Mr. Thomas was prompted to make his debut on TV after visiting National Homes corporation plant in Lafayette, Ind. Seeing America's largest home prefabrication plant generated such a tremendous enthusiasm on Mr. Thomas' part that, unsolicited, he devoted almost his entire broadcast that evening to telling his listeners about the plant and the homes he had seen that day.

On his telecast Tuesday evening, Mr. Thomas will introduce to his viewing audience the "Coronet" National Homes' newest design, forerunner of the 1953 line of homes.

The Coronet may be seen locally at 614 Prairie ave., Barrington. Maxon Construction Co. has joined with over 300 other National Homes dealer-builders in displaying the completely furnished and color styled "Coronet" to the hundreds of home-hungry people in this area.

Mail Overseas Christmas Gifts Now

Too early for Christmas shopping? "Don't you believe it!" says Postmaster Virginia Dodge.

This year there are more friends, relatives and sweethearts in our armed forces than at any time since World War II. Their precious gifts and cheery Christmas greetings should be mailed before November 15.

It's best, of course, to send both parcel post and Christmas cards by air mail. (Overseas air parcels are limited to two lbs.). Be sure the address is easy to read, and includes the recipient's full name, serial number, branch of service, organization, and correct A. P. O.

INCLUDE SENDER'S name and address inside all packages. All parcels should be securely wrapped and tied with strong cord. Use heavy corrugated cartons for added protection during their long journey.

Some foods may be sent overseas. But don't mail perishable items. Valuable overseas gifts should be registered or insured.

Delivery of the Christmas mail In some areas, the postal services of our army air force or overseas is a complex operation. navy will take up where the U. S. post office leaves off. It will help them greatly if everyone follows the suggestions above.

"Your next step," Postmaster Dodge concluded, "is to get ready for Christmas in the U. S. A. Better start checking your Christmas card list right now, for after December 1, the post office will be hard pressed to handle the tremendous volume of Christmas mail!"

Robert Mosser, Legionnaire, Dies Of Heart Attack

Robert H. Mosser, prominent legionnaire of Palatine Post of the American Legion and a member of other organizations, died suddenly Sunday evening, November 9.

Funeral services are being held Thursday from the Tharp funeral home. Services are in charge of Rev. Fetz, pastor of Palatine Methodist church. His comrades of the First World War are giving him a military funeral in the family lot in Hillside cemetery.

He was married to Miss Rose Ost September 18, 1937.

Mr. Mosser leaves behind him a record of community service that is seldom equaled.

Born April 6, 1893, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mosser, he spent his entire life in the town of his birth. Following his graduation from Palatine high school, he entered the freight claim department of the North Western railroad in 1912 and at the time of his death, he had completed 40 years of service and was assistant chief clerk of that department.

Robert's war service started in 1918. He was inducted Oct. 21. Two months later he landed at Brest, France assigned to Battery D. 118th field artillery. He was discharged January 17, 1919 at Camp Grant.

Because originally there was no legion post in Palatine, he joined the Des Plaines post, but transferred to Palatine a year after the local post was formed.

Bob entered wholeheartedly into legion affairs, held various offices, was commander in 1924 and has been either adjutant or finance officer the majority of the years since then. It was largely he who kept alive the annual Armistice day observance.

It was solely Bob who handled the details of the Memorial day program the past twenty years. Mr. Moser was secretary of the Palatine Memorial association from 1925. By 1930, public interest in that organization had lessened to such an extent that Bob "took over" with the assistance of such volunteers as could be secured from Legion members and others.

As a member of Palatine lodge No. 314 A. F. & A. M., he served as master in 1929 and as secretary the following fifteen years. He was active in the Royal Arch, of which he was past high priest.

He leaves a wife, Rose; a son, Charles, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Kessler, of Palatine.

Mr. Moser never sought public office. His friends were many and his words of support aided many civic projects in Palatine. His passing means that someone else will have to be found to "take over."

True humility is not an abject, groveling, self-despising spirit; it is but a right estimate of ourselves as God sees us.

First Federal Mails $64,065 Christmas Club

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Des Plaines is mailing Christmas club checks this week to 570 people in a total sum of $64,065.04. This amount represents an increasing growth in the First Federal's club, both in the number of folks participating and in the funds deposited.

Acording to W. L. Plew, secretary of the association, folks like the First Federal Christmas club for several reasons — a dividend is paid on funds deposited the first half of the year; payments are made every other week instead of weekly; payments can be made during the association's long and convenient hours — Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Mr. Plew commented further that the new First Federal building will be under roof by the end of this week. The fine weather the past six weeks has put the contractor two weeks ahead of schedule. If the building construction continues to progress at this rate, the First Federal will be at its new location about March 1, 1953.

Panel To Discuss Education At AAUW Meeting

"Three Roads to Education," will be the topic for discussion when members of the Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women met at 8 p. m. Thursday, November 13. The meeting will be held at St. Martin's Episcopal church in Des Plaines.

G. E. Concidine, a faculty member of Maine township high school, will be moderator for the panel consisting of representatives from New Trier, Evanston and Oak Park. Mrs. H. P. Milleville, education chairman, will be in charge of the program.

Members of the local AAUW branch are planning to organize a new study group for the purpose of studying educational trends. The organizational meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Hartman, 403 S. Wille, Mt. Prospect, December 4.

Education will also be the subject for discussion when members of the current problems study group meet November 18. The topic to be discussed will be "Education for Exceptional Children." Members of this group will attend school board meetings in Park Ridge November 12 at the Lincoln school in Park Ridge; and in Des Plaines November 19 at the Central school. Mrs. R. M. Dunlap is chairman of this group.

International relations study group will meet November 19 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Troyan, 1126 Second ave., Des Plaines. Miss Margaret Lowery is international relations chairman.

Mrs. Walter Brownell, 607 S. Elmhurst rd., Mt. Prospect, was hostess to the legislative study group November 12. A discussion on county political organizations was led by Mrs. Robert Fontaine. Mrs. Brownell is chairman of the legislative study group. (B4

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS CAGE OUTLOOK APPEARS PESSIMISTIC

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

IN THIS ISSUE of the Paddock Publications appears a Northwest Conference all-star team, supposedly selected by a ballot of the coaches of the seven teams. We think it is a pretty good selection, though we would not ourselves agree in every case.

The thing that got this writer riled up last year and again this week is the fact that coaches of the Northwest conference evidently turn in different ballots for different papers and do not really select an all-conference team.

Our balloting resulted in Paddock Publications and the Chicago Tribune northwest team. Our good friend, "Bud" Nangle of the Chicago Daily News polled the coaches with the result that half his team is different than ours. Grant got two on our first team, but no Grant boys made first or second Daily News teams. The ends which got the most votes in his poll got the least in ours.

IT ALL GOES TO PROVE that Northwest coaches need to follow the example of the North Suburban and the West Suburban conference. In those leagues the coaches get together and conduct their own poll at a closed meeting. Out of this get-together at the close of the season they issue an all-conference team or squad submitted to the press as the official team.

Unless the Northwest coaches do this next year this publication will go back to picking its own Northwest team.

The way it is going by the time the Herald American and the Sun Times get their all-conference teams lined up with the help of the coaches, every boy worth anything in the league will be named on one of the teams. In such a situation, an all-conference citation means very little.

Regardless of who is named to the various teams, there were a number of standout performers in the conference who just could not be left off a first team without a grave injustice being done. This super honor roll, in our opinion, would include Bob Stockinger, Ela-Vernon, end; Charles Bock, Antioch, fullback; Stan Hauseman, Palatine, back; George Sutko, Wauconda, back; Del Koelper, Palatine, tackle; Bill Bachman, Antioch, tackle; Wally Giernoth, Grayslake, guard; Jerry Schuetz, Ela-Vernon, guard, and Chuck James, Palatine, center.

THE LAST GUST OF AIR has been let out of the footballs at Arlington Heights, and after school activities of most of the coaches have changed. Head coach "Bus" Ormsbee is now directing frosh basketball. Maurice Klotz, who assisted John Ligon with sophomore football, is directing soph cagers, while Ken Schaller, one of the ex-Northbrook instructors, will mentor the JVs.

Carl Nelson

Carl Nelson, chief scout and the number one "pepper-upper" at Arlington football games, usually chasing up and down the sidelines, is taking over winter intra-murals. Carl has been a big help to Ormsbee this fall, watching plenty of games other than Arlington's.

Coach Ray DeGreef, game leg be hanged, is number one man for varsity basketball. Dick Mudge has initiated wrestling workouts.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON opens this week, at least for Palatine and Lake Forest, and November 21 most of the schools in the area will swing into action. Fans will find a change in rules this year which they should know about. The most important one has to do with free throwing.

This year there is an increased penalty for fouling in that on a one-throw foul, if the free throw is missed, the shooter gets a second try.

Also, in the final three minutes of play, all fouls carry two free throws and none can this year be waived and the ball taken out of bounds.

NORTHBROOK JUST RECENTLY let a contract for a $750,000 gymnasium unit which will be sound proofed and air conditioned. Glenview-Northbrook is the official name of the new school which takes the place of Northbrook over in Northfield township where Dr. Norman Watson is superintendent.

The new school will have different school colors, school song, and nickname of teams, than the old closed Northbrook high school. Dr. Watson is confident that the new school will be completed well in advance of the opening of the 1953-54 school year.

GAYLORD HUGHES, always ready and willing to talk gymnastics to anyone who knows, has finally started workouts with an Arlington team. Four meets have been scheduled with New Trier and Senn, his alma mater, with two or three open events also possible.

Recently honored at the Arlington-Maine game was Patti Ryden, queen at Illinois, who was introduced by Wally Grace . . . Arlington's other graduate queen, Carol Wille, is taking bows this week at the state vegetable growers' meeting in Chicago . . . Cage fans will be interested in knowing that listed as probable freshmen starters at Illinois this year are Hebron's Paul and Phil Judson, Quincy's Bruce Brothers, with Taylorville's Billy Ridley sidelined by injury . . . Returning Ken Spooner suffered a knee injury recently at Hebron, but is expected to be back in shape when the season starts.

OUR GUESS IS THAT ARLINGTON HEIGHTS will have the regional basketball tournament this coming March which has been held at Barrington the past two seasons . . . Bernie Prais, former Lake Forest track, grid, and court star, has been quite a scoring factor in recent football games at Northern Illinois State Teachers College at DeKalb. Along with McRoy of Grayslake and Stork of Woodstock he is listed from the North Suburban conference among the Northern cage prospects.

Cards Host To Palatine Nov. 26; Tickets On Sale

"Definitely pessimistic" was Coach Ray DeGreef's answer this week when queried about Arlington's chances in the coming West Suburban basketball season. "We thought we didn't have much experience last year. This time we have even less."

And the facts bear R.. out. Just two regulars from last season are back for the Cardinals, Johnny Eakins and Dick McAuliffe. Both boys first appeared on the cage scene Monday after football was over, Eakins with an injured leg.

From the frosh-sophs are just three boys that saw much action, Bob Turner, Roger Thomas and George Skelton. The second year squad finished third in the league last year.

ON THE BRIGH R side is the hope of some fans that boys appe..ng mediocre as juniors last year will look much better this season as seniors. A couple of transfers which may pay off are Larry Slinkard of Seneth, Mo., and Fred Good.

Slinkard lettered at Seneth as a sophomore, going to the state tourna..nt. Good transferred to Heights from South Shore in Chicago in ..ptember, but De Greef hasn't had an opportunity to watch him as yet. He's a football veteran.

OPENING GAME for the cagers is against Palatine Wednesday, Nov. 26. Whether the ex-footballers can be in top shape by that time remains to be seen.

Twenty-six boys worked out with Coach DeGreef all morning Armistice day, with about 15 slated to survive varsity operations by the end of this week.

Couple of other boys from last year's varsity squad who may help are Tom Bowersox and Herb Gorder. Also expected to be of help is Mike Shanklin from last year's frosh-sophs.

SEASON TICKETS for the ten home games will go on sale Monday morning at both the high school office and at Millay's in Arlington Heights.

A block of 154 seats, main floor center, have been set aside for reserved seat sale, with another block to be added if demand warrants. Price is $10 for the ten doubleheaders, just 20 cents per game over the general admission price. The reserved seats will be on the north side of the gym.

LaGrange And Maine At Top, York And Riverside At Bottom In Football

LaGrange and Maine at the top, York and Riverside-Brookfield at the bottom.

Thus reads both divisions of the West Suburban football race this year. In between are the other four schools not in identical order.

LaGrange copped first and Maine second in both divisions while York was at the bottom in both. Riverside-Brookfield finished in a tie for sixth in the varsity and tied for seventh in the frosh-soph division. Alphabetical listings place them seventh in both groups.

Last year it was Hinsdale and LaGrange at the top in the varsity division, with LaGrange and Maine leading finishing one-two for the frosh-sophs.

Gagne To Meet Etchison Dec. 13

Verne Gagne's opponent in the December 13 wrestling card at Arlington Heights will be Ronnie Etchison, Pacific coast heavyweight wrestling champ, it was announced this week by VFW post 981. Gagne, Olympic heavyweight champ, was seen in action in the new high school gymnasium last year.

An Australian tag team match is also on the program, putting the Canadian Angel and Zack Malkov against Billy Goelz and Billy Hickson. Bobby Nelson and Carl Meyers are matched for a 30 minute preliminary.

A SHARE of the proceeds will be contributed to the auditory testing equipment to be used by all schools in Arlington Heights. This device is used by the public health nurse in testing the hearing of school children. The Arlington Heights Lions club is sponsoring the purchase of this equipment and the VFW will share in the cost with the Lions. Other VFW charities will also be aided by the proceeds.

Cost of tickets is $2.50 for ringside and $2.00 for balcony. There are 4000 seats available in the gymnasium. All of the seats have a perfect view of the ring

Palatine Has 4, Wauconda, Ela 3, Grant, Antioch 2, On Coach Team

by G. A. McELROY

Palatine placed four men on the Northwest conference all-star first squad of 14 players as selected by the seven conference coaches for Paddock Publications. Three ties made necessary the enlarging of the first team to 14 men. Wauconda and Ela-Vernon, who took the third and the second spots in the final standings behind Palatine's champs, each placed three on the first squad while Grant and Antioch had two boys named.

"Chuck" James of Palatine got the most votes of any player. Only other center nominated was Wauconda's soph..ore pivot man, Stu Slove, who made the second team.

James was one of the best competit.. s who ever played football at Palatine. His aggressive play as line backer on defense made him a standout. On offense he was an excellent ball handler and made no bad passes all season.

A broken wrist in the Grant game caus.d James to miss Palatine's two final contests. Stu Slove of Wauconda played only on offense but his blocking and passing of the ball to the Bulldog backs was flawless. As a sophomore he is a very fine prospect.

THREE BOYS TIED for guard positions in a ..y ar when this position was unusually strong. Dick Hecht, Wauconda captain, was a small boy but a fine team leader, good blocker, and a steady line backer on defense. Jerry Schuetz, one of the finest linemen in the circuit, was top man in the Ela-Vernon li..e which rated tops in the conference. He was Ela's best player in th opinion of Coach Bill Lehmann.

Kennel Finley of Gr.., a six foot, 190 pound junior, was a defensive star and a lad who improved every game for Coach Werhan's Bulldogs. He will really be a tough customer in 1953. Close behind were Wally Giernoth of Grayslake and Art Jolie of Bensenville.

IN A SEAS.. of unusually even competition in the conference the number of good linemen this past season outranked the backs. Three fine performer tied in the balloting for tackle positions. Bob Hecht, Wauconda junior, was the tough boy in their line. He wa.. a standout in the Palatine game and came into his own after mid-season as one of the best in the league.

Bill Bachman of Antioch, a 210 pound giant, was on the all-league second team a year ago. His superior line play both on defense and offense marked him from ..e start as a cinch for all-conference honors.

Del Koelper, 185 pound Palatine tackle who was a transfer from Northbrook, had no peer in the league as a tackle.. Playing tackle on offense and line backer on defense, Koelper earned the rating of the best lineman ever to play for Palatine high. Tom Walsh, a Bensenville star, and Jerry Caldwell, an outstanding Grayslake lineman, were placed on the second team but i.. is certainly open to question whether or not they were just as good as the first team choices.

SEVEN ENDS were nominated by the coaches with the balloting more even than for any other position. Bob Stockinger of Ela-Vernon and Kent Raffel, a Grant junior, got the call. Stockinger was a regular end three seasons at Ela. He was an all round fine performer a.. pass catcher, blocker, and tackler. His team mate Glen Chaffin, who caught more passes but as a junior lacked Stockinger's finesse, got a second team spot.

Kent Raffel, six foot two Grant end, was probably the best pass catcher in the league. In their final game with Wauconda Raffel snared nine of 11 passes completed by his team.

Grant certainly has the makings of a strong offense with this lad available another season.

Bill Jewell, senior end at Wauconda, was given a second team position based on a steady, consistent performance all season.

Mac Schroyer, Ela-Vernon quarterback, won the call in a close race with Dennis Punches of Wauconda for the signal calling job. Shroyer is a good punter, safety man, and field general. He was a good ground gainer and

To Select West Suburban All-Stars This Saturday

Football coaches of the West Suburban league are meeting this Thursday noon at Riverside-Brookfield high school to select the annual grid all-conference squad. The squad will probably be released in Paddock Publications next week.

16 Players In Last Game At Arlington

Sixteen players and one manager donned suits and bandages for the last time for the Cardinal and White at Downers Grove Saturday, most of them linemen. Their final game was a 27-0 affair against them.

Departing centers are Dick McAuliffe and Mark Creviston. Four guards who won't be seen on the gridiron next season are Joe Rezek, Denis Straus, Jim Worley and Charles Goetschel. Tackles leaving Coach "Bus" Ormsbee include Roy Hinneberg, Charles Bundy and Jim Thomson. Senior ends included Fred Good and Bob Martin.

Gone from the backfield scene will be Tom Theis and Jim Roberts at full, Maurice Holahan and Paul Mitsch at halves, and Johnny Eakins, operating at both half and quarter.

From the manager's standpoint Ron Hutchinson will be gone next year but he has been grooming brother Don to be Chief Bandaid next year.

Blackhawks Open With 69-43 Win

The Wheeling Blackhaws opened their fifth basketball season with a 69 to 43 win over Aptakisic last Thursday evening at the Wheeling gym. Led by Bob Sander, hero of last year's North Shore league championship game which brought the title to Wheeling, and Bob Kliener, who scored 17 and 16 points respectively, the 'Hawks scored their fourteenth victory in sixteen starts against the Aptakisic five.

IN A GAME that was marked by constant flare-ups of tempers, the 'Hawks out-scored Aptakisic in every quarter and never trailed.

Arrangements are now being made for the scheduling of games with the Palatine Motors five for Thursday, Nov. 13, and St. Peters quintet from Northbrook for Tuesday, Nov. 18. Both games are to be played at the Wheeling gym.

Name Straus And Eakins Card Football Captains

Denis Straus and John Eakins were elected co-captains for both the final game and for the season prior to the Downers Grove contest Saturday. Straus operated at guard while Eakins spent most of the season at halfback.

Palatine To Open Cage Slate Host To Lake Forest Friday

Palatine high opens the 1952-53 basketball season Friday night with a double header at home against Lake Forest, last year's co-champs of the North Suburban conference. Palatine hopes to be a strong contender this year in the Northwest loop and the game this Friday along with contests at Libertyville November 21 and Arlington Heights the 26th should give a good indication of the strength of the Pirates before their league opener at Grayslake on November 28.

Friday night the opposing Lake Forest team does not have a frosh-soph unit as the North Suburban plays junior varsity in their preliminaries. Due to this fact frosh-soph coach Art Zimmer will interchange a team of sophomores and a team of juniors taken from head coach "Gene" Moylan's varsity squad. In all other games on the schedule Palatine will use frosh-sophs in the preliminary game.

COACH "GENE" Moylan has a varsity squad of 17 boys working hard for positions. No cuts in the squad are likely until the Libertyville game. Then they will probably be seniors who are judged not good enough to see varsity action. The juniors in the varsity will play a junior varsity schedule of games to prepare for another year so few, if any, of them will get the axe when it comes time to prune the squad.

Squad members available for Friday's game are Dick Abrahamson, Paul Schrage, John Busch, Stan Hauseman, Del Koelper, Harlan Gephart, Lee Bergstedt, and John Roehr, seniors, and Pete Abramson, Lawrence Hapke, Tom Lay, Bill Breyer, Gerry McElroy, Dale Christensen, and Kenneth Hahn, juniors. Richard Meyer and Don Webster are out of action this week. Webster, a promising Northbrook leterman, has badly torn knee ligaments which have caused him to miss two weeks of school and he may be lost for sometime.

COACH ART Zimmer, former University of Wisconsin letterman, is handling the sophomore team this year. He coached at LaMoile, Illinois last season. He has 25 hopefuls on his squad. While Palatine had a consistent losing season in frosh basketball last year the addition of some promising transfers from other schools may brighten the outlook. Members of the squad are Ronald Bessemer, Robert Blodeen, Dave Cornwell, Dave Corso, John Dodge, Alan Eck, Dave Egler, Bob Fremd, John Goetz, Tom Hillsheim, Robert Kozy Dave Laugen, Ray Lorden, Allen Mackie, Jack Mason, Herbert Moehling, Dave Nesset, Charles Oswald, Jim Penning, Jack Phillips, John Randolph, Edward Schoenfeld, Dave Schutz, Orval Thorson and Don Underwood.

Palatine frosh, coached by Charley Feutz who handled the football, will play an 18 game basketball schedule opening at Elgin next Tuesday, November 18. Coach Feutz has a squad of 40 boys working out and hates to cut the group as so few have had previous basketball training that it is hard to select a squad small enough to work on team organization.

Gallup Gallops 5 Times To Set League Record 59 Points

by BOB PADDOCK

Maine township high school gridders ran wild Saturday afternoon at Des Plaines, 77-13, with eight boys scoring touchdowns. Bruce Gallup, the league's leading scorer, tallied on runs of 52, 13 and 8 yards, plus two one yard plunges.

The five TDs for Gallup gave him the individual scoring record for the league with 96 points on 16 touchdowns. Bruce tallied twice against Hinsdale, once against LaGrange, three times against Downers Grove and Arlington, and twice against Glenbard.

CLOSE BEHIND in fourth spot was teammate Clem Ryan. Clem tallied once against York, Glenbard and Arlington, and two Saturday. He added 18 conversions to chalk up 48 scores for the year.

Five other Maine boys scoring TDs included Don Halverson with four, Marv Nyren and Frank Adams with three apiece, and Ray Clausen and Pete Bonesteel with one apiece. With that in mind, fans can readily see why Maine was rated one of the strongest outfits in the suburban area this year.

CHAMPIONSHIP winning LaGrange, which mauled Glenbard in the final, 34-0, was led by Leon McRae's 63 points for second spot in the league's individual scoring. Leon scored a pair of TDs against Arlington, Hinsdale and York, and tallied one each against Riverside-Brookfield, Maine, Downers Grove and Glenbard.

Nailing down third spot in scoring was Frank Stanicek of Hinsdale with 57 points. He made eight TDs and nine conversions. After scoring just a conversion against Riverside-Brookfield and nothing against Maine, Frank tallied thrice against Glenbard, twice against Riverside-Brookfield, and once each against LaGrange, Arlington and York.

RYAN OF MAINE, by the way, ranked second behind Don Vena of Hinsdale last year with five scores and 13 conversions. Last year's third man, Damore, of Riverside, with 37 points, scored 18 this year.

McRae last year ranked 15th with 19 points, while teammate Bob McKown held down 11th spot with 30 points. This season it was six touchdowns, four conversions, for two score points.

Scoring was down this year with 43 boys involved in tallying 772 points. Last year in the West Suburban loop there were 59 boys responsible for 870 points.

IN FROSH-SOPH division LaGrange repeated as champion with almost the identical record of the year before. In '51 LaGrange scored 154 points to their opponents' 23. This time it was 150 points against 25.

First Wrestling Workout At Heights

Wrestling practice started Wednesday at Arlington Heights high school, with Coach Dick Mudge in charge. This will be the third season for the grapplers at Arlington with some improvement noted last year and still more hoped for this season.

Just how many boys turned out for the sport at the initial call was not known early enough for release this week but further notes are certain to come out of the gym next week.

Last year the Heights varsity beat McHenry and Niles twice, and lost eight. In unofficial West Suburban competition the Cardinals lost to York, 23-17, to Riverside, 27-11, to LaGrange, 24-14, and to Hinsdale, 35-3.

LaGrange Whips Glenbard Twice

by ED BERNDT

LaGrange made a celan sweep of team championships in West Suburban conference competition this fall by whipping Glenbard twice Saturday.

Leon McRae sparked the Lions to a 34-0 win over the green and white varsity while the frosh-sophs were mauled by the scrappy Lion Cubs, 40-0.

THE LION defense was "on the ball" both literally and figuratively as they intercepted six of Dean Refram's passes in the second half, four of them in the third quarter.

The Lions took the opening kickoff and marched 49 yards in 10 plays to score. Grimmenga scored from the one yard line. Eichler's attempted conversion was wide.

DEAN McKOWN scored after taking a punt on the Glenbard 46 and wading through a host of would-be tacklers all the way to the end zone. McRae passed to Ted Caizza for the extra point.

The Lions made it 20-0 a few moments later when McRae passed 16 yards to Caizza for another TD. McRae converted.

The blue and gold of LaGrange continued their touchdown production with two more in the third period.

McRAE COUNTERED after intercepting a pass on the Glenbard 12 yard line. He converted for the third time.

The fourth period was very evenly played. Neither team could get a sustained drive under way.

Leon McRae was the outstanding player of the game. Roger Steib of Glenbard ran a close second behind him though.

The loss dropped Glenbard to a fifth place finish in the WSC.

The weak point in the Bard offense was their rushing attack. They only averaged 79 yards per game while their opponents garnered 175 yards. The green and white passing attack was very strong as they outgained their opponents 148 yards per game to 52 per game.

IN THE PASSING department the Bard backs tried 113 passes and hit their targets on 46 of those attempts for a 41% completion average.

In the individual passing Dick Slater tried 60 passes, completed 22 and had seven intercepted, for a 37% completion average. Dean Refram attempted 53 passes, completed 24 and had six intercepted for a 45% average.

Black Cats No Problem, But 13 Means Bad Luck For Bisons

Coach Tom Meneguin may not believe in black cats in Bensenville, but his boys, the Bison footballers, tempted fate on three occasions this past year.

They tallied 13 points three times — against Palatine, Grant and Antioch. Otherwise the DuPage county entrant in Northwest conference play failed to cross paydirt once. The squad was whitewashed by Grayslake, Wauconda and Ela-Vernon.

Season scores:

Palatine 14, Bensenville 13.
Grant 35, Bensenville 13.
Grayslake 26, Bensenville 0.
Wauconda 40, Bensenville 0.
Ela-Vernon 12, Bensenville 0.
Antioch 25, Bensenville 13.

THE BISONS picked up just over two yards per rushing attempt, season totals reveal, with best record set against Ela-Vernon. The Bears held the locals to 128 yards in 40 attempts. On the other end was the Wauconda game where Bensenville totalled 10 yards in 19 carries.

In passing Coach Meneguin's boys fell just short of 30% accuracy. They completed 41 of 114 tosses. Best mark was the Antioch game with 9 of 20, while against Grayslake it was 4 of 15. The 9 tosses against Wauconda, however, brought out the most yardage, 139, of a season's total of 526.

Leading rusher for the Bisons was Landino with 125 yards gained in 40 rushes.

New Golf Owner

The Northwestern university golf course, at Harms road and Lake avenue in Wilmette, will come under new management on February 1, 1953. The course has been leased for five years by Stanley Najdowski, who will operate it on a daily fee basis exclusively. No memberships in the club will be sold.

Bob Nolan of Wauconda has made the varsity squad for all the out-of-town games at Miami university in Florida . . . Ela-Vernon may be the surprise of the Northwest conference this winter for, though Frank Cole, six foot four center, is the only returning letterman, the new coach, Norman Ladd, has four other rangy lettermen for a team averaging over six feet . . . Dick Scott at Antioch also has five lettermen for basketball, but they lack the height of the Ela lads.

Palatine High has started wrestling as an interscholastic sport this year and is looking for matches for the coming season. John Ellis, former Geneva high star and Northwestern university letterman, will coach the Pirates in their new sports venture.

Jerry Schuetz, 185 pound guard, was voted most valuable player by his Ela-Vernon team mates . . . Bob Stockinger, senior end, got the honor a year ago in his junior year. Both have their names engraved on a trophy donated by Harold Geise.

Gerry Herrmann, Palatine's track and cross country captain last year, has won a varsity letter in cross country at DePauw university as a freshman.

Three Veterans To Carry Cage Hopes For Downers Grove

by BUD BOOTH

Downers Grove hopes in West Suburban league basketball competition this winter will be built around three returning lettermen, Coach Guy Wellman reported this week. They are forwards Carl McCullom and Ron Billingsley and guard Jack Dee. All three are seniors.

McCullom ranked third among Trojan scorers in conference play last season with a record of 38 baskets and 36 free throws for 122 points. Most missed will be graduates Bob Lyons, Jim Lake and Paul Fister, who accounted for 460 of the 676 points accumulated by the entire Downers team in 14 league encounters last season.

THREE RETURNING varsity members and a trio of hopeful juniors are fighting for the vacated positions. Center Keith Hodgen, forward Berry Crawley and guard Dave Lauchle, all seniors, are the veterans. The newcomers are juniors Don Extrom and Tom Rolando, both forwards, and John Bertotti, a guard.

The Trojans will have to make up what they lack in height with speed and deception. The tall members, both under six feet, two inches, are Billingsley and Hodgen. Crawley and Rolando are a straight six feet while the others all stand below this height. Bertotti is the shortest at five feet, nine inches.

The Trojans, who finished second in West Suburban play with a nine and five record, wound up with an overall season's mark of 12 victories and 10 defeats in the 1951-52 campaign. They open this season at home against Naperville November 26.

THE BALANCE of their schedule is as follows:

*November 28—Bloom township at home.
December 5—Riverside, there.
December 12—Hinsdale, there.
December 19—York at home.
December 20—Maine at home.
January 9—LaGrange, there.
January 10—Glenbard at home.
January 16—Arlington at home.
*January 17—West Aurora, there.
January 23—Riverside at home.
January 30—Hinsdale at home.
February 6—York, there.
February 11—Maine, there.
February 13—LaGrange at home.
February 20—Glenbard, there.
February 27—Arlington, there.
*February 28—Joliet at home.
*—Non-conference game.

Haseman Truckers, Paddock Tourney Champs, Lose Out At Both Palatine And Wheeling

Proof that Haseman Truckers bowling aggregation, defending champions in the forthcoming Inter-League Handicap, are not supreme was shown Friday and Saturday nights, both at Palatine and at Wheeling.

Friday night Dreyer Electric replaced the Truckers in first place in the Palatine House league by a half game. Another half game back is Cork & Bottle fivesome.

Saturday night the Truckers lost in a special match at Wheeling Bowling Lanes with Carmi's Tavern five copping the contest, 2762 to 2574. Hasemans opened ahead of the parade, 917 to 908, then fell behind, 969-830 and 885-857.

High men in the match were Hahnfeldt for Hasemans with 550 and Cackle for Carmi's with 570.

THE TOURNAMENT, slated for Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes Sunday, January 4, will include first place teams of all local men's leagues as of December 13. Other half of the fracas will be the ladies division at Bowlwood Recreation, Wood Dale, Sunday, January 11, between first place teams of all ladies leagues as of December 20.

Posters and entry blanks have been distributed to all local alleys with league secretaries scanning them for general rules. Team entry fees of $15 per team in both divisions will be divided equally between expenses and prize funds with twelve trophies to be distributed.

For the men there will be about $200 in prizes distributed and $150 distributed in the women's division, depending on the number of leagues participating.

At Orchestra Hall

A photographer-artist who is also a famous world traveler, Clifford Kamen, brings to Orchestra Hall Monday evening, November 17, his latest color film of Guatemala.

The film itself has been recognized as one of the outstanding examples of color photography. The subject, Guatemala — land of eternal Spring — lends itself admirably to the medium.

Kamen considers this his best work.

The world premiere of a work by one of America's foremost composers, Roy Harris, will be performed by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at its concerts at Orchestra Hall next week, under the baton of Rafael Kubelik.

The new work, Symphony No. 7, in Harris' own words, "is virtually tailor-made for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra."

Irmgard Seefried, leading soprano of the Vienna opera, who was given an ovation at her recent appearances with the Chicago symphony orchestra, will make her recital debut at Orchestra Hall Monday evening, November 24.

Crystal Lake Tips Woodstock To Tie Broncs

Coming from behind in the closing two minutes to capture a 14-12 verdict in a traditional North Suburban conference grid clash at Woodstock Friday, the Crystal Lake Tigers sent the championship Blue Streaks tumbling to their first 1952 defeat in the campaign finale for both teams.

This defeat snapped an eight-game conference winning streak for Guy Curtright's gridders and the victory enabled the visiting Tigers to finish in a second place tie with the Barrington Bronchos. Crystal Lake has yet to finish below second in any sport in five years of competition in the North Suburban.

THE WINNING touchdown was scored on a brilliant 24-yard run by Johnny Novotny, utility fullback filling in for injured Frank Burda, who is recuperating from a fractured shoulder suffered in a recent practice session. The winning drive was started from the visitors' 30 yard line and was aided by a costly 15-yard penalty charged against Woodstock.

Woodstock scored on a short pass from Jack Weinke to Jerry Curtright in the last 41 seconds of the opening half to grab a 6-0 halftime lead, but the Tigers moved ahead early in the third quarter, when Mickey Kahmholz scored on a reverse and then plunged for the extra point.

An 84 yard drive, climaxed by Gene Martine's off tackle smash, put the Blue Streaks back in command, 12-7 early in the 4th period, but it wasn't enough to withstand the belated thrust by the Tigers.

Ela Second Again In Northwest Grid

Ela-Vernon's football team coached by Bill Lehmann finished second in the Northwest conference for the second time. This year the margin was only by a tie game. Ela had the edge in ground gaining against every team in the circuit in spite of a tie with Grayslake and a loss to Palatine. Against Grayslake the yardage total was Ela-Vernon 203, Grayslake 159 while the Bears gained 210 to Palatine's 125. Strangely enough Bensenville's winless Bisons gained the most yardage of any Ela-Vernon opponents.

Ela's best games on the ground were against Bensenville 165 yards and Grayslake 137 yards. Their best defense was holding Antioch and Grant to 77 yards each. In the passing department Ela gained 207 at Antioch and 125 against Palatine. Ela's pass defense worked best against their top rivals. Wauconda gained only 12 yards on passes and Palatine none in the games with Ela-Vernon.

Ela completed 54 passes in 88 attempts for a 61% average while their opponents hit 25 out of 76 for 33%. Ela had a total yardage of 1,497 to opponents' 831 in seven games. Glen Chaffin, junior end, punted 18 times for an average of 42.7 yards believed to be the best average in the conference.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
EDWARD J. BARRETT
Secretary of State

Many traffic accidents involving pedestrians could be avoided if the pedestrians would obey one of the basic state laws governing pedestrian traffic—cross streets only at intersections or at marked crosswalks.

Illinois traffic laws grant the right-of-way to pedestrians at all intersections and in marked crosswalks where traffic control signals are not placed or in operation. (Section 74, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic.) Motorists are required to slow down or stop to let pedestrians pass in those places. But the motorists have the right of way in the middle of the block, and the pedestrian who crosses the street there is simply asking for trouble.

Having the right-of-way, however, is not a substitute for caution. Pedestrians don't, as a rule, come out best in physical contact with automobiles, and while the knowledge that you were right may be consoling while you are recuperating, it won't ease the pain or reduce the doctor's bill. And remember, when you park your car and step out of it, you become a pedestrian. Be sure you are the kind of pedestrian you like to encounter when you are driving.

A copy of the booklet, "Rules of the Road," containing many traffic safety suggestions, will be sent to you free upon request. Write to EDWARD J. BARRETT, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Illini Passes Set New Records

Illinois, the team that has utilized air attack all season, hit its peak Saturday against Iowa and broke five Big Ten passing records.

The 322 yards which the Illini gained passing broke the old single-game mark of 312 established by Ohio State in 1946. The rest of the record performances were by individuals.

Quarterback Tommy O'Connell, third-ranking passer in the nation prior to the Iowa contest, broke the Big Ten completions record. Tommy has connected on 78 passes in five games, two more than the record Wisconsin's John Coatta set over seven contests last season.

TOMMY'S 22 completions against the Hawks set a single-game mark. Otto Graham, Northwestern, and Lou D'Achille, Indiana, jointly owned the old record of 20.

The cool Chicago South Shore product also erased the old single game yardage record of 295. O'Connell's production at Iowa City totaled 306 yards.

End Rex Smith, senior who began catching O'Connell passes at South Shore, set a new mark with his 190 yards receiving. The old yardage Big Ten record, held by Northwestern's Max Morris, was 158.

O'Connell's 34 tosses at Iowa brought him within ten of Coatta's season record of 146. And Tommy needs just 95 more aerial yards to smash the conference mark for one season.

Illinois plays host to Ohio State Saturday.

National Sales Up

National Tea Co. sales for the four weeks ending November 1, 1952, amounted to $33,617,720 as compared with $28,220,265 for the corresponding period of 1951, an increase of 19.12%.

Sales for the year to date amounted to $332,586,606 as compared with $301,807,405 in 1951, an increase of 10.19%.

captain of his team. Punches, a junior, was outstanding as a passer. Jack Hook of Grayslake was very much in the running for the quarterback job and was the best little man in the league, weighing only 130 pounds.

GEORGE SUTKO, all-conference half back in 1951, was the only repeater. Sutko was a great competitor and a fast shifty runner who co-captained the Wauconda team to a fine season. Other backs secured few votes in comparison as every coach named Sutko to either the first or second team.

Tied for the other halfback position were two Palatine boys, Paul Schrage and Stan Hauseman. Hauseman, formerly of Northbrook, was a hard hitting 200 pound line smasher who was also the top punter of the conference. Schrage, all conference in basketball last year, was a consistent gainer and a good passer.

One of the top college prospects in the conference is Charles Bock, 210 pound Antioch fullback. Bock is fast, hits hard, and is a team leader. He was shot put champ of the conference as a sophomore. Bock was high scorer of the league with 36 points scoring one touchdown in each of six league games.

Don Torgerson, a 215 pound Grant giant, was fifth in the balloting for backs and gets the second team fullback post. Jack Ward, Grayslake's best scorer and most consistent ground gainer was sixth and Don Prouty, Ela's junior fullback, was seventh. They are given the second team half back positions.

A BOY DESERVING of at least an honorary first team position is Anthony Leonard of Grant who does nothing but kick the extra points. His toe decided two games in Grant's favor and he had a perfect record for the season of 12 goals in 12 tries.

The first team backfield averages 180 and the line 179 pounds. This combination may not have the outstanding stars of some other years' selections but would without doubt hold its own with any of the recent teams picked at the conclusion of Northwest Conference seasons.

Arlington Drops Final To Downers Grove

Arlington Heights high school gridders ran down the curtain on their second West Suburban league year Saturday, bowing to Downers Grove, 27-0, in a futile attempt to cop fourth place and land in the first division.

Downers Grove finished in fourth while Heights tied Riverside-Brookfield for sixth place. Last year Arlington, without a league win, finished last. This season the Cardinals won one, tied one, and dropped five in league play while gaining a split in two non-league tilts.

FOR ARLINGTON it was a badly bruised bunch of boys finishing out the season with some of them carrying on through sheer will power. Leading ache-and-painer for the locals was Dick Winterbauer, who suffered torn ligaments in his shoulder on a second quarter play. From then on it was Johnny Eakins and Charles Turk at quarterback.

Other injuries included a badly bruised eye for Clyde Harting, bloody nose for John Glueckert, and a wrenched back for Alan Hoth.

IN A GAME featuring several boys who had been down with the flu during the week, Charles Verret looked particularly good at defensive end for the Cardinal and White.

Downers Grove scored twice in the second quarter, including a blocked kick for a touchdown, once in the third and once in the fourth. Carrying ball for the winners on these four occasions were Jack Dee twice, Gordon Cich and Robert Dee.

A RUNBACK of a kickoff by Downers Grove spelled defeat and fourth place for Coach John Ligon's frosh-sophs. The second year men had been leading, 7-6, but lost, 13-7.

Downers drew first blood the opening half on a 30 yard pass play to the two yard line, then going over. Halftime tally was 6-0.

Arlington then rolled 70 yards, mostly on the ground, including Wayne Brumm's 40 yard dash. Dick Kyska went across from the seven for the TD. He also tallied the extra point on the same play.

THEN CAME that kickoff when Heights sophomores converged on the center of the field and Downers tallied its runback TD. The Cards were on the Downers 20 when the game ended. Rest of the game was played near the middle of the field.

The local frosh-sophs ended the season with a 4-3 mark in league play and split two non-league affairs.

Basketball, Wrestling Clinic At Illinois

Dr. Forrest Allen of Kansas, Harry Combes of Illinois, Ralph Allan of James Millikin, and Russ Ahearn, coach of Hebron's Illinois prep champions are headline speakers for the annual Illinois state high school coaches basketball clinic November 28-29 in Huff gymnasium, Champaign.

The clinic program, sponsored jointly by Illinois high school coaches association and U. of I. athletic association, has been moved from its traditional December date to provide instruction to prep mentors early in the high school campaign.

The clinic opens at 1 p. m. November 28 with Saturday sessions, November 29, beginning at 9 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Wrestling coaches of Illinois high schools will hold a special two-day clinic in gymnasium annex at University of Illinois Friday and Saturday, November 28 and 29, B. R. Patterson, Illini wrestling coach, announced.

Jack Riley, coach at Northwestern, Bill Smith, Olympic 160-pound champion and now coach at Rock Island high school, headline the chart of speakers for the program.

The national Democratic landslide affected the local county candidates. Only two Republicans were successful carrying Peter Hoffman for commissioner and McCormick for president of board. The present commissioners and the county country towns including William Busse of Mt. Prospect were defeated by the Progressives to the surprise of both the Republicans and Democrats.

Herman Hitzeman, Schaumburg, sold two Holstein cows for $100 each, a good bargain.

Herman Scharringhausen of Schaumburg is moving to Mount Prospect where he will be employed as butter and cheese maker in the new factory at $80.00 a month.

William Bunge and Miss Bertha Wulff, Itasca, were married October 31.

Palatine Athletic club elected as officers, William G. Ost, president; William Williams, vice-president; Charles A. Ost, secretary; C. E. Julien, treasurer; C. Niedert and Herman Weseman, directors.

The Chicago and Northwestern is the best, most important and up-to-date railroad on the globe. If appealed to in the right manner, they will meet any enterprise in the right way and would like to see the best along their lines prosper.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

The older I get, and the more I see, the more I am convinced that often the length of a married individual's life is limited by the circumstances of his marriage.

I believe, without medical confirmation of any sort and at the danger of seeming foolish that in some cases I have known where one of the partners died at middle age or before, the basic cause was not heart failure, drunkeness and dissipation, tuberculosis, cancer, or other diseases. The basic cause was a broken heart from years of incompatibility with one's partner.

It is true that sorrow maketh a strong heart, but it is equally true that a nagging, domineering, whining or bitter partner can bring a partner's head down "in sorrow to the grave."

IT ALL adds up: A nagging wife, nervousness, nervous energy taken away from vital organs, poor digestion, stomach ulcers, cancer, death; a domineering husband, fear, nervousness, decreased vitality and resistence to disease, failure of vital functions, disappointment, dispair, death; a selfish and demanding wife, overwork, a feeling of inferiority, nervousness, futility, ill health, suicide, or heart trouble, death; an overly jealous husband or one who hates his wife's family; lonesomeness; distraction — being pulled in two directions at once, arguing and fighting, nervousness, a feeling of futility, or death as a result of nerve devitalization and physical failure to resist disease.

If you don't care for your partner, then by all means try it out. Maybe by 15 or 20 years of selfishness, unjust jealousy, lack of consideration, domineering, and just mean orneryness, you can shorten his or her life by five, ten or more years.

BUT IF you love your wife or husband and want him or her to keep alive, then through kindness and consideration you may lengthen his or her life just as much or more.

Most early deaths are the result of natural, unavoidable causes. I only say that observation and common sense would seem to indicate that lack of consideration and understanding is often a basic cause of physical, spiritual and nervous weakness which enables disease to take an earlier toll.

• THE PEOPLE SPEAK

The dust has begun to settle from the big election, the people have spoken, and what a thunderous voice they did speak with when they finally got steamed up enough to blow off. The loudness of their voice was a surprise alike to winner and loser.

One fellow expressed it in good shape when he said "The American people are slow to anger but when they do once get mad, wow, what a result."

The election was productive of some outstanding results besides the election of the winning candidates. For one thing, it showed that the people would turn out and vote when they really thought the nation was in danger.

It showed that the labor bosses had no real control over the union men's vote when it came to a real showdown. It repudiated "little Harry" in a loud and decisive manner from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico.

It showed that even the solid south could be broken when the issue of country versus communism or socialism became a real issue. It threw out of the window all further consideration of socialized medicine and the Brannan farm plan both of which would have made dupes and slaves of a large segment of our population. All in all, the result of that election was a wholesome thing for the country.

Twenty years ago the people wanted a change and they got it, this year, not content with all the results of the last 20 years of experimentation and new ideas, new theories and isms, they again wanted a change and they got it.

The American people can be trusted it seems to throw out the anchor when the ship of state gets into troubled seas that threaten the basic foundations of the nation, and with this balance wheel in the possession of the people, it won't pay any administration now or in the future to get too far off the American beam. If they do, along will come another landslide and put them back on the track.

Doc Moore over there at the depot says he doesn't see how we can call the recent debacle a landslide, but we don't see how it can be called anything else. Doc thinks it was really close in popular vote, of course, maybe six or seven million doesn't look like big figures to a fellow that sees all those big numbers on box cars rolling past his windows all the time.

• HUNTING SEASON

The pheasant, quail and rabbit season opened Tuesday unless there was a last minute postponement of the opening due to the danger of forest and grass fires.

Some states have put off the opening of the upland game season because of the long fall drought that this part of the country has experienced this fall. Duck hunters have been reporting some good bags during the past few weeks although some of the boys chased way down the river and then didn't even get a chance to do any shooting because of the rough water.

Roy LaLonde says that geese are too wise, it seems that Roy and a hunting partner spotted some geese in the darkness of an early morning foray into the swamps along the Kankakee river. It wasn't time to shoot until 6:11, so the boys waited patiently for the zero hour so they could go into action. At promptly 6:10, the geese rose from the water and sailed away. "The blame things can tell time" says Roy.

• FEBRUARY 1ST

People who have been watching all this fine fall weather pass away without the roof being put on the new high school gym are wondering if the contractor is going to meet that February 1st completion date that he gave the school board several weeks ago.

The school has shifted its basketball schedule around so as to play most of the home games late in the season, hoping that the new gym would be ready and that some of the public could see the games. As it is now, the old gym isn't big enough to accommodate the school's student body at the games to say nothing of the hundreds of loyal fans who annually follow the team.

And all this fine fall weather has been going by and no activity around that open roof. Is it any wonder folks are beginning to wonder about that February 1st completion date?

• RABBITS FEET

It's a long ways to the opening of Arlington Park next June 16 or thereabouts, but we are going to be well supplied with good luck charms for that opening.

We met coach Dick Welty the other day and he tells us that he is going to turn all of his football rabbits feet over to us for use at the track next summer. It seems Dick won't be needing them in football next fall as he has asked to be relieved on the football coaching job and he's had a championship track team for so long that he doesn't think he needs any good luck charms to keep up his boy's winning ways in that sport.

Football, says Dick, is getting to be too much of a nerve wracker, and after years of it, he wants to get out and have a more peaceful existence. Dick was always a great worrier and we're afraid he'll be lost with no big subject to worry about but he'll probably enjoy the experience just the same.

He won't have to do any heavy worrying about that track team as playground director he might start to worry about ice for that skating pond, but then as Dick says, "Maybe there won't be any ice this winter." So it looks as if the old worrier were going to flop into a life of peaceful relaxation and enjoyment, content as far as football is concerned to bask in the glories and memories of the past.

And meanwhile we'll give Dick the use of those rabbits feet out at Arlington next summer.

• CROW MEAT

This column's election remarks would not be complete without a tribute to our good friend, Charles Hufnagel, the democratic leader among the employees of that Republican newspaper, Paddock Publications.

A week before election, Huf was so certain that the Demos would win that he issued a printed invitation to a turkey dinner in celebration of his expected victory.

We just received a phone call from him notifying us that crow meat would be substituted for turkey. The Democratic victory dinner is off, but Charley admitted to the writer that he would eat Thanksgiving Republican turkey November 27.

That is the nearest we have ever been able to get Huf to admit that Republicanism has good points.

Of course, we hate to miss that dinner, but even a turkey dinner isn't worth four more years of little Harry's influence in government. It's worth going on a long fast to get rid of that spawn of the rottenest political machine in American history — even Huf's turkey couldn't make up for having to live with that four years more.

"You just have to be careful how you pick them up-always with the grain!"

Although rated in the zoology as insectivores, theese hedgehogs also eat worms, small rodents, snakes, lizards, roots, fruits and eggs. At the zoo they get chopped meat, insects and a vegetable plate.

Blood Rumors

Two fallacies have developed concerning the Red Cross drive for blood which should be corrected:

(1) The Red Cross had sold blood to South America.

(2) Why don't the boys in training give blood?

Perhaps they account partially for the apathy of many Arlington Heights and Palatine citizens toward this vital activity (in a two week period only 175 contributions with an objective of 600!)

Following are excerpts of a letter from Mr. Geo. L. Jorgensen, administrator, Chicago defense blood program which should correct these current misunderstandings. He has granted permission for publication:

"Dear Mr. Vawter:

In your letter of October 28, 1952 you say you were appalled at the small number of people in the Arlington Heights area who donated blood. So were we! I believe that the people of this community are just as willing to give blood as any other area.

"Unfortunately, there are some thoughtful citizens who do not fully understand the role of Red Cross in the defense blood program. The program was established and is maintained by the department of defense and is under the policy guidance of the armed forces medical committee. By request of the department of defense, the American Red Cross agreed to serve as the sole collection agency for whole blood voluntarily contributed by American citizens to the defense blood program. All blood collected in the Chicago area by the Chicago chapter is turned over immediately to the armed forces for direct shipment to Korea or for processing into plasma.

"Our specific rumor which you mentioned was the allegation the Red Cross had sold blood to South America. The source of this rumor was the sale of blood plasma by Sharpe and Dohme, a pharmaceutical house at West Point, Pa., to the Argentine government. This plasma had been processed for sale by Sharpe and Dohme for blood purchased from professional donors, a commercial procedure long established by that firm. When this story appeared on the press wire services, confusion arose among many people who immediately identified anything concerning blood and blood plasma with the well-publicized Armed Forces Blood Donor Program for which the Red Cross is the collection agency. The true facts have been made public many times, but have never been able to overtake this false rumor. Let me state — emphatically, that the American Red Cross has never sold blood to the Armed Forces, to civilians, to hospitals, to South America, or to any other agent or individual. It does not and could not and would not.

"The prompt administration of blood and blood plasma has been directly responsible for saving thousands of lives — in Korea. It is estimated that an average of 2½ pints of blood and 2 pints of plasma have been issued for every hospitalized Korean war casualty. Since it takes 3 pints of blood to make a pint of plasma, this is an average of 8½ pints of whole blood needed to care for every hospitalized Korean war casualty.

"Your second question relative to 'Why don't the boys in training give blood —?'

"Our young men are preparing to go to Korea — under conditions where many will die and many will be injured or crippled for life —. I would like to tell anyone who can give a pint of blood under conditions of perfect safety and without pain what my opinion is of him if he wants to turn over the job of giving blood to these patriotic young men'

"Despite this our young men in the service are giving their blood. We have a regular schedule of collecting blood at O'Hare Field, Fort Sheridan, Fifth Army, Glenview naval air base, National Guard units, the naval ordinance and other defense units. Our young men are doing their full share both in the armed services and in donating blood for their future needs.

"Quotas for blood are set by the department of defense. The national quota is 250,000 pints per month. Chicago chapter's share of this overall quota is 15,000 pints per month. In June, blood collected in the Chicago Area totalled 4,639 pints, in July, 3,462 pints, and in August, only 2,671 pints. From these figures alone, it is obvious how imperative it is that everything possible be done to encourage citizens to donate blood so that we may meet our obligations to the Armed Forces."

Not one of us would hesitate to donate blood to a friend. Why should we be any different under present conditions? Other than personal donations of blood, I have no obligations to the Red Cross in accomplishing their program. This letter is submitted only to present the true facts and stimulate, if possible, blood donations by able-bodied citiens of this community. It's surprising how simple and painless the process is.

Paul Vawter,
Arlington Heights.

Guilt Complex

Some of L. E. Truxell's articles are most interesting although I do not always agree and especially with this weeks article on "guilt complex."

There may be many cases such as he relates but taken as a whole in this present age the modern trend is to a serious lack of guilt consciousness. Witness the mass corruption in high places, politics and high divorce rates percentage in our country. We need to return to the old-fashioned moral concepts of yester-year.

This tendency to laxness calls "sin" error. While it is true "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God," Rom. 3:23, a truly redeemed Christian is not happy in sinning. He is bound to have a guilty conscience until he has asked forgiveness, and is restored into right relationship with God. A Christian who doubts his forgiveness, is doubting God's power, goodness and love.

Those who have not accepted the Lord as personal Saviour cannot know "the peace that passeth all understanding." "Therefore, being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ," Rom. 5:1.

Homeless Kittens

I am a nurse at the Arlington Heights rest home. Five kittens have either been born or thrown in the vacant lot next door. They are now half grown. I feed them milk and water every day, but with the c old weather coming on I am afraid they will freeze.

I wonder if there are some kind hearted people who would each take one. We wouldn't have to call the humane society. The kittens are so sweet, cute and pretty I would like to see them live. They may be hard to catch, but someone could certainly do it. How about it?

Look for sleek suitings and marvelously textured tweeds in many of the new suits. These are made warm enough for comfort, but they lack bulk, they're snug under coats and give slender, flowing lines.

✦ Just Around The Corner ✦

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

We shall be leaving Indianapolis tomorrow and I guess I can't help feeling mixed emotions about it. It's always hard to leave mother, my dearest friend, and the home of my childhood, but it's good to get back to my very own home and family and, again, see all our friends and take up my daily routine.

Whenever I visit for a while, mother and her sister, my aunt Dot, always have a few special things planned for me to do. This time we had tickets for the "Hollywood Ice Revue." It was held in the Coliseum, a massive building seating many thousands of people, inside the Indiana state fair grounds.

ALTHOUGH I'VE SEEN several ice shows, I really could enjoy seeing one every year, for the beauty is so spectacular and extravagant, that it is difficult to carry the full impression of it with you for very long. To see this sort of show is to believe that it never could be more beautiful, and each year it is!

Barbara Scott was pretty, young and graceful as she became a tango dancer, an enchanted doll and an autumn flower. However, I felt that the more talented skaters were Andra McLaughlin, a fiery, fast, twirling skater and Carol Lynne, a lovely, dark-haired ballerina on ice. Of course, the clown, Freddie Trenkler, was on hand to give his usual polished and amusing acts and Skippy Baxter, a many time championship winner, was outstanding as the pale grey "wind," rushing around and through the group of vivid, autumn "leaves," scattering them to and fro over the ice.

THE SHOW with its magnificent costuming, clever choreography and abounding talent was sheer joy to watch, from the orchestra's overture to the entire-company-finale.

We also obtained tickets for Cornelia Otis Skinner's solo performance, "Paris '90." Really, Peg, I don't know when I have been so impressed with the ability and versatility of an actress. How easily she slid into each new characterization of people either living in or visiting Paris during the nineties.

When the curtain opened, she appeared as a long-skirted, white-capped French governess, strolling across the stage and pushing a quaint, wicker baby carriage. I was especially impressed by her monologue, during this scene, about the wheels of the many different kinds of vehicles which she was "watching" pass along the boulevard—bicycle wheels—wheels of the swift, "wealthy" carriages—sad, slow wheels of a funeral procession.

As the "governess" watched, the carriage of a fashionable Parisienne came by and in the next scene, we found Miss Skinner in the role of the "Fashionable Parisienne." In this way, each character seeing or speaking of the one to follow, there was a thread of continuity running through the entire performance.

TO ME, the most hilariously funny of her portrayals was that of "The New Woman"— a young, English woman, completely absorbed by the latest philosophy of women's equality with men (evidenced by, the mannish oxfords, knickers, bow tie and straw "sailor!"). The young lady and her French fiance are vigorously riding their tandem bicycle. Upon reaching their destination, the sight of a large balloon, emblazoned with the word "Britannia," is too much for the poor, confused Freshman and he hurries off, leaving "the new woman" to board alone and head for "jolly, old England." As the curtain fell, Miss Skinner and the balloon were actually wafting skyward!

Most unusual, wistful and subtle in its humor was her representation of a stone angel, standing in a niche in a portal of Notre Dame. To the stone saints standing near, she speaks softly of the moonlighted Seine River, which she can see from her pedestal, and of the people inside the many, lighted windows, also of the gargoyles' impressions of the tourist-season-at-Notre Dame.

THE MOST POIGNANT was her characterization of a gentle, Jewish mother speaking to her young son (who has been beaten by a group of boys) of love and hatred. Because at this time Paris is feverishly involved in the case of Captain Dreyfus, she makes reference to this and fervently prays for the return of "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" to the French people.

"Paris '90" was a collection of brilliant gems which I treasure as certainly among the most precious of my theatre-going experience. Do see it, Peg; I know you will agree with me.

My love,
Patty

Weekly Recipe

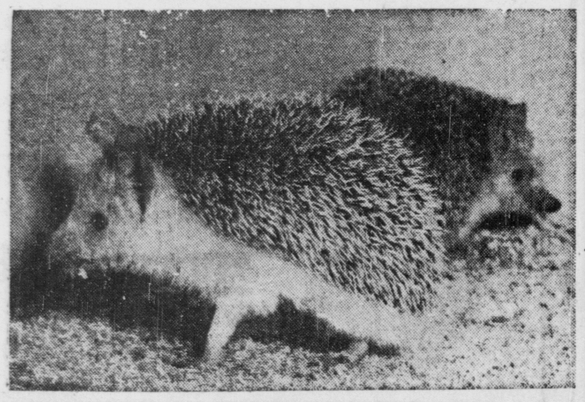
Fruit cake is not only a delicacy, but is nutritious as well. My recipe this week will tell you how to make White Fruit Cake. It keeps well, and is most popular during this season of the year.

White Fruit Cake

1 cup sugar
½ cup butter
1 cup milk
2½ cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 egg whites
1 cup blanched almonds
1-8 oz. bottle red cherries
1-8 oz. bottle green cherries
2 lbs. white raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla

Method: Cream the butter — add sugar. Drain the cherries and cut into small pieces. Cut the almonds in fourths, and add the raisins. Mix all fruits with ½ cup of the flour. Sift the remaining flour with the baking powder. Add the baking powder and flour mixture alternately with the milk. Add the fruit, nut mixture. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry and carefully fold into the mixture. Bake 5 minutes in an oven at 300 degrees.

Abdul And Hassan Animals Of The Month



Abdul and Hassan, the Lincoln Park zoo's African desert hedgehogs, have taken over as "animals of the month" for November, according to zoo director R. Marlin Perkins.

The two walking pincushions, who arrived at the zoo early this year, are settling down nicely to a routine of one show a day (all day) for room and board, Perkins said. He continued:

"These animals come from a very old family, dating back to pre-historic times. Although their only insurance against winding up as meals for enterprising predators are their prickly coats of short, stiff spines, their trick of rolling up into pin-cushion-like balls at the first sign of danger has enabled the species to survive to this day."

Perkins insisted that Abdul and Hassan are perfectly sociable in their contacts with the zoo staff.

Public Service Now Uses Radar To Spot Breaks In Power Line

Radar equipment is now being used by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to locate points of damage in high voltage transmission lines.

Developed by engineers of Public Service and the Commonwealth Edison companies, the new equipment, known as a radar fault locator, can help pinpoint a damaged spot in an overhead transmission line or an underground cable in a matter of minutes.

The two utilities, which furnish electricity in Chicago and more than 500 other communities in the northern part of the state, now have seven sets of the radar fault locators. A set weighs less than 100 pounds and can be transported in a light truck or even a passenger car.

THE RADAR equipment operates like that used by the army and navy for detecting airplanes or other objects, except that its impulses travel over transmission wires instead of over air waves.

When a fault develops in a transmission line and the location of the trouble is not known, the fault locator is attached to one of the terminals of the line in a substation or generating station and the impulse travels to the point of damage then returns to the point of sending. The intricate device translates the time taken for the impulse to go out and return into distance and enables the operator to measure the approximate location of the fault. Workmen are then dispatched to repair the damage.

Heretofore it has been necessary to locate a fault in an overhead line by patrolling the line and finding the spot by visual observation.

LOCATING DAMAGE in an underground line has been more difficult. Electro-mechanical devices have been used but they were time-consuming. In cases of complete breaks in the cable, they were of no value. In such cases it has been necessary up to this time to cut the middle of the cable at a manhole and test it in both directions and continue these cuts until the fault is located. Under this time-consuming and costly method, as many as seven cuts might be required to isolate the damaged section.

The two utilities have the radar equipment stationed at locations where it is handy to most of the transmission lines. Two are located in Chicago, and the others at Joliet, Maywood, Dixon, Kewanee and Pekin. Those at Pekin and Kewanee are chiefly for use on the intricate network of 138,000-volt overhead lines supplying the area southwest of Chicago and, if needed, could be used also on the 147-mile long, 230,000-volt line connecting Powerton generating station at Pekin with Crawford station in Chicago.

THE UTILITIES' engineers developed the present model after three years of experimenting with pilot models. Recently the latest model was turned over to a parts manufacturer and six duplicates were made. The manufacturer was given the privilege of producing additional sets for use by other utilities in the country.

While radar has been used for several years on overhead transmission lines the application to underground cable is relatively new. It is particularly valuable in some of the more congested areas where most of the heavy transmission lines are underground. The models now in use here were developed to fit the needs of the overhead and underground lines of the local system.

The Commonwealth Edison—Public Service system has approximately 4,000 miles of heavy transmission line ranging from 34,500 volts to 230,000 volts.

Foaming Ability

A little-known quality of licorice is the ability of liquid in which it has been processed to foam. Much of the foaming material in fire extinguishers is made from licorice by-products.

Can Control Silverfish With DDT Dust, Spray

Spraying or painting infested places with a 2 per cent solution of D T will help to control silverfish this winter.

G. C. Decker, entomologist in the Illinois natural history survey, suggests that the best places to put the DDT are behind radiators, along the edges of the walls and in other places where you find the insects.

Spray or paint around pipes or other damp spots in the kitchen bathroom or basement, in closets, under the rafters, among boxes and magazines stored in the basement and around the heating unit. The treatment is also effective under the shelving paper of your cupboards or in your bureau drawers if you find the insects there chewing on your best nylons.

ACTUALLY, silverfish are only one of the different species of bristle-tail insects, Decker says. Three other types that look much like the silverfish are commonly found indoors in Illinois. They are the firebrat, the silver firebrat and the four-striped firebrat.

Main difference between them is that the silverfish prefer damp places, while the firebrats prefer warm, dry places. You'll usually find silverfish scurrying around your bathroom, kitchen or basement, while the similar insects in your bedroom, closets or attic are generally firebrats.

ALL FOUR of these insects feed on a wide variety of materials, including flour, paste, dust, glue, sizing in books, wallpaper and fabrics and starch in clothing. They cut the fibers and damage the material when they feed on the starch and sizing in fabrics.

You can control all of these pests with the same DDT treatment, the entomologist says.

Hog Cholera Is Threat

What are your chances of losing hogs from hog cholera if they haven't been vaccinated?

Too great to take the risk, as several Illinois farmers have found out. A Rock Island swine raiser recently lost 17 hogs to hog cholera. A McDonough county farmer lost 16 market-weight hogs, and a Champaign county farmer lost 8 market-weight hogs and 5 sows. Other hog cholera outbreaks are being reported.

Dr. G. T. Woods of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine says it's losses like these that soon take the profit out of swine production.

To protect your pigs against hog cholera, have them vaccinated against the disease at about weaning time. Young pigs are cheaper to vaccinate than hogs, and they're much easier to handle. But if your hogs haven't been vaccinated, you'd better have it done. Hogs that die from cholera aren't the kind that put money in the bank.

Record Cow

ith 733 pounds of butterfat and 17,013 pounds of milk testing 4.3% to her credit, Winlane Princess Ty Vic, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Martin Loeber, Palatine, has completed a 347-day production test in official advanced registry.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 3 years 11 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 23 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

NEWS FOR THE FARMER

Carl F. Mees — Adviser and Editor

There's No Stopping Progress . . .

So Farmers Go Industrial in Big Way

Dreams do come true these days when science goes to work for the farmer.

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

An editor challenged us the other day to put our finger on the farmer shown in a group photograph of farm and non-farm business men. We guessed wrong, and so did everyone else who saw the picture. The editor got across his point. There isn't any difference. They're all business men.

Farming is as much of an industry as a city factory. No longer is electric power the novelty it once was. And farmers are putting it to work in a variety of ways. Also, they are reaching out for additional uses—all calculated to further the industrialization of their chores. Here are some of the new electrical applications—some still on the drawing board; others close to the production stage:—

Tramp iron detector-rejector—Metal in forage can cause "hardware sickness" in cows. To detect and eliminate such things as pieces of bailing wire and fencing in field forage harvester operations is a problem. It is being solved, however, by means of an electric unit located on the blower pipe of the harvester. The unit detects the metal in the air stream, opens a trap door in the pipe and ejects it.

Silage elevator—Blowing chopped forage into silos and mows is a heavy job which often requires tractor power. The same chore, however, may be done with newly developed, special type elevators operated by 5 hp. motors, according to tests still going on at an eastern agricultural college.

Pig battery brooder—A two-deck battery brooder has been developed to accommodate 20 pigs. It is equipped to feed the pigs synthetic sows' milk, and has a 10-compartment feed trough on each deck. Two 300-watt heating units provide the brooder with heat.

Tobacco grading lights—North exposure daylight is the only source of light considered suitable for the accurate job of grading tobacco. Obviously this job could not be done on cloudy days, or at night. At least that is the way it used to be. Recent tests in Virginia, however, have shown that proper daylight grading conditions can be duplicated—day and night—through the use of two-lamp fluorescent fixtures. One of the tubes in the fixture is a white lamp; the other is a daylight lamp.

And this is only the beginning. Experiments are going on across the country to provide farmers with the know-how and the equipment to help take some of the risks out of farming and place on the market the best in agricultural produce.

LAW on the FARM

Family contracts for transfer of farmland

When the legislature provided that persons could make wills disposing of their property, and that the property of persons who did not make wills would pass to heirs as designated in statutory rules of descent, it was trying to take care of only one problem — the disposition of one's property on death. Too many times a farm property distribution coming this late does not help the children very much, creates problems among the heirs and neglects any evidences of earlier interest on the part of a son or daughter in operating and acquiring the home place.

Following are some things a farm property owner can do during his or her lifetime to help the heirs and improve the probability that the farm will be maintained as a productive unit:

1. THE INTERESTED heir may be taken into the enterprise on a profit-sharing basis where a sufficient volume of farm business can be built up. If this arrangement proves satistacftory, then a contract for the transfer of all or a part of the farm to the heir may be prepared. The ancestor can reserve any rights necessary to insure some income to the parents, and to bind the heir to make settlements with the other children over a period of years. An interesting form for such a contract has been prepared in the Department of Agriculture Economics at the University of Illinois. It incorporates the idea of flexible payments by the purchasing heir, based on the index of land values at particular times during the life of the contract.

2. The interested heir may take the farm as a tenant when the ancestor is able to get along with a landlord's share of income from the farm or has other means of support or other enterprises in which he is engaged. Under this plan a deed may be made to the renting heir, transferring title to him but reserving a life estate in the ancestor, or the contract plan may be used.

3. IF THE owner dies without having made a disposition of the farm and there are a number of children taking undivided interests, they may agree on a settlement, with title going to an heir and payments going to the others. This too may be worked out through a contract containing a flexible payment feature.

One of the advantages of an ancestor's making a disposition prior to death is that it is apt to avoid the bitter feelings and sentiments which seem so frequently to arise when the heirs have to work things out among themselves.

There's No Magic In Use Of UREA

The rather widespread publicity given to beef cattle supplements containing urea has led some people to ask whether urea is necessary in supplements fed with low-quality roughages, such as corncobs and corn stalks. The following statements may help to answer some questions on this subject:

1. Urea is used only because it is a cheap source of nitrogen. It contains no magic substance which helps livestock use roughage. Bacteria in the paunch of ruminants can use the nitrogen in urea and change it into protein which the animal can use. Non-ruminants, such as hogs and chickens, cannot use urea as can sheep and cattle.

2. UREA CONTAINS about 6 to 7 times as much nitrogen as does cottonseed meal. Therefore it has a "protein potential" 6 to 7 times that of cottonseed meal. Urea contains nothing else of value to the animal, while natural protein sources, such as cottonseed meal or soybean meal, are also good sources of other digestible nutrients used by animals. Therefore, 7 pounds of cottonseed meal is equal to 1 pound of urea plus 6 to 7 pounds of corn.

3. Urea is toxic and unpalatable when fed in too large amounts. It must always be thoroughly mixed with the rest of the ration to be safe to feed.

4. At the present time, urea is not available to farmers but can be purchased only by formula feed manufacturers.

Sees Bright Outlook For Cattle Feeders

A farm marketing expert has words of encouragement and caution as he predicts the coming year for cattle feeders, hog raisers and grade A milk producers.

Here are the outlooks by Francis A. Kutish of Iowa State college as reported in the November issue of Capper's Farmer.

1. "Cattle feeding programs for the next year should be on a money-making basis if feeders count on a $30 top for choice fat steers next summer. Unless cattle are bought right, profits must come from gains. That puts a premium on cutting feed costs.

"PROTEIN DEMAND again is likely to exceed supply. Prices of linseed, soybean and cottonseed meals will stay high. It should pay to replace them in part with urea * * * in commercial supplements."

Big build-up in numbers is the cattle industry's big problem, the national farm magazine report states. Total at start of 1952 was 88 million. The previous record was 85 million in 1945. There's likely to be a jump to 92 million, or more, at year's end.

"That means big marketings the next few years. So it will pay to keep a sharp eye on cattle projects."

2. "HOG PRICES should follow normal seasonal trends through the winter, Kutish says. Spring pig numbers in 1952 were 9 per cent under the previous year. Most of the cut was in March-to-May farrowings. Feeding margins in 1953 should be average. The 1953 spring crop should be up a little in the corn belt; down somewhat in the south and southwest.

3. "Grade A milk supplies are short throughout the country. They will continue so several years. Where a market is available, it will pay to make the changes required to obtain the higher prices grade A get."

Itasca Entry For Live Stock Show

Another entry has been received from DuPage county for the 53rd international live stock exposition.

Sunny Hill Farm, owned by J. B. Cook, breeder and feeder of purebred Berkshire swine, near Itasca, has entered 10 head in open class competition at the Chicago show.

Entries for individual classes for the show closed November 1. Although not yet tabulated, show officials report the volume of entries compares with peek past years and in some breeds may set new records. Entries for the carlot contests of cattle, sheep and hogs will close November 22, and the grain and hay show and horse show entries on November 10.

The exposition, topmost agricultural event of the nation, gets under way in the International Amphitheatre on November 29 for an eight-day run through December 6.

Convention Speaker

Dean emeritus H. P. Rusk of the University of Illinois college of agriculture will be the featured speaker at the marketing conference held as a part of the 38th annual meeting of the Illinois agricultural association.

Dean Rusk will speak on the subject, "An Appraisal of Illinois Farmers and Marketing Activities."

Several hundred farmers are expected to attend the marketing conference which will be at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, November 19, in the Century Room of the LaSalle hotel here.

Dean Rusk retired from his position with the College of Agriculture September 1 after serving the U. of I. since 1910. He is also well known for his work as the head of the Committee on Agriculture of the Committee on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government.

Erosion Ills Help Fix Farm Rotations Here

One of the biggest factors to help you determine what rotation to follow on your farm is whether or not you have an erosion problem.

W. N. Thompson and E. H. Tyner, University of Illinois college of agriculture, say that if erosion is a problem, you should grow enough grasses and legumes and follow other erosion control practices to control it.

On the other hand, if you do not have a serious erosion problem, you can select high-profit crops and follow a balanced fertility program that will get high yields throughout your rotation, Thompson and Tyner say.

EVERY FARMER seeks high earnings from his farming operation, these two men point out. Therefore he should choose a land-use program that will bring high earnings and yet maintain soil fertility and soil physical resources.

On some farms erosion control requires a high percentage of grass and legume crops to maintain the soil. This means less acres of high cash-income crops like corn and soybeans. Farmers on such land almost have to efficiently produce livestock to get highest earnings.

However, erosion is only a minor problem on millions of acres of Illinois soil. Farmers on this land can be grain farmers or livestock farmers as they choose. Strictly grain farmers have a wide choice of rotations to maintain soil fertility.

EXPERIMENTS AT the Urbana Experiment Station show that, to tell how profitable your rotation is, it is important to look at crop value for each acre during the entire rotation instead of just the first-year corn yield. On the level, productive soil at Urbana, a catch-crop rotation was more profitable than a standover legume rotation with corn at a higher yield level.

Fewer Layers In Prospect For '53

Economists of the U. S. department of agriculture estimate that poultrymen in this country will have 2 to 4 per cent fewer layers the first of next January than they had at the beginning of this year. Even allowing for some increase in the number of eggs per hen, the economists say it is unlikely that the increase will fully offset the decline in number of layers.

On the other hand, with a million and a half more people likely in this country next year compared with this, our folks may spend at least as much for food as they have this year. The demand for eggs will be good.

WITH FEWER eggs available, more people in the country, and employment and incomes running high, farmers will probably get better prices for their eggs next spring than the abnormally low prices they got last spring. But if the weather is more nearly normal next summer than the hot summer this year, egg prices probably won't rise as sharply as they did in '52. What happens in the fall, of course, will depend a lot on how many pullets are added to the laying flocks.

Higher springtime egg prices in '53 will tend to increase the number of chickens farmers will raise.

All in all, in 1953 poultrymen — especially egg producers — will get more income. They are likely to sell eggs at higher prices, while their cost will hold steady or rise only a little.

Dehorned Feeder Cattle More In Demand

Fat slaughter cattle without horns are in general a more readily saleable product and a better buy for the meat packer than cattle with horns. If bought with horns, calves and yearlings of good to choice quality which will be on the farm from now until next summer or fall should be dehorned. This chore can be done with ease and relative safety in late fall after flytime and before severe weather sets in.

Many feeders are experienced in dehorning cattle and do it regularly. A newcomer should secure the help of a veterinarian to be sure that the dehorning is properly done and that there is not excessive loss of blood.

Hornless or dehorned cattle require less shed space and less room at the feed bunk than horned cattle. They are also easier to load and ship, and they will not be discounted at the market for possible bruises and hide damage for which horned cattle must necessarily be discounted. Moreover, a group of fat cattle without horns are more attractive than similar cattle with heavy and unattractive horns.

More Glaze

To give home-baked rolls more glaze and less crustiness, use a slightly beaten egg white with one tablespoon of water beaten together, brushed on the rolls before baking.

Doghouse Fire, Stolen Car, Five Bandits All In A Night's Work For This Officer

Officer Ford of the Northbrook police department more than earned his salary early one morning recently — and with an empty stomach, too.

At 12:15, as he was making his rounds, he noted a fire on the Kretsch property at 821 Division st. Upon further investigation, he discovered "Fido's" house ablaze. The residence of man's best friend was saved with the help of a garden hose.

Continuing on his rounds the officer came upon a parked car which he recognized as stolen. Postponing his usual evening lunch, the hungry policeman took the car to a garage where the owner, Mrs. Maurice English of Glenview, was notified to claim it.

Before Officer Ford had another opportunity to break his fast, he received a call from the Highland Park police. Five men had robbed a gas station and were heading south on Route 41. Officer Ford intercepted the five, one of whom was armed.

By the time he had delivered the bandits into the custody of the Highland Park police, he discovered it was too late for his midnight lunch. He ate breakfast.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What should two persons do if introduced to each other for the second time?

A. If the occasion is a formal one, they both acknowledge the introduction and do not attempt any explanations that would be embarrassing to the person making the introduction. However, if the occasion is an informal one, it is all right to recall the previous meeting.

Q. At a widow's second marriage, her first husband being deceased, should she invite the family of her first husband?

A. Yes, indeed, if the relationship has always been pleasant. Furthermore, these people should make every effort to attend.

Q. How do men and women seat themselves in a restaurant that has sofa seats?

A. The women always sit against the wall (or partition), and the men sit on the chairs facing them.

Q. How does one properly remove the bones from a fish at the dinner table?

A. Lift the end of the bone with a fork, and then pinching it between the fork and the knife, lift it all the way out. In some stubborn cases you may have to use the fingers, and this is quite all right if you do not allow the fingers to touch the fish.

Q. When meeting college professors socially — for instance, entertaining them at tea — how does one address them, as "Professor" or "Mister"?

A. If he bears the title of Doctor, call him that; otherwise, call him "Professor." If he is an instructor, call him "Mister."

Q. Is it all right to write invitations to tea on one's visiting card?

A. Yes, this is quite all right.

Q. How is the public announcement of an engagement made?

A. This should be made by the parents of the bride-elect, and is done intimately by note, and publicly through the newspapers, and verbally to friends individually or collectively. Engraved announcements are not correct.

Q. Are women supposed to wear gloves to a formal dinner?

A. Yes, and they take them off at the table — entirely off. It is improper to leave them on the arm, merely turning back the hands.

Q. When one is served at the dinner table with a dish containing a fork and a spoon, in which hand should each be taken?

A. The fork in the right, and the spoon in the left.

Q. When does one properly take the napkin off the table and put it on one's lap?

A. As soon as one is seated.

CHRISTMAS CHEER

An easy way to spread Christmas cheer is to make a beach bag for that gal who in summer a-swimmin' goes. It will bring her cheer, won't cost you anything to make from a full-size 25-pound cotton flour bag, the National Cotton Council reports. Here's how: Rip bag, line with terry cloth, and bind edges with grosgrain ribbon one-inch wide. Sew five loops of one-half inch wide ribbon across each corner of square. Run another ribbon through loops to tie when the beach kerchief-bag is filled and ready to go!

Planting Trees Calls For Real Policy Decision

Planting trees on the home grounds calls for a major policy decision, to wit:

Should the home owner plant those fast-growing kinds that bring immediate enjoyment and shade value? Or should he plant for longer landscape investment and aesthetic values?

Martin L. Davey Jr., who heads the Davey tree experts, says that is the prime question the week-end gardener must ponder before he buys his plants. Fast-growing trees are not the most desirable for a number of reasons, but chiefly because they tend to grow out of bounds within a few years. If he's interested in the present, rather than the future, he may decide to adorn the grounds with fast-growing silver maples, ailanthus, Norway spruce and red cedar.

These plants are not too costly. Yet they'll soon dominate the landscape and perhaps the residence itself, particularly if they are planted too closely together. Just how far to space trees and other plants cannot be answered by formula. There are too many variables involved. Major shade trees usually should be planted from 50 to 90 feet apart. Fast-growing shrubs need living space — should not be crowded, either. Despite this, home owners concerned about their landscape's "nude look" frequently bunch plants closely.

The cheapest plantings are far from the most economical. They soon may call for costly pruning and even transplanting to keep the landscape within bounds. Actually, slower-growing trees are not really sluggard. Once established, they make satisfactory annual progress and can be hurried along by regular feeding. Their ultimate beauty and utility will more than repay for the landscape bareness and special care in the early years.

Lovely Topping

A lovely topping for sweet rolls is easily made: mix together ½ cup each of brown sugar and shredded coconut and 3 tablespoons butter. Use a half teaspoon of this mixture on small round rolls, cut with a biscuit cutter.

Look Before You Buy Chenille

The secret of reviving a Chenille bedspread is in the drying, says the American Institute of Laundering research and education center for the commercial laundry industry.

Commercial launderers use mild detergent for washing Chenille spreads. These plants make a standard practice of tumble drying the bed coverings.

Laboratory tests reveal that tumble or fluff drying Chenille bedspreads gives them a soft fluffy appearance.

The textile experts offer three points for housewives to remember when buying Chenille spreads. To check the bedspread for quality and launderability:

—Be sure the muslin backing has at least 60 threads to the inch.

—Check the color fastness. Cloth can be either dip dyed or vat dyed. Vat dyeing gives better color fastness.

—Examine the embroidery stitches. If they are close together and neat, the spread is well made.

Plant Shrubs For Winter

You don't have to stare out your windows at bare ground and bare branches all winter, says H. R. Kemmerer, extension farm landscape specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture.

Many varieties of shrubs in addition to the evergreens will provide spots of color in your yard or farmstead this winter while your other plants are gone.

ALMOST EVERYONE is familiar with the narrow-leaved evergreens that hold their foliage all year 'round. Some of the more popular ones are blue spruce, white fir, juniper and yew.

But there are also broad-leaved evergreens, the specialist says, that do not shed their leaves in winter. Such shrubs include scarlet firethorn and Oregon hollygrape for northern Illinois and wintercreeper euonymus for the entire state.

STILL OTHER types of shrubs lose their leaves in winter but provide color in their bark. Some varieties of dogwood have bark with shades of red, yellow and bright green. Virginian rose and greenstem forsythia, with their green twigs, add color to a shrubbery border.

Winged and dwarf-winged euonymus have an attractive winged bark that blends well with evergreens. American witchhazel's yellow balloons add color to late fall.

Handy Jim's FIXIN'-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Game for Young or Old

IT'S FUN for youngsters and grown-ups alike — the tumble-bug game. For the bugs, get some capsules from your druggist. Drop a ball bearing into each, close the capsule and mark it with a colored tape, so that each player will know his own bug.

The only other equipment needed for the game is a playing board. Cut a piece of Presdwood about one foot square and nail it to a block of one-inch lumber four inches wide and as long as the playing board, to form a ramp. You'll need to plane the block of wood to the proper angle to make the Presdwood fit evenly.

Up to four players can participate with a board the size of the one described. Each player holds his capsule in an upright position at the top edge of the playing board. At the signal to "go," the bugs are released to tumble end over end down the ramp. The one reaching bottom first is the winner.

About Your Health

Cancer of the lung has increased at a rate far in excess of cancer of other organs in the last generation. The reason for this is not known, but statistically it is so. The present longer life expectancy is, of course, a factor.

Coughing is a symptom present at one time or another in almost every case of lung cancer, just as it is a symptom common to all diseases of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Expectoration of blood is another fairly common symptom of cancer of the lung, as is pain in the chest. Because these various symptoms are also identified with other conditions, the physician must resort to numerous procedures in making his diagnosis.

ONE IS the x-ray film which reveals the presence of an abnormal shadow in the lungs. The shadow itself represents a section of lung tissue in which there is a decreased amount of air. This may have resulted from a blocking of the bronchial tube so that air is unable to enter the air sacs in that area of the lung, or it may have resulted from the fact that the air sacs in that area are filled with fluid from inflammation or with the solid tissue of a tumor.

To explain the shadow, examination of the sputum is one of the first steps taken to make a diagnosis. Sputum, produced by the glands lining the bronchial tubes, is a liquid containing a fairly large amount of mucus and its chief functions are to keep the lining of the bronchial tubes moist and to aid in the removal of foreign material. Laboratory procedures are employed so that the sputum material can be microscopically examined for the detection of cancer cells.

IN ADDITION, with the aid of a bronchoscope, a lighted instrument which is passed down into the trachea or windpipe and then to the right or left side of the chest into the smaller bronchial tubes, the physician can inspect directly the area involved, noting any evidence of irregularity, such as the presence of a tumor. Some of the mucus material can be drawn out through the bronchoscope and examined in the laboratory, and, again, by inserting a forceps through the bronchoscope, it is possible to remove a small piece of tissue for laboratory examination.

When a diagnosis of cancer of the lung has been established, surgical removal of the entire lung is indicated. This operation is referred to as pneumonectomy. Since cancer metastasizes, or spreads, removal of only a portion of the lung, or the growth itself, is not feasible.

THE AMOUNT of disability from an operation of this kind is negligible and, in fact, persons who have had their lung removed actually notice very little change in the ease with which they breathe. Certainly their behavior is not altered, nor is any abnormality in their appearance apparent.

The accepted methods of treating cancer, namely the use of radium, and deep x-ray therapy, and other procedures now undergoing experimentation, do not seem to be particularly advantageous in treatment of cancer of the lung. Surgery, the third accepted procedure, appears to be the only answer. However, other methods may be employed for alleviation of pain if the disease has spread extensively or is in the advanced state.

As in every form of cancer, best results are obtained when diagnosis is established early. The same principle holds true for treatment.

Deadline Near For NROTC Applications

The navy has annolnced that November 22 is the deadline date for receipt of applications for its college training program, the naval reserve officers' training corps.

Competitive examinations will be held December 13 at test centers established throughout the nation. Only those who have submitted their applications prior to the deadline date will be allowed to take the exam.

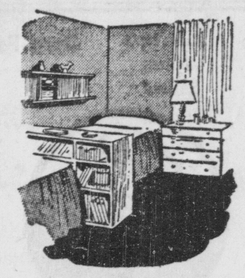
ALL MIXED UP?

If you have space problems and little five-year-old and her teenage sister must occupy the same bedroom, don't expect them to be completely happy if everything in the room has to be shared . . . their belongings scrambled together in the same chest. There will be more scope for individual expression if you

USE A ROOM DIVIDER

This will give each occupant a sense of having a room of her own. Open book shelves and cabinets are fine room dividers.



They are functional as well as decorative. Matching twin chests (one for each) offer individual storage facilities, lend themselves to many interesting arrangements, and encourage orderly habits and neatness.

Planning and arranging the home to meet a growing family's needs is always an interesting challenge. Our trained decorating staff is always happy to help you to meet this challenge with constructive, practical, up-to-date ideas. So come in and let's talk about your home . . . anytime.

Cabinets, open shelves and chests make excellent room dividers, AND pay their way in usefulness for every inch of space they take up. Our wide assortment includes many sizes and styles in a variety of wood finishes.

It's a wise idea to plan furniture for children's rooms that will be useful all through school and college years . . . especially the basic items like good beds and spacious chests. We have a new group of hardwood chests that are indeed wonderful values. Sold singly or in pairs.

We have anticipated all your home planning needs . . . both furniture and accessories. All have been chosen with your high taste standards in mind. And all are priced so as not to strain your budget. So come in today, make your selections while stocks are complete.

Home From Korea

Cpl. Arthur Dallia of Palatine returned home from Korea in September, after serving 13 mos. there. He had a 30 day leave and then had to report to Ft. Custer, Michigan. There he is waiting to be re-assigned.

He has spent two years in the service, and still has nine months to serve.

His wife Delores and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dallia Sr., were happy to have him home over the week end recently.

Near Korea

Word was received this week by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Busse, Mt. Prospect, that their son, Pvt. Wayne Busse, was stationed 60 miles from Korea at Mosulpo, on Cheju-Do Island.

Wayne's new mailing address is: Pvt. Wayne Busse, U. S. 55199937, 165th M. P. Es. Gd. Co. (Mobile), APO 59, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

In Missouri

Pvt. Danny Horcher is now taking basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. His address is U. S. 55321292, Battery "D", 61st AAA, A. W.-B. N.-CCR - 1st Plt.

6th Armored Div., Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

In Georgia

In Japan

Sgt. Harold C. Rhodes of Bensenville, was recently assigned as a supply sergeant with the 2nd Transportation major port in Yokohama, Japan.

Rhodes, who is beginning his second tour of duty in the far east, served with the 1st cavalry division in Korea from August 1950 to July 1951.

His last stateside assignment was at Percy Jones army hospital, Battle Creek, Mich., where he was with the special services section for 10 months.

He entered the army in September 1943 and during World War II served on Guadalcanal and in the Philippines.

In Korea

Gilbert R. Geffe, whose wife, Betty, lives on Route 12, Arlington Heights, recently was promoted to corporal while serving with the 25th infantry division.

His unit has been in Korea longer than any other American division. It entered the fighting in July, 1950, shortly after the Communist attack on South Korea.

Corporal Geffe, who arrived in Korea in June, has been serving as a gunner in the 555th Field Artillery Battalion.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Geffe, live on Route 2, Arlington Heights.

In Germnay

Pvt. Arthur H. Burmeister, husband of Mrs. Ardelle Burmeister, Algonquin rd., Des Plaines, is now in Heidelburg, Germany, where he expects to be stationed with the army for the next year and a half.

Art entered the service in April and received his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. He left for Germany September 26 where he is serving as a mail clerk and an assistant in the message center. His wife expects to join him in time for Christmas.

His address is: Pvt. Arthur H. Burmeister, U. S. 55261303, Inspector General Division, Hq. US AREUR, APO 403, % Postmaster, New York City, N. Y.

In Japan

Army Pvt. William P. Lumpp, whose wife, Evelyn, lives on rte. 1, Roselle, recently arrived in Japan and has been serving with the 24th infantry division.

Now receiving intensive field training, his unit is part of the security forces in Japan. Before being rotated out of the line in 1952, the 24th spent 19 months in Korea.

Private Lumpp, a member of the 34th infantry regiment, was a farmer before entering the army in October 1951.

In Korea

Pfc. Willard L. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Weber, 16 Pine, Bensenville, recently spent five days in Japan on a rest and recuperation leave from the 2nd infantry division in Korea.

The vacation was part of the army's policy of giving periodic rests to soldiers in the combat zone. Luxurious " R and R" hotels are located throughout Japan to accommodate the veterans.

Private first class Weber, a clerk, joined the 2nd division last April.

Discharged

Cpl. Nickolas Clinge of Palatine, of the army, has been discharged. He spent two years in the army, one of which was in Korea. While he was in Korea he drove a truck, taking food and other things to the front lines. The time he wasn't driving the truck, he spent on the front lines.

Nick returned home in May from Korea. From May to November he spent in Kentucky at Ft. Knox. While there his wife, Mary, and two children, Emery and Mary Margaret, joined him. They are now making their home in Lake Zurich.

Words Often Misused

The correct expression is "a half hour," not "half an hour."

Do not say, "I doubt but what she will go." Say, "I doubt that she will go."

Do not say, "I have ate my dinner." Say, "I have eaten my dinner."

"Needs" as an adverb means "of necessity," and is used chiefly with "must." Thus: "He needs must go," and, "He went as needs he must."

Do not say, "I claim that my figures are correct." Say, "I maintain."

Do not say, "The storm struck just as we reached home with great violence." This is an example of a "dangling phrase" which is attached to the wrong word in the sentence. Instead, say, "Just as we reached home, the storm struck with great violence."

Words Often Mispronounced

Prelate. Pronounce pre-lat, e as in bell, a as in ate unstressed, accent first syllable.

Peremptory. Preferred pronunciation is per-emp-to-ri, with accent on second syllable.

Seance. Pronounce se-ans, first a as in say, second a as in ah, accent on second syllable preferred.

Scourge. Pronounce skurj, not skorj.

Radiator. Pronounce first a as in aid, not as in add.

Words Often Misspelled

Alibi; one l, two i's. Belgium, um; Belgian, an. Sincerity; ity, not ety. Hoard (hidden supply); horde (a crowd). Sent (dispatched); scent (aroma); cent (coin). Allusion (reference); elusion (act of eluding); Illusion (deceptive appearance).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Fidelity; faithfulness; loyalty. "His wife's fidelity was an inspiration to him."

Homiletic; of or pertaining to the art of preaching. (Pronounce the o as in on, not ast in home). "The address was homiletic."

Indurate; to make hard. "Extreme heat indurates clay."

Bacchanalian; pertaining to drunken revelry. (Pronounce bak-a-na-li-an, first a as in back, second a as in ah unstressed, third a as in nail, principal accent on third syllable). "Their bacchanalian desires seemed insatiable."

Profusion; abundance; lavish supply. "She was showered with a profusion of gifts."

DON'T LAY OFF WORK JUST TO MAKE A LOAN

"That's unnecessary if you make a "Just Your Signature" Loan from Imperial. When you borrow on just your signature, all you need do is to get to a phone, ring up Roy Geyer at VAnderbilt 4-3151, tell him how much you want and when you'll be in to get your money. It's that simple, regardless whether you're borrowing $10 or $500 or any amount in between.

"So the next time you're needing money, just phone Imperial from where you work and pick up the money during your lunch hour or on your way home. These "just Your Signature" Loans, by the way, are made as readily to city, state and government employees as to those working in stores, factories, offices."
